THREE HANDWRITING EXPERTS SAY NEGRO WROTE THE TWO NOTES FOUND BY BODY OF GIRL

Frank M. Berry, of the Fourth National Bank, Andrew M. Bergstrom of Third National, and Pope C. Driver, of the American National, Examined Notes at Journal's Request And Found Same Person Wrote Both

ALL THREE ARE EXPERTS AND MADE MICROSCOPICAL EXAMINATIONS

Their Investigation Shows He Wrote Both Notes and Seems to Prove Conclusively That Either the Negro Committed the Crime or Knows Who the Guilty Party Is

THROUGH its own investigations The Atlanta Journal has proven conclusively that Newt Lee, the negro night watchman for the National Pencil company, either himself mistreated and murdered pretty Mary Phagan, or that he knows who committed the crime and is assisting the perpetrator to conceal his identity.

Locked in this negro's breast is the key to the murder mystery which has shocked the entire south.

Three handwriting experts who Tuesday compared the notes found near the girl's body in the factory basement with notes written by Lee after his arrest and at the instigation of the city detectives are positive that the same hand penned them all.

The experts who made a microscopical examination of these notes and who are unanimous in declaring that the same person was the author of them all are:

FRANK M. BERRY, assistant cashier of the Fourth National Bank.
ANDREW M. BERGSTROM, assistant cashier of the Third National bank.
POPE C. DRIVER, chief bookkeeper and head of the mail department of the American National bank.

ALL AGREE THAT NEGRO WROTE BOTH.

These men have for years made a study of handwriting and they turn their knowledge to account in detecting all manner of forgeries. In examining the notes submitted to them Tuesday they employed powerful magnifying glasses and minutely analyzed the slant of the writing, the shape and size of the letters, the peculiarities of spelling, the method of expression, and the punctuation.

Two notes were found nearby the corpse of the mutilated girl. One of these, written on a yellow scratch pad, read as follows:

"Mam that negro down here did this I went to get water and he push me down thro hole a long tall negro black that hoo it woke long sleam tall negro I wright while play with me."

The second note was written on a coarse-fibred pencil tablet, such as is used by school children. This note read:

"he said he wood love me (land dah n?) play like nigh witch did it but that long tall black negro did boy his slef."

Shortly after Lee was arrested Chief of Detectives N. A. Lanford caused him to write the last line of the second note, dictating it to him word by word.

COULDN'T DISGUISE HANDWRITING.

Although the negro was very nervous and very naturally sought to disguise his handwriting he was unable to do so. With the exception of the use of four capital letters in the note written at police headquarters and the insertion of an extra e in the word negro this note was identical with the last two lines in the note found in the basement of the pencil factory.

The experts agreed that the size and slant of the writing was the same, that the mode of expression was identical, that there were characteristic peculiarities in the formation of the o's, y's, g's, t's, b's, k's, n's and other letters used in the two notes.

In both the negro writes boy for by and slef for self. These and a number of other similarities convinced the experts that Lee wrote the notes found beside the dead girl.

MARY PHAGAN DID NOT WRITE THEM.

They examined the handwriting of Mary Phagan and positively declared that she could not have written these notes, even while delirious and suffering great pain. She wrote smoothly, used good grammar, capitalized, punctuated and spelled properly, and it is pointed out that under no circumstances would she have lapsed into an illiterate style of writing.

It is plain that the notes found in the factory cellar were written by an ignorant and illiterate person. It is also plain that the person who wrote them sought to cast suspicion upon the fireman at the factory; and that they were very particular to describe the man which they alleged to have committed the crime, for in the same sentence of one of them the perpetrator is described as a long, tall, black negro.

The other refers to the intention of the perpetrator to fix the crime on the night watchman. It is believed that Lee deliberately described another negro and that he endeavored to divert suspicion from himself by writing into one of the notes that the guilty man would "play like the nigh witch did it."

Neither of these notes could have been written by Mary Pragan, even though she were still alive when dragged into the cellar, for the cellar was dark as pitch night. And it is not to be supposed that while in a dying condition she would have found it convenient to have obtained a pencil and two different kinds of tablet paper. Further than this she would not have written two notes.

The detectives are satisfied that Lee wrote both notes, but are of the opinion that he wrote them at different times. After writing the first he evidently thought of something else which he believed would divert suspicion from himself and then wrote the second.

Only one question now puzzles the detectives—

Did Lee murder the girl himself or did he undertake to dispose of the girl's body and to shield some one else?

GEORGIA CHAIR CO. IS SOLD AT FLOWERY BRANCH

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

GAINESVILLE, Ga., April 29.—The property of the Georgia Chair company, bankrupt, at Flowery Branch, Ga., was sold by the trustee in bankruptcy at Flowery Branch today for the sum of $10,000. J. H. Hunt, banker, of Gainesville, Ga., being the purchaser. This means that the entire plant will be operated at Flowery Branch, Ga., and not be moved away.

This property was appraised at something like $15,000, but cost originally in the neighborhood of $40,000, and was only operated a short time before going into bankruptcy.

PORTION OF NOTE FOUND

At the top is a photograph of writing done by Newt Lee, the negro night watchman, after his arrest. At the bottom is a photograph of two lines of a note found beside the body of Mary Phagan in the pencil factory cellar. Three handwriting experts—Frank M. Berry, assistant cashier of the Fourth National bank; Andrew M. Bergstrom, assistant cashier of the Third National bank, and Pope C. Driver, chief bookkeeper and head of mail departments of the American National bank, unhesitatingly declare that the same hand penned them both. Detectives are satisfied that Lee knows all about the killing of the girl. The only question in their minds is whether he is alone involved.

GANTT'S RELEASE ASKED IN HABEAS CORPUS WRIT

Petition Made to Judge George L. Bell and Will Be Heard at 4 o'Clock

J. M. GANT charged with the murder of Mary Phagan is seeking his release upon a writ of habeas corpus.

Petition for such a writ was made Tuesday morning to Judge Bell of the superior court and he directed that a hearing be had at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Judge Gober, attorney for Gant, made the petition, and will argue Tuesday afternoon for the immediate release of the former bookkeeper.

Gant sets forth in his petition to Judge Bell that he is absolutely innocent of the crime of which he is accused, and that his detention by the police is without reason or authority.

Gant was arrested Monday about noon in Marietta, as he was on his way from Atlanta to his mother's home, who lives in the country a short distance from Marietta.

He was arrested as he stepped from the street car, and was returned Monday afternoon to Atlanta and lodged in police station on the charge of having murdered Mary Phagan.

Upon his arrival he was reluctant to talk, but at police station he made a vigorous statement in which he denied any knowledge of the murder of the four.

WITNESSES POSITIVE MURDERED GIRL WAS SAME WHO CREATED SCENE AT THE TERMINAL STATION ON FRIDAY

Gatemen T. R. Malone and H. P. Sibley, After Viewing Corpse, Declare Mary Phagan, Sobbing Loudly and Displaying Vehement Feelings, Prevented Strange Man From Boarding Train for Washington—Neither of Men Detained by Police Is Mysterious Stranger

H. P. SIBLEY, gateman and T. R. Malone, special officer at the Atlanta Terminal station, have identified the dead body of little Mary Phagan as the same girl whom they saw dramatically prevent a man from leaving on train No. 38 for Washington, D. C., Friday morning at 11:01 o'clock.

Both men declare a young man apparently about twenty-five years of age, blue eyes, light hair, weight about 125 pounds and between 5 feet 8 or 9 inches tall, dressed in a dark business suit and wearing a derby hat, reached the gate that led down to the tracks from which 38 left, a few minutes before train time.

"Just as the man reached the gate," said Mr. Sibley, "and showed me his ticket to Washington, a pretty little girl in her early teens slipped up behind him and caught him by the arm. He seemed irritated and pushed her away. 'You are trying to get away from me,' she cried stamping her foot. 'You are trying to leave me and you shan't do it.'

HE REFUSED TO KISS HER.

"The man refusing to kiss her, again jerked away, saying he had paid $1 taxi hire to tell her goodbye. 'No you didn't,' screamed the girl, 'you are trying to slip away from me and you can't do it.' The man then appealed to me to quiet her and winking, asked me if I had seen him come up to the gate before and then go away. I replied that I had but, of course, did not know where he had gone. This did not seem to quiet the child at all and again she accused him of trying to leave her.

"The fellow started down the steps and the girl set up the worst screams I have ever heard and attempted to get past me. I caught her by the arm and held her but she made so much noise and stamped her feet so in her fury that he came back and the two went over to the other side of the promenade to talk it over. She was still very much excited and was crying.

"In a few minutes the man came to me and Mr. Malone who was attracted by the noise, and asked if his tickets would be good on another train. We told him that the railroad ticket was good until the date punched in the margin had expired, but that he would have to get another Pullman ticket.

"Both of them went out together and we have seen neither of them since that time. The girl was still crying, but her companion was apparently composed. Mr. Malone said, however, that he thought the man was nervous and showed his discomfort.

"Neither one or us thought anything more of the incident until the news of the murder and the pictures in the papers two days later.

"I recognized the likeness of the girl at the station in The Journal Monday morning and called the attention of Mr. Malone to it. We were pretty sure then that it was one and the same person but to satisfy ourselves went down to Bloomfield's chapel to have a look at the remains.

"There she was and I am morally certain that the murdered girl who lay in the coffin was none other than the one we had seen keep the fellow from going off on his train.

"Another thing that points towards the positive identification is a remark a bystander made just after the dramatic scene had come to an end. I don't know who he was but both Mr. Malone and I overheard him say that he knew the girl. Her name was Mary something, he couldn't remember her last name, he said, but declared that he had seen her in Marietta and knew who she was."

STRANGER'S IDENTITY UNKNOWN.

Both Mr. Malone and Mr. Sibley have seen Mullinax and declare he is not the man who was the central figure in the little drama enacted at the gate to train No. 38. They have not seen Gantt, but are positive from his pictures and description that neither is he the one. Gantt is a large man, nearly five inches taller than the person seen by them, and he is also of the brunette type.

In company with two Journal reporters, Mr. Malone went to police station Tuesday afternoon and saw Leo M. Frank, who was being questioned by detectives in the office of Chief Lanford. He is positive that neither of the three men mentioned is the same as the one at the station.

Mr. Malone stated that the clerk in the Pullman office said the stranger came back Friday and purchased a ticket on the 2:35 sleeper. Later he saw him walking about the lobby. The girl was not with him. The man was not seen to enter the gate by any of the attendants and it is not known whether he finally went away or remained in the city.

At best it appears that this latest angle in the mysterious case has brought another party into it, who, heretofore, had not been connected with the matter in any way. If he took the afternoon train for Washington, no one saw him aboard his Pullman. Likewise no one who witnessed the incident of the morning saw him leave the depot.

Bacon, who is lessee of several mines, is reported to have recently referred to "some fellows laying for him," and it is said Mrs. Bacon on last Saturday endeavored to sell their home, explaining she feared her husband's enemies.

After recovering consciousness last night, Bacon said that the explosion occurred a moment after he had lighted the fire in the stove.

DETECTIVES BUILDING CASE ON THEORY THAT FRANK AND NEGRO CAN CLEAR MYSTERY

Chief Lanford Believes That Testimony of the Superintendent and Negro Night Watchman May Lead to the Arrest of the Person Guilty of the Atrocious Crime That Has Shocked the Whole City—No Further Arrests Expected Soon

MRS. FRANK IN TEARS AT POLICE STATION WHILE HUSBAND IS UNDER EXAMINATION

Frank Was Confronted by Negro Night Watchman—His Attorney, Luther Z. Rosser, Present at Inquiry, Which Was Conducted by Chief Beavers, Chief Lanford and Detectives Behind Closed Doors—Conference Still in Progress at 2

AT 1:35 o'clock Tuesday afternoon Chief of Detectives N. A. Lanford, announced that L. M. Frank, superintendent of the National Pencil company's factory, where Mary Phagan was found murdered early Sunday morning, would be detained by the police until after the coroner's inquest. The inquest will be resumed Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock.

Chief Lanford made this statement when he emerged from a conference which had been in progress in his office on the third floor of the police station since shortly after 1 o'clock.

Present at this conference were L. M. Frank, Chief of Police James L. Beavers, Chief Lanford, Luther Z. Rosser, Mr. Frank's attorney; John Black, a city detective; Harry Scott, a Pinkerton detective, and W. G. Humphrey, chairman of the city finance committee and former chairman of the police committee.

For an hour or more Newt Lee, the negro night watchman at the factory, had been in the room, when he was returned to his cell at 1:30 o'clock.

THE ONLY WAY TO CLEAR IT UP.

Chief Lanford declared that the police were working on the theory that the murder mystery could be cleared up through evidence which they hoped to obtain from the negro night watchman and from Mr. Frank.

He said that the detectives had been unable to find any credible evidence to the effect that the girl ever had been seen since she entered the factory about noon last Saturday to get her wages.

Chief Lanford returned to the meeting.

Mrs. Frank, with a number of friends, was standing in the hall of headquarters at the foot of the stairs on the floor below that where her husband was being interrogated by the detectives. She was weeping.

MURDERED IN AFTERNOON?

Shortly before 2 o'clock the statement was drawn from Newt Lee, the negro nightwatchman, that he made visits of inspection every half hour during Saturday night to the metal room in which Mary Phagan was murdered.

But he says that he was relieved from duty at 4 o'clock by Inspector Frank, and told not to return until 6 o'clock.

If his statement is true the girl must have been murdered during his absence—that is, between the hours of 4 and 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Detective Starnes discovered a drop of blood near the elevator, which is taken as further evidence that the body of the girl was dragged from the metal room to the elevator shaft.

Chief Lanford seemed to regard the negro's statement that he visited the metal room every half hour during the night, as very important.

The police are now entertaining the theory that the murder was committed during the afternoon, and that Newt Lee probably was absent from the factory at the time that it was done.

NO FURTHER ARRESTS SOON.

Shortly after 2 o'clock Chief Beavers came from the meeting in Chief Lanford's office. He confirmed the statement of Chief Lanford that the police would detain Mr. Frank until after the coroner's inquest. He also said that no further arrests in the case were contemplated in the immediate future, indicating that he thought the detectives were now working on the theory that they hoped would clear up the mystery.

Attorney Luther Z. Rosser left the room. He made light of the evidence against his client, Mr. Frank, and declared that the police could not hold him any longer than he, Mr. Rosser, was willing for them to hold him. By this it was believed Mr. Rosser meant he could obtain his client's release on a habeas corpus if he chose to take this procedure.

It was stated by the chief of detectives that Mr. Frank would not be confined to a cell at headquarters. He had employed a supernumerary policeman, said the chief, and would be allowed the freedom of headquarters under charge of that policeman.

Attorney Rosser declared that "all this talk about fear of violence to Mr. Frank is pure bosh."

At the request of the detectives, Mr. Frank copied the notes found by the dead girl's body, in his own handwriting.

Angry protest that emanated occasionally from behind the doors of the conference was not distinguishable as to the words, but the tones indicated unmistakably that the questions being piled by the detectives to Mr. Frank and the negro were arousing the opposition of his attorney.

Mr. Frank, emerging from the conference for a moment, unaccompanied, was as perturbed as a man might be under the circumstances. He seemed to be indignant. A Journal representative questioned him.

"They are asking me about things this negro has said," was Mr. Frank's answer. "And about statements other people have made."

"What has the negro said?" The Journal man asked.

"What he's said all along," returned Mr. Frank. "He hasn't said a thing that's new."

He returned to the conference then.

Mr. Frank returned to police headquarters in company with detectives from the pencil plant Tuesday morning shortly after 11 o'clock. He and the detectives stated that he was not under arrest.

Newt Lee, the negro night watchman who had been awakened at 4 o'clock Tuesday morning by detectives and put on the griddle of questions once more, was taken into the room and confronted Mr. Frank shortly after the latter arrived at headquarters.

Conviction grows that the negro knows more than he has told. His own admission that the elevator could not have been moved Saturday night without his hearing it, is made absolute by the observation of detectives at the plant itself, it is reported. And the theory that the elevator must have been used to carry Mary Phagan's body from the second floor, where other evidence has shown that she was attacked, to the basement, where it was found, is said to have been better established by stains found along the floor leading from the machine room to the elevator shaft.

These appear to be blood soaked into the dirty wood of the floor. One of them was found Tuesday to have fallen upon a nail head, and the nail was pulled by Detectives Starnes and Campbell, the metal not having absorbed whatever was upon it. The analysis of that stain will be practically absolute. Yet nowhere upon the floor of the elevator, or upon the shaft, was a blood stain distinguishable.

L. M. Frank, superintendent of the National Pencil company's factory, where Mary Phagan was found murdered early Sunday morning, was taken to police headquarters again Tuesday morning shortly after 11 o'clock. Detective Harry Scott, of the Pinkertons, who are employed by Mr. Frank, and Detective John Black, of the city department, went to the factory in an automobile and Mr. Frank accompanied them to headquarters without any protest.

CONFRONTED BY NEGRO.

At 12:30 o'clock, after Frank had undergone an hour and a half of questioning behind closed doors, detectives sent for Newt Lee, the negro night watchman, and confronted him with Frank, the superintendent.

This meeting, like the first interrogation of the factory superintendent, was in the private office of Chief Lanford, from which all but the police, Frank and the negro night watchman were excluded.

The negro, wearing the same stolid expression which has remained unchanged since the hour of his arrest,

AMERICANS FLEE MEXICO CITY, FEARING BATTLE

Refugees Reach New Orleans and Tell of Unsettled Conditions at Capital

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, April 29.—Life and property are not safe in Mexico City, and another battle in that city may be expected at any time, according to both Mexican and American refugees who fled from the capital and arrived here today on the Wolvin line steamer City of Tampico.

Exchange is higher than it has been in a quarter of a century, business is demoralized and political conditions are so strained that an outbreak bordering on anarchy would not be surprising to any of the inhabitants of the capital, according to many of the passengers.

The City of Tampico carried more than its passenger capacity and, in their eagerness to get out of the country a number of passengers paid fare with the knowledge that there were no sleeping accommodations for them. Many of the passengers talked freely of the conditions in Mexico but, fearing reprisals by the government, requested that their names be withheld.

The tension between President Huerta and General Felix Diaz is described as being so threatening that an open rupture is believed imminent.

General Mondragon, minister of war, is said to have the citadel and arsenal filled with troops who are partisans of General Diaz and although President Huerta named General Blanquet minister of war and transferred Mondragon to the post of minister of interior, the latter, acting in concert with Diaz, declined to make the change and finally President Huerta was forced to accept the dictation of General Diaz and his followers.

General Diaz will insist on Mondragon retaining control of the army until the elections have been held, when he expects to be named president.

While the citadel is filled with Diaz troops, it is declared that Huerta has more than a thousand soldiers loyal to him stationed in the national palace, where he also has a number of field guns and rapid fire guns.

GRAND OPERA STARS SING IN SAVANNAH

Each of Visitors Is Given Tiny Terrapin as a Souvenir

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 29.—Savannah turned out in large numbers last night to hear the Metropolitan Opera company stars in their first appearance at the Savannah theater, under the auspices of the Savannah Music club. It was one of the largest and most enthusiastic crowds that has yet attended a musical affair in Savannah and the enthusiasm was most marked.

The soloists last night were Madame Louise Homer, contralto; Miss Anna Case, soprano, and Mr. Paul Althouse, tenor. Probably the singing of Mr. Althouse attracted the most attention and drew the greatest amount of applause. He was splendid and his voice filled the large theater with an exquisite tone. The whole entertainment was enjoyed.

This afternoon there is another concert in which over 200 Savannah children appear. This is one of the largest children's choruses ever gotten together in Savannah.

Tonight there will be a third concert, in which the star will be Titta Ruffo, the baritone. He is expected to make the real big hit of the entire engagement. This morning Amato and the other artists who are here went out for a luncheon at Barbees at Isle of Hope. They inspected the terrapin crawl there and were otherwise entertained. Alex Barbee gave each of the stars a little terrapin about as big as a quarter as a souvenir.

They seemed delighted with them and will keep them as pets. "Atlanta had nothing like this to offer us," said Amato discussing his visit to the seacoast and the real live kicking and alert little gift he had received. It depends upon the business men of Savannah whether Savannah is given opera again next year.

CHATHAM ARTILLERY WILL CELEBRATE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 29.—The famous Chatham Artillery will celebrate its 137th anniversary on Thursday evening with a smoker at the Armory hall. This event will be of interest for various reasons. The Chathams which as Savannah's and the state's oldest military organization, is now commanded by Captain R. J. Davant, the mayor of Savannah.

It is also expected that this will be the last celebration to be had in the present armory which has been sold and will make way for a skyscraper soon. The Chathams are going to build a new armory on the park extension.

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, April 29.—Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, on her way into the International convention of Woman Suffragists in Budapest, spent the night in London, determined not to spend a "cent" in England, as a sort of boycott in protest against the government's attitude toward woman suffrage. When asked how she would avoid it, she had no answer ready, but she declared she would get to the continent as quickly as possible. She said she had been forced to pass through England because she was able to get passage only on an English boat.

CANAL TOLLS GOES OVER UNTIL NEXT SESSION

By Vote of 13 to 1, Senate Canal Committee Decides to Wait Until December

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 29.—By a vote of 13 to 1 the senate canal committee today decided to put over to the regular December session of congress all questions of Panama canal tolls, including the Senator Root amendment to repeal the free passage provision of the Panama law. Senator Brandegee voted against it.

Senators pointed out that the Democrats were committed to tariff and currency legislation at the extra session and that they would have enough to do to legislate on those subjects.

The overwhelming vote by which the committee agreed to the motion was taken to indicate that there would be no action on the tolls question for several months, unless President Wilson chooses to exert his influence to have it reopened.

Some senators today considered it doubtful whether the president could cause the committee to change its mind unless there were new and pressing developments in negotiations between the state department and the British foreign office.

REBELS REFUSE TO RETURN STOLEN AMERICAN BULLION

Francisco Villa and His Land Pirates Have $100,000 in Gold and Silver

(By Associated Press.)

EL PASO, April 29.—Unlike Captain Kidd's buccaneers of the Spanish Main, Francisco Villa's insurgents disdain to bury their booty. With them over steep mountain trails and sandy prairie roads they are carrying nearly $100,000 worth of silver and gold bullion, weighing nearly a ton. This was reported by American ranchmen arriving here today from the Madera district, where Villa is operating.

The treasure was captured some days ago from a Mexican Northwestern passenger train bound for Chihuahua City from the Guerrero mining district.

The weighty metal is packed in a wagon drawn by a team of mules. Beside the wagon ride ten guards picked from Villa's 300 odd followers.

It is considered a daring adventure to come within rifle range of the treasure wagon. The actual value of the metal is estimated at 180,000 pesos.

Despite strong pressure of the constitutionalist juntas along the border that Villa return the metal to its American owners, the ex-bandit, who was made a general in Madero's revolution, appears most unwilling to part with his spoil.

One American owner has set out alone to attempt to persuade Villa to return his portion of the metal pigs, which chanced to be almost pure gold. So far he has failed to catch up with the meanderings of Villa's band.

PITTSBURG PROBES ITS POLICE DEPARTMENT

Former Superintendent of Police, Convicted of Gambling, Says He Had Permission

(By Associated Press.)

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 29.—A thorough investigation of the police department was begun today to take up the allegations of William Wallace, a former superintendent of police, that a "high police official" granted him permission to open a gambling house. Wallace, with forty-eight others, was arrested Sunday night when the house was raided.

The former superintendent of police was fined $50 today for conducting a disorderly house. Wallace, arrested on a gambling house charge, appeared before a magistrate on a disorderly house charge. John H. Dailey, director of public safety, wants to know who changed the indictment.

Wallace's charges and the change of charges against him have caused a mixup in the police department, which it is said warrants a close investigation.

J. D. SUMMERS HELD FOR DEATH OF WIFE

(By Associated Press.)

SELMA, Ala., April 29.—The coroner's jury has returned a verdict that the death of Mrs. J. D. Summers was caused by violence inflicted by her husband, Dr. J. D. Summers, an East Selma druggist.

The evidence indicated that the woman's spine was broken which was the immediate cause of death.

Friends of the druggist maintain that while both were intoxicated last Saturday night in their apartments over the drug store the woman fell from the second floor and sustained the injuries that caused death.

CONVICTED LUMBERMEN DRAW HEAVY SENTENCES

Fines Range From $1,000 to $10,000, Sentences From One to Two Years in Prison

PHILADELPHIA, April 29.—Judge Witmer in federal court here today refused a new trial to the convicted promoters of the International Lumber and Development company, and imposed sentence. John R. Markley and Isaiah Miller, of Chicago, promoters of the company, were fined $10,000 each and sentenced to fifteen months' imprisonment; William H. Armstrong, Jr., Philadelphia, a former business manager of the concern, and Charles R. McMahon, Philadelphia, secretary and treasurer, were fined $2,000 each and given two years in prison; Alfred G. Stewart, of Mason City, Iowa, a director, was fined $1,000 and sentenced to one year's imprisonment.

These men used the mails and newspaper advertisements to sell stock in property in Mexico. The government charged the scheme was fraudulent and that nearly $6,000,000 was realized by the promoters.

Counsel for the defense said one of the principal reasons for asking a new trial was that the daughter of a postal inspector and the wife of one of the jurors sat together in the court room during the entire trial.

Judge Witmer interrupted counsel declaring: "I have positive information that a person interested in the defense made love to a juror."

How Much Does $1,000 In Gold Weigh?

In the Campaign Editor's mail on Saturday there was a list of five questions from one of the Booklovers, and the last question was, "How much does $1,000 in gold weigh?" As the Campaign Editor never had $1,000 in gold at one time, and any gold that he ever did have did not stay with him long enough to be weighed, it was necessary to get some gold and have it weighed so that we could tell the lady just what weight she would have to carry when we turned over $1,000 in Gold to her at the close of the Contest.

As Saturday was a legal holiday it was hard to get the information correct over the phone, but through the kindness of Jos. A. McCord, of the Third National Bank, we are able to give our readers the exact weight of $1,000 in Gold. It is just 4¼ pounds. We know a great many of you will be surprised and no doubt a great many of you have had the idea that that much money ought to weigh at least a ton. At least that was our idea of it as a boy, and the lady's question made it necessary to get the exact weight.

Mr. McCord talked interestingly on the value of gold as a legal tender, showing how it is the coin money that is worth so much abroad as it is at home. So if you get one of The Journal's big gold prizes you can go to Europe and know that the money is worth its face value to you.

And if you should win the $1,000 you know now that you will only have to carry 4¼ pounds with you, but that the 4¼ pounds will do wonders for you. You can buy a home; take a trip to Europe; buy a touring car or save it to go to the Exposition at Frisco in 1915. But the principal thing to do now is to devote a few pleasant hours each week to solving the prize pictures and keeping up with them. Work hard and take home 4¼ pounds in gold.

BOOKLOVERS' QUERIES.

Constant Reader:

Ans. 1. You can secure the pictures from your neighbors or in any way you see fit.

Ans. 2. There will be only one correct title to each picture.

Ans. 3. No one had all the answers correct last year. Seventy-two was the highest.

Ans. 4. If there should be a tie for a piece of furniture we would divide the value of it, possibly by giving each one an order for half the amount in furniture.

Ans. 5. $1,000 in gold weighs 4¼ pounds.

SEVEN OF O'HARA CLAN BURIED AT WEST VIEW

Irish Horse Traders Lay Their Dead to Rest With Impressive Ceremonies

Seven members of Clan O'Hara, the nomadic Irish horse traders, were buried Monday at West View cemetery with impressive ceremonies witnessed by 1,000 people.

The funeral services were conducted at the Church of Immaculate Conception, and from there to the cemetery went a procession of seven hearses in single file, followed by carriages, automobiles and limousines.

Those buried were as follows:

Mrs. Mamie Nelson, aged 19, who died in Montgomery, Ala.; Mrs. Bridget Sherlock, who died at Sparks, Ga., October 1, 1912; Bridget Costello, aged two years, who died at Blackshear, Ga., November 4, 1912; Maggie Carroll, aged 14, died at Alene, Ga., September 15, 1912; Annie Sherlock, aged 49, died at Baxley, Ga., October 15, 1912; Bridget Mack, aged 18 months, died in Alabama; and Mrs. Bridget O'Hara, who died in Savannah.

Though they live in tents and travel in caravans, the O'Hara Clan do not like to be classed as gypsies. They are just what their name implies—a clan of Irish people, of the Catholic faith, who trade horses.

They have certain places to bury their dead. When a member of the clan dies, the body is embalmed and kept until the next burial. Atlanta is now the chief burial place of the clan, though Nashville was the first in the south and John Sherlock, who died in Atlanta, will be buried there on May 1, the clan making a special pilgrimage to Nashville for the ceremonies.

The clan are said to own $1,000,000 worth of property in Atlanta. They own their camping ground, at the corner of Bellwood avenue and Ashby street, and cottages, houses and valuable renting property scattered throughout the city.

They live in simple, outdoor life, wearing plain clothes, trading horses constantly, spending no money extravagantly except upon their burials, which are lavishly expensive.

SHELBY SMITH SAYS THAT CHEAP ASPHALT WAS POOR

Chairman of County Board Answers City Construction Chief's Criticism

That the asphalt of the grade advocated by Captain R. M. Clayton, chief of construction for the city, is too cheap to be serviceable, and that it was asphalt of this grade which was used first on the North Boulevard pavement against which property owners blocked, is the substance of a statement whose publication Shelby Smith, chairman of the county board, requested Sunday morning.

"The class of material that I claim to be best was put down on North Boulevard after the previous paving, newly laid, had been condemned as rotten," said Chairman Smith. "With this better pavement we got a maintenance bond of five years." Mr. Smith said that the better material was analyzed by Dow & Smith, of New York, and also by the Pratt laboratory, of Atlanta. He added that as to the Bermudas asphalt of which Captain Clayton speaks, very little of it has been included in the county's program for this year.

WOMAN SUFFERED TEN YEARS

From Nervousness Caused by Female Ills—Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Auburn, N. Y. — "I suffered from nervousness for ten years, and had such organic pains that sometimes I would lie in bed four days at a time, could not eat or sleep and did not want anyone to talk to me or bother me at all. Sometimes I would suffer for seven hours at a time. Different doctors did the best they could for me but until four months ago I began giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and now I am in good health." — Mrs. WILLIAM H. GILL, 15 Pleasant Street, Auburn, New York.

"Doctor's Daughter Took It."

St. Cloud, Minn.—"I was so run down by overwork and worry that I could not stand it to have my children talk aloud or walk heavy on the floor. One of my friends said: 'Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for I know a doctor's daughter here in town who takes it and she would not take it if it were not good.'

"I sent for the Compound at once and kept on taking it until I was all right." —Mrs BERTHA M. QUICKSTADT, 727 6th Avenue, S., St. Cloud, Minn.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be relied upon as the most efficient remedy for female ills. Why don't you try it?

End-of-the-Month Sale Brings Many Bargains

—The end of every month is "clean-up" day.
—To insure clean, fresh stocks, we make each month take care of its own odds and ends.
—Profits are disregarded, prices are shaved to the vanishing point—the imperative rule is that broken lines must be cleared.
—That's why we clip prices here a third, a fourth, a half and more. Tomorrow is a big day for thrifty shoppers.

Any Suit in Stock Up to $20 at $10

This is really sensational! Your unrestricted choice of any suit that up to yesterday sold at $20 for just $10. It's the Suit Chief's contribution to the End-of-the-Month Sale, and the offer is just for one day.

The little price, moreover, is not on a few odds and ends, but one entire rack of fine suits—smart, attractive styles in serges, whipcords and Bedford cords. Straight front and cutaway styles, lined throughout with messaline, finished with silk shields, and perfectly tailored. Chiefly in the staple navy blues and blacks with a sprinkling of colors. Sizes for all. Not a suit in the lot that formerly sold for less than $16.75; other values up to $20. Choice tomorrow only $10.

Silk Princess Slips Greatly Reduced

About 100 charming Princess Slips are grouped for the End-of-the-Month Sale. Variously in China and wash silks, messalines and messalines with silk Jersey tops. Simple styles; others rather elaborately trimmed in laces and ribbons. Black, white and all the leading colors. Divided into two lots:

$1 Long Silk Gloves 59c

Put Your Hands Into Them Put 41c in Your Pocketbook

Silk gloves are sold at a short profit. By making a $1 silk glove that would retail at a long profit, this manufacturer thought to scoop the market. But retailers preferred more quality—even with the shorter profits—and the manufacturer's plans went astray. He discontinued the line at a loss, and we "plunged." It is your good fortune to share.

Though not as good as the Kayser or Rich's special $1 gloves; these gloves are really a fair $1 quality. Made of pure thread silk, firm plump weight. They will wear. Cut to a perfect standard; finely fashioned and finished, 16-button length; double tip fingers. Black, white, eponge, navy and lavender. Full assortment of sizes and colors. Buy as many pairs as you will need this summer; only 59c.

$1.25 Kimonos & House Dresses at 98c

Fresh, attractive house dresses in light check soft English percales. Trimmed with solid color, scalloped edge and cuffs. Pearl buttons.

Kimonos are of the sturdy Serpentine crepe in neat colored butterfly, floral and Japanese patterns. Loose back styles. Always $1.25, for 98c.

$5 Silk Kimonos $3.15

Made of splendid quality Kimono silk in light and medium colors in characteristic patterns. Empire and loose back styles, satin band trimmed.

Gingham Petticoats 49c

(House Dresses, Second Floor.)

A Ribbon Sale at 21c

Usual 30c to 40c ribbons, grouped for tomorrow at 21c. Almost every fashionable kind represented, in 6-inch taffetas, moires, messalines and satin stripes. Floral and warp print patterns, stripes, ribbon bow taffetas, etc. Because of the New Jersey silk strike good ribbons are scarce, even at full price. Buy a whole summerful at 21c.

entered the office with detectives on both sides, the door shut and the police began the most important effort that they have yet made to force from him the secret of Mary Phagan's murder.

While the meeting between the negro and Mr. Frank was still in progress Attorney Luther Z. Rosser arrived and entered the room. Excited conversation could be heard through the closed door, but just what was said is not known. Mr. Rosser, it is understood, was present as the attorney of Mr. Frank.

As Superintendent Frank left the National Pencil factory in company with detectives, girls who were employed as operatives gathered at the windows and sobbed hysterically.

The working force at the plant is entirely demoralized, and, while an effort is being made to continue the daily routine of business, the one thought and topic of employees is the murder of Mary Phagan.

The girls employed as operatives are overwrought, and at the time when the superintendent was returned to police station, they reached a state of hysteria.

In an effort to quiet their fears the factory has posted an order excluding newspaper reporters and visitors.

WAS QUESTIONED MONDAY.

Mr. Frank spent the greater part of Monday morning at police station answering questions of the police. But about noon he was allowed to return home.

The police considered his questions of such importance that they made a stenographic record of them.

Mr. Frank employed Luther Rosser and Albert Haas as attorneys to represent him at this inquisition by the police.

Detective Chief Lanford announced at 10 o'clock that he would hold both Arthur Mullinax and J. M. Gantt without a preliminary hearing.

The statement was made to him by John E. Phillips, manager of the Forsyth hotel, at 67 1-2 South Forsyth street, that a man who seemed to resemble Gantt, and a girl who answers the description of Mary Phagan, came to his hotel at 11 o'clock Saturday night and asked for a room.

He inquired whether they were married, and, upon the man's giving an indefinite answer, he refused to admit them to a room.

BEGAN BEFORE DAYLIGHT.

At 4 o'clock Tuesday morning Newt Lee, the negro, was aroused from his cell and the grilling was resumed which had continued through the day Monday.

In the early dawn detectives began taking turns in questioning the negro. As soon as one would exhaust a series of questions another would begin.

"I don't know," was the negro's only answer.

But now and then he seemed to hesitate, the detectives reported, and it appeared that he was on the verge of varying that stolid answer with the information that the police seek. They believe that finally he will break down and tell the whole story.

CLEANED HIS NAILS.

The dirt has been scraped from under his finger nails, and will be examined for traces of blood. Meantime the most unrelenting "third degree" known to the police have ever put a prisoner is continuing.

Leo M. Frank, superintendent of the National Pencil factory, who was questioned during the greater part of Monday morning by the police, has employed Pinkerton detectives to aid the police.

Police are making two random investigations now. One is that Mary Phagan was the victim of a white slave ring. The other is that she was taken for an automobile ride before her murder, and was either drugged or made drunk.

They have been informed of a girl, accompanied by a woman and two men, who was seen Saturday night near the National Pencil factory. The girl was sobbing and reluctant, and was being coaxed along by the woman and the two men.

The woman was heard to say:

"Come along, dearie, don't create a scene. You'll attract the cops."

The girl who was crying answered:

"I don't care. I don't care."

The four disappeared down Forsyth street.

ANOTHER IN DISTRESS.

Detectives Black and Rosser secured evidence Monday afternoon from R. B. Pyron, a telegraph operator of a young girl, who was crying and in distress, whom he saw in an automobile with three men.

Pyron is a telegraph operator at the signal tower on the Central of Georgia railroad at the Whitehall street crossing. He says that the automobile came from the direction of West End, and stopped on Whitehall street, just after passing the railroad. The girl was sobbing and pleading with the man sitting beside her, and another man standing on the running board was holding to her earnestly and trying to quiet her.

When the men saw Pyron approaching they made off with the car toward the city. Pyron says that the girl was hysterical, and seemed to be either drunk or drugged, but that he would be unable to identify either her or any of the men.

CATCHING AT STRAWS.

Investigations of such instances as this, however, are straws at which the police are catching in an effort to trace Mary Phagan's movements from the time she visited the National Pencil factory, 12 o'clock on Saturday, until she was murdered.

Only one individual has been found who says that he saw Mary Phagan after she entered the factory. This is E. L. Sentell, who insists that she was upon the street at midnight with a man whom he at first took to be Arthur Mullinax, one of the four men now under arrest.

He was brought face to face with Gant at police station Monday afternoon, and said that Gant seemed to be this man. But he was not sure, and the police are not convinced that the girl he saw was Mary.

DID GIRL LEAVE FACTORY?

They are still doubtful whether Mary Phagan ever left the factory after going there at 12 o'clock on Saturday to collect wages for two days' work.

This is a question of great importance in the search for her murderer, and is one that the police are using every effort to answer.

"They are endeavoring to settle this uncertainty, and to discover whether she was murdered in the afternoon, the evening, or late at night on Saturday.

The chief hope for solving all details of the mystery seems to be through a statement by Newt Lee or by J. M. Gant.

But the police are using also all material evidence in their search for the murderer.

BODY EXAMINED.

Dr. J. W. Hurt, county physician, made an examination Monday night of the body to determine the nature of the injuries, but he is reserving his report for the coroner's jury. The jury will meet at 10 o'clock on Wednesday to resume the inquest, which was begun on Monday with an examination of the cellar in which the body of Mary Phagan was found and of the second story room where she was murdered.

After all, however, the chief hope of discovering the murderer returns to Newt Lee, the negro.

GANT'S VIGOROUS DENIAL.

Gant, who was arrested on Monday afternoon in Marietta and brought to Atlanta at 4 o'clock, was at first reluctant to talk. He first made a brief, non-committal statement, in which he left the impression that he returned late Saturday night to the residence of his sister, Mrs. F. C. Terrell, of 284 East Linden street, with whom he made his home. In this detail his statement seemed to conflict with one made earlier in the day by his sister.

At police station, however, he made a vigorous defense of his innocence.

If Mary Phagan was murdered Saturday night, the statement by Mrs. Terrell, Gant's sister, would tend to furnish him with an alibi. The force of this statement, however, is lessened by the contradiction that he himself made.

SISTER GIVES ALIBI.

She says that Gant returned to her house early Saturday evening, ate supper there, and remained there throughout the night. But detectives may seek to offset this statement with Gant's own words that "he played pool until 10:30 o'clock." The inference drawn from his words is that it was some time after supper when he returned.

According to her statement he spent Saturday afternoon up town, watching the Memorial day parade. But he returned to her house early in the evening and remained there until Sunday morning.

PLANS MADE EARLIER.

On Monday mornings, she says, he went to Marietta in pursuance of plans that had been decided upon several days ago. He had determined to return to the home of his parents in Marietta and to work there on the farm. A week ago his plans had been laid to go to Marietta, and he was following them out when he left Atlanta Monday morning. She insists that his departure for Marietta was not at all hurried, but was a step that had been prepared for well in advance.

On Sunday morning she discovered from the newspapers that a girl had been murdered, but the name of the girl was not known at that time. She says that she and her brother discussed the crime, and that afterward he left the house to go to Sunday school. Later in the morning he called up to tell her that the girl who had been murdered was Mary Phagan, whom both knew and whose relatives live near the Gant family in Marietta. She says that he had heard the murdered girl's name mentioned uptown.

DECEIVED DETECTIVES.

Mrs. Terrell agrees with her brother in the statement that he had planned several weeks ago to return to his mother's home near Marietta, and that his trip to Marietta on Monday had been prepared for days in advance.

She admitted that detectives had questioned her on Monday about her brother as to what he had pretended not to be home on Sunday. But she explained this deception by saying that she merely thought it was better to mislead them. She had a vague feeling that something was wrong, and that the answer she gave was the better course.

She insists that her brother was at her house through Saturday night, and could not have committed the murder.

BODY TAKEN TO MARIETTA.

The body of Mary Phagan was taken at 8:35 o'clock Tuesday morning from the undertaking shop of the P. J. Bloomfield company to Marietta for fuanral and interment. The funeral services were held at about 2 o'clock.

At the time that the body was removed from the undertaking establishment, 500 to 600 curious people had collected in the street to stare at the white coffin. A few followed the funeral procession to the station.

MISS PEARL ROBINSON.

Of Bellwood avenue, who swears that she went to the Bijou theater with Arthur Mullinax on Saturday night and that he left her at her front door at about 10:30 o'clock, when they returned from the performance. Miss Robinson went to police headquarters in the hopes of establishing an alibi for her friend. Her testimony with that of Jim Rutherford and his mother, with whom the accused man lives, is expected to convince detectives that he has no connection with the horrible crime.

WHERE WAS MARY PHAGAN ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON?

Are there any friends or acquaintances of little Mary Phagan who saw her after she is supposed to have left the offices of the National Pencil company Saturday afternoon, where she went for the little pay that was due her?

Is there any one who knows the girl, who can say she was seen in the city of Atlanta or elsewhere following her departure from home shortly before noon on that day?

According to Superintendent Leo Frank, the child called for her envelope shortly after 12 o'clock on the day of the tragedy. She is supposed to have left the building.

The question is, where did she go?

She did not return home and then come back to the city, for her parents sat up nearly all night Saturday night waiting anxiously for her.

When she left the factory on South Forsyth street, where did she go? If she was on the streets some one of her friends at least must have seen her.

Where, now, are those friends?

It was Memorial day, and thousands were out for the parade, the opera and the ball game.

Does it seem possible that a girl as well known as Mary could be on the streets in such a mass of humanity and not be seen by at least one acquaintance?

Was she alone on the streets of Atlanta from the time she said she would left the building until late Saturday night, when conflicting reports from strangers arrived in order to identify her from photographs in the papers and the sight of the remains?

If she was not alone, then who was with her during the day?

An swer to the question: "Was Mary Phagan seen on the street after she entered the pencil factory Saturday at noon?" would throw much light on the murder mystery.

BLOODY THUMB PRINT IS FOUND ON DOOR

A bloody thumb print, found Tuesday afternoon on the rear door to the basement of the National Pencil factory, leads the police to the theory that the murderer of Mary Phagan left the factory building by that door after he had deposited the girl's body in the basement.

This theory is still further strengthened by the fact that when the murder was discovered Sunday morning it was found that a staple had been drawn from the fastening on the rear door.

R. B. Piron, said to be an employe of the pencil factory, came across the bloody thumb print while making an examination of the factory premises. He chiseled off the bloody spot and took it to Detective Chief Newport A. Lanford, who will have it analyzed to determine whether the stain is human blood.

Piron also brought along a woman's handkerchief and a sharpened pencil, which he says he found in the basement near the spot where Mary Phagan's body lay.

HUERTA TO BE CONQUERED WITHIN TWO WEEKS

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, April 29.—"The Huerta government in Mexico probably will be overthrown within two weeks," said Robert J. Kerr, an attorney, who recently came from Mexico, in an address before the Rotary club today. "The situation there is far more serious than Americans realize. It is vastly more important to this country than is the Balkan situation. Americans are forced to flee from Mexico because the American flag is not as much respected there as are the flags of other countries and Americans, if they remain, do not know whether they will be able to get damages for their ruined property."

CHICAGO WARS ON SUGGESTIVE SONGS

CHICAGO, April 29.—Agitating against the "smut song" bore fruit last night, when an ordinance was introduced in the council forbidding the singing of any song, the words of which are suggestive of indecency or immorality.

The council passed the ordinance prohibiting the exhibition in show windows of a picture portraying an undraped figure. This ordinance was introduced when the city failed to secure the conviction of an art dealer for displaying a replica of Chabas' painting, "September Morn."

WIRELESS OPERATORS GAIN RECRUITS IN THE STRIKE

SEATTLE, Wash., April 29.—The strike of marine wireless operators has spread to stations ashore and the development brought out a statement by R. H. Sawler, assistant superintendent of the Pacific coast division, Marconi Wireless Telegraph company, who said the company was considering closing all land stations in this region in order to supply operators for steamers. Commercial business between ships and shore will be handled by government operators.

GANTT'S RELEASE ASKED IN HABEAS CORPUS WRIT WITNESSES POSITIVE

teen-year-old girl and gave a clear explanation of his visit to Marietta.

DEMANDS IMMEDIATE HEARING.

Judge Gober, who is a relative of his and who came to his assistance as attorney, demanded an immediate hearing for the prisoner. But Chief of Detectives Lanford announced Tuesday morning that neither Gant nor Arthur Mullinax would be given an immediate hearing and that both would continue under arrest.

Immediately after this announcement, Judge Gober presented to Judge Bell the petition for a writ of habeas corpus, and the petition was set for an immediate hearing Tuesday afternoon.

At this hearing, the police will be called upon to advance whatever evidence they have to connect Gant with the murder, and he will offer a defense based upon his own statement and that of his sister, Mrs. F. C. Terrell, of 284 East Linden street.

She says that he spent Saturday night, the night of the murder, at her residence, where he made his home, and he insists also that he returned to his sister's residence at about 10:30 o'clock and remained there during the night. Their statements vary in that she says he came home for supper, while he admits that it was 10:30 o'clock before he returned.

HIS STATEMENT.

"I did not kill Mary Phagan," I haven't seen her within a month. I am innocent, and I swear it."

WHAT HE DID SATURDAY.

"Now, I'll tell you exactly what I did Saturday. First, I saw the the Memorial parade. Then I got with some friends and we walked over town a little here and there, but to no particular place. I was intending to leave town Monday. A pair of old shoes I had worn a month ago were down at the pencil factory. I used to work there, you know, and they were left on the first floor.

"I wanted to get them and asked Mr. Frank, the president of the plant, if I could get into the building. He said I could, and referred me to the negro night watchman. I got into the building and found the shoes. I didn't stay but a short while. About 7:30 o'clock I met two friends. We went to a pool room uptown and played pool until 10:30 o'clock. I didn't play, but sat around and watched the other fellows. When I left the pool room, I went directly to my sister's home on Linden street. She met me at the door. I went straight to bed and was asleep almost the moment I hit the mattress."

HEARD OF MURDER.

"Where were you when told of the murder?" he was asked.

"I got up late Sunday morning. That night I went to see Miss Annie Chambers, of 18 Warren place, with whom I have been going ever since Christmas. We were sitting in the parlor. Her little brother, Philip, came in with a story about a girl being murdered in the pencil factory.

"I was acquainted with most of the girls that worked there. I asked him what was the girl's name.

"'I don't know,' he answered. 'They haven't identified her yet.' It was about 8 o'clock at night, then. That was the first I knew of the killing. When I left Miss Chambers' home I went to my sister's house and to bed."

KNEW HER AS A CHILD.

In denying the charge that he was infatuated with Mary Phagan, Gant said: "When she was a little girl, about ten years ago, I knew her in Marietta. They lived close to the home of my family in Cobb county. Then I knew her again when she worked in the pencil factory. I had never paid her any particular attention, and was not in love with her. I don't guess she was in love with me. She never said anything, if she was, and she didn't show any signs that would indicate it."

"I could wring the neck of whoever accuses me of such a thing," he blazed. "It's the most atrocious crime I've ever heard of. I never could have conceived it, let alone commit it. The man is a murderer who would unjustifiably accuse another of such a deed."

Gantt was bookkeeper at the National Pencil company until three weeks ago, when he was discharged.

DIAZ AND CARRANZA HAVE FORMED ALLIANCE?

Reported That Two Will Join Hands to Overthrow Huerta Regime

(By Associated Press.)

EL PASO, Tex., April 29.—Reports that negotiations for an alliance between Felix Diaz and Governor Carranza, constitutionalist leader, were afoot were spread last night by the arrival of four alleged agents of the two parties.

Furthermore, active hostilities in the zone controlled by Carranza seem to have ceased. This is reported due to negotiations by the federal commanders opposing Carranza. General Umbert and General Lopez, to join the constitutionalists' cause.

Two of the men arriving here last night were Eliseo Arredondo and Francisco Querido, Carranza's confidential agents. They went immediately by special train to Monclova, Mexico, to consult with the governor. The other two are Miguel Gonzales and Leopoldo Martinez said to be representatives of Pelfis Diaz.

After taking all available money as well as ammunition from Casas Grandes, Castillo and his mutineers proceeded to the Corralitos ranch, an American property, and supplied themselves with horses. Then they cut the Mexico Northwestern railway north and south of Casas Grandes. General Salazar's remaining force attempted to follow orders and hasten to Chihuahua City, but failed to get farther than Pearson, returning today to Casas Grandes.

ARREST OF ASSAILANT OF ROGERS EXPECTED

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 29.—The arrest of Gordon Jones, who is believed to have shot down Dr. P. T. Rogers and Ted Brown in the St. Elmo drug store Sunday night and then rifled the safe, is momentally expected following the arrest early this morning of Joe Sullivan, who is said to admit that he was Jones' accomplice on the night of the crime. Jones is also believed to be responsible for the death of S. Siskin, who was shot down and killed two weeks ago.

STEPFATHER THINKS NEGRO IS MURDERER

Believes That Newt Lee Bound and Gagged, Then Murdered Mary Phagan

W. J. Coleman, step-father of Mary Phagan, believes that she was murdered by Newt Lee, the negro night watchman, but that before the murder she lay bound and gagged in the factory of the National Pen company, 37 South Forsyth street, from shortly after noon on Saturday until past midnight.

As people passed back and forth along the street, as members of the girl's family waited anxiously for her return, he thinks that she lay helpless within the factory, while the negro waited for an opportune time to attack and then murder her.

His belief is that as soon as she had been paid the wages that she went to the factory to collect, she passed into the dressing room, perhaps for a drink of water. There, in his opinion, the negro seized the girl and bound and gagged her. He says there is plain evidence in the dressing room that the girl was first attacked there.

He does not believe that either Arthur Mullinax or J. M. Gantt had any hand in the murder of Mary Phagan.

"The negro evidently kept the child in the factory all day," Mr. Coleman said, "and was afraid to attack her until midnight for fear she would scream or somebody would come. He may or may not have knocked her senseless from the first, or he may have tied her. I do not know, but when Gantt entered the shop it is more than likely that he knew nothing of the girl's presence there and simply went up and got his shoes, as he said, and went out again.

"All this about Mary having been seen on the street at midnight or at any other time after 12 o'clock in the day I do not think can be true. I believe she remained all day in the building. After the negro did the work, he was afraid to leave or not to notify the police, which would make appearances worse for him. Therefore he called the officers."

'NOOGA UNIVERSITY TO HOLD SUMMER SCHOOL

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 29.—The faculty of the University of Chattanooga has decided to conduct the usual summer school again this year. The session will open June 9, and will close July 2. Among those who will lecture during the session will be Dr. J. H. Race, president of the University of Chattanooga; Hon. T. P. Harned, state high school inspector; President Brown Ayres, of the University of Tennessee; President S. G. Gilbreath, of the East Tennessee State Normal and other well known educators. Special courses in American and English literature have been arranged to meet the requirements of the city and county teachers.

CHATTANOOGA PUTS ON SMILE FOR VETS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 29.—Work upon three big improvements promised Chattanooga in time for use during the Confederate reunion is now being rapidly pushed. The first is the surface line up Lookout mountain; the second is the new short line to Chickamauga park, and the third is the great white way which is to stretch along Market street, the principal business thoroughfare from Fourth street to the Terminal station, a distance of about ten blocks. It is believed that all three projects will be completed before May 29, the opening day of the reunion.

FREIGHT HITS HOUSE; BLOCKS MAIN LINE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

DALTON, Ga., April 29.—An unusual wreck, caused by a freight train on the Western and Atlantic road backing into a house, blocked the Southern road's main line just outside the station here yesterday and necessitated sending for the wrecker to clear the tracks. Incidentally the house, two cats and one car of the freight train were disabled.

The house belonged to a local car inspector, being constructed of two abandoned freight cars from which the trucks had been removed.

350 SALAZAR'S MEN DESERT TO VILLA

(By Associated Press.)

EL PASO, Tex., April 29.—General Inez Salazar reorganized a part of his command after a mutiny yesterday at Casas Grandes, according to his official report received today at Juarez. But he is left with less than 200 men.

Led by Colonel Madame Castillo, 350 of the rebels set off to join Francisco Villa's insurgents, reported near Minaca. They took with them most of Salazar's ammunition and supplies. Even those men remaining with Salazar are said to have refused to proceed in the campaign against the constitutionalists.

BANKING COMMITTEE TO TAKE UP REFORM FRIDAY

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Chairman Owen announced today that the senate banking and currency committee would map out its course of investigation of currency reform and legislation at a meeting Friday.

Most of the big bankers of the country and many writers of note on economic subjects will be called later.

Hearings probably will last several weeks, and if a bill is laid before the senate it will not make its appearance until the tariff fight is underway there.

FIRE PROBE POSTPONED UNTIL FRIDAY AFTERNOON

The special committee of council which is probing the fire department did not meet Tuesday morning, as scheduled, but postponed the meeting until next Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The postponement was due to the failure of Thomas Reynolds, the New York "man of mystery" in the investigation, to return to Atlanta. He is in Cincinnati and wired Mayor Woodward that he could not get back until Thursday afternoon.

STATE OFFERS $200 REWARD; CITY WILL FOLLOW WITH $1,000 FOR MARY PHAGAN'S MURDERER

Mayor Woodward Calls Special Meeting of Council So That Reward Can Be Formally Offered—Governor Brown Issued Proclamation Tuesday Morning

Governor Joseph M. Brown Tuesday morning offered a reward of $200 for the apprehension and conviction of the murderer or murderers of Mary Phagan, and the city of Atlanta is expected to offer a $1,000 reward at a special meeting that has been called by Mayor James G. Woodward for Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Mayor Woodward points out that this is one of the most atrocious crimes in Atlanta's history and that the city cannot afford to let it go unheeded.

Following is the mayor's message to council:

"Atlanta, Ga., April 29, 1913.

"To the General Council City of Atlanta:

"Gentlemen:

"The general council of the city of Atlanta is hereby called to convene in special session tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, April 30, 1913, to take cognizance, in an official way, of that most brutal crime that was committed in this city on last Saturday night.

"I think it is proper that the city government should take some befitting action as regards this most deplorable matter, which, as it is, is liable to cast unenviable criticism upon the name of our fair city, and I would suggest that your honorable body offer a suitable reward of not less than $1,000 for the capture of the brute or brutes that could so far forget themselves as to commit such an outrageous crime. I feel satisfied that every tax payer of this city will heartily cooperate in indorsing the action of the mayor and general council in offering this reward. Respectfully submitted,

"J. G. WOODWARD, Mayor."

WILSON PREPARES TO INVADE NEW JERSEY

WASHINGTON, April 29.—President Wilson hopes to meet the Democratic members of the legislature of New Jersey for a conference during his trip to that state this week in the interest of jury reform and the calling of a state constitutional convention.

The president will urge the Democrats to carry out the pledges of their state platform. The president will leave Washington Thursday, May 1, and speak at Newark and Elizabeth, N. J., that night. On Friday the president will meet the legislators, make a public address at night and return to Washington Saturday.

The president will be accompanied by Secretary Tumulty, Dr. T. L. Rhoads, his personal aide, a stenographer and secret service men.

FIFTEEN NOTED HORSES BURNED IN KENTUCKY

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 29.—Fifteen world famous American and English-bred mares, each with foal by her side, were burned to death in a fire which destroyed a barn at the Kingstone Stock farm near here today. The fire is believed to have been of incendiary origin. The monetary loss is estimated at $50,000.

The mares which perished were Running Stream, Forbidden Fruit, Cassandra, Flower of the Forest, Jessanta, Ladasime, True Love, Pretty, Half Crown—the only mare in America by the English stallion Cylmene—Degree, Mayfair, Fealty, Harpsichord, Flying Ship and Deisha.

MENINGITIS DISCUSSED BY STATE HEALTH BOARD

Bulletin Issued on Character, Course, Treatment and Prevention of Disease

The Georgia state board of health has issued the following bulletin on cerebro-spinal meningitis:

Cerebro-spinal meningitis, spotted fever, or as it is more commonly called, simply meningitis, is one of the most terrible and fatal of all diseases, the mortality running up as high as 100 per cent in some local epidemics.

Although the cause of the disease has been known for a number of years, the exact method by which the germ that produces it spreads from man to man was, until quite recently, entirely unrecognized, and even now it can not be said that the whole matter has been demonstrated with scientific exactness; notwithstanding this, in view of the fact that the disease has recently existed to a considerable extent in Atlanta, and has appeared in a number of the smaller towns of Georgia—the state board of health deems it its duty to furnish to the people such information concerning the malady as may be thought to be of value in connection with it.

Cerebro-spinal meningitis is a disease which is produced by a minute vegetable organism known as the micrococcus intracellularis. It is very fortunately a germ of low vitality, as it develops only at about blood heat, and when expelled from its normal dwelling place in the human body it dies very quickly.

These germs get within the skull and spinal canal, and produce violent inflammation of the coverings of the brain and cord; these membranes are called "meninges," hence the name cerebro-spinal meningitis." Within a short time after their entrance pus is produced, and the condition becomes practically one of abscess around the brain and spinal cord.

It is not within the province of this paper to go into details concerning the symptoms of this disease, space only permitting a brief statement of the principal manifestations that occur in those afflicted with the malady. In almost all cases the disease is preceded by a slight catarrhal condition of the nose and throat, the symptoms being those of an ordinary cold. The symptoms that point to the covering of the brain being attacked come on with great suddenness; there is usually a chill followed by intense headache, vomiting restlessness with great dread of noises and bright light; in many cases reddish spots appear beneath the skin, these being usually quite tender on pressure. In some cases the muscles of the neck become very stiff, and contract so that the head is drawn backward. The temperature is somewhat irregular, but is always above normal in the beginning, and sometimes goes very high; the pulse is as a rule normal, or but little accelerated. After the patient remains in the condition just described for from a few hours to several days, he generally becomes unconscious, and in a comparatively short time dies. In some cases the symptoms after starting off very violently quickly subside, and the patient makes a comparatively rapid recovery. In other instances the disease begins more mildly, the patient having more or less of the usual symptoms but not so severely as is ordinarily the case; in such cases the patient may die, after lingering weeks or months; or may make a protracted recovery, with frequently partial paralytic conditions that permanently remain.

There is reason to believe that this germ first attacks the mucous membranes of the nose, and in many merely causes the symptoms of an ordinary cold, and goes no further. However, in those with weak resisting powers to the disease the germs spread from the nose into the skull by the blood or by other means, and there set up an inflammation with the resulting symptoms described above. So it is seen that it is important during epidemics that persons with colds should be very careful not to allow other people to become infected from them. As cold and wet are undoubtedly powerful exciting causes to colds, it is well for every one to shun such exposure during periods when meningitis is prevalent. Debilitating influences, such as alcoholic excess and lack of sleep, should also be avoided. Those exposed to the disease should be given three injections of the so-called menigo-bacterins; these bacterins are believed to create an artificial immunity against meningitis in very much the same way that vaccination protects a person against smallpox. In addition to this treatment those exposed should use several times a day an antiseptic mouth and nasal spray.

It is needless to say that those suffering from meningitis should be rigidly quarantined and every precaution taken to prevent the spread of this dreadful disease.

Unfortunately we possess no sure cure for meningitis. It is believed, however, that the present method of treatment has very materially lessened the death rate. This treatment consists in the injection into the spinal canal of a serum which finds its way up the canal and into the skull and attacks directly the cause of the disease. Under this form of treatment it is claimed that the death rate has been lowered from 70 per cent to 40 per cent. For the serum treatment to be of any value, however, it is highly important that it should be given early. In addition to this treatment it is often also necessary to keep the patient quiet with anodynes and to control other symptoms with remedial measures as they may be indicated.

The state board of health, upon request, will gladly furnish the anti-menigitis serum and the menigo-bacterins free of charge.

Hooray! Baby To Rule the House

No Longer Do Women Fear the Greatest of All Human Blessings.

It is a comfort to know that those much-talked-of pains that are said to precede child-bearing may easily be avoided. No woman need fear the slightest discomfort if she will fortify herself with the well-known and time-honored remedy, "Mother's Friend."

This is a penetrating, external application that at once softens and makes pliant the abdominal muscles and ligaments. They naturally expand without the slightest strain, and thus not only banish all tendency to nervous, twitching spells, but there is an entire freedom from nausea, discomfort, sleeplessness and dread that so often leave their impress upon the babe.

The occasion is, therefore, one of unbounded, joyful anticipation, and too much stress cannot be laid upon the remarkable influence which a mother's happy, prenatal disposition has upon the health and fortunes of the generation to come.

You will find it on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 a bottle. Write to-day to the Bradfield Regulator Co., 230 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for an instructive book. (Advt.)

WITH CARTOONIST BREWERTON AT THE FORSYTH

IN THE LOCAL PLAYHOUSES

Keith vaudeville returned to the cool Forsyth theater Monday, and the reopening of the popular little playhouse was most auspicious, the bill for this week being one of the cleverest that ever attracted an Atlanta audience. It is of the frivolous kind which gives no cause for deep thinking in this hot weather.

There is good music and plenty of it. None of the attractions is what one would term a headliner, yet they are all so good that it goes to make the bill well balanced. It is a case of something interesting all the while.

One of the big features of the bill is the presence of so many pretty girls, Sophye Bernade, then Muriel and Francis, and last of all Gaby. All are attractive, possess good figures, get in with the crowd and have good voices. Muriel and Francis, in their little skit of song, make one of the biggest hits ever scored in a local vaudeville house.

Miss Barnard starred in the playlet with Lou Anger & Co., making a distinct hit with her voice. The story of a young wife who gave up her family and home to seek a career on the stage, and when she was hissed by those for whom she had given up her all she decided to abandon her career and return to her home. Besides possessing a good voice, Miss Barnard is a fine actor, is pretty and wears the most fashionable of gowns.

Muriel and Francis, introduced as "Just Girls," made a big hit with their line of songs. One is an excellent comedienne and the other gets away with several good song numbers. Of all the girls who have been seen at the vaudeville house here, this pair takes the prize, being encored time and time again and always responding with a number better than anything previously given.

Chris Richards is certainly there as an unusual, comedian. What he can't do with a hat isn't worth trying, and he is also somewhat around when it comes to eccentric dancing. With it all he carries a good line of gab.

Gaby gets away with a number of poses. She possesses a good figure and her act is arranged well. Burr and Hope give an entertaining playlet, and Honor and LaPrince offer something new in gymnastic stunts.

It was a welcome change from musical comedy and problem plays to patrons of the Lyric theater to get a real taste of old-fashioned melodrama Monday night in "Billy the Kid," a regular thriller, western, bloody and exciting from curtain to close.

"Billy the Kid" becomes an enemy to society when his father and mother are murdered by an unknown hand, and sweats to track the slayer until he pays the penalty of his crime. How he becomes the terror of the Mexican border, cleans out barrooms, escapes by marvelous processes from the very midst of his enemies, and with a $5,000 price upon his head finally captures the murderer, absorbs the audience intensely for four acts.

With his long search ended, Billy suddenly finds that the murderer is in reality his own father. He cannot kill him, he tells him to go, gives him his hat and his coat. The murderer, wearing Billy's clothes, walks to his death, for mistaking him for the Kid, Billy's enemies ambush and slay him.

A love story runs throughout the play, and at the last Billy and the girl are united and decide to "wander down life's pathway together where the sun shines always."

The various parts are well taken, Berkely Haswell playing the chief role.

The Billy Long Stock company presented "A Butterfly on the Wheel" at the Atlanta theater Monday evening, this being the opening performance of a week of this play here. The company made a distinctively good impression, and the play was effective.

Miss Long, as the foolish wife, and Allan Robinson, who was the humorous Lord Ellerdine, were given liberal applause.

The story is that of an impulsive wife, an unresponsive husband and a friend of the husband who falls in love with the neglected wife. Various complications ensue, including an accidental meeting in a hotel, and the schemes of a jealous woman.

It leads to the husband's determination to get a divorce and the strongest scene comes in the court room.

Matinees of vaude performances at the local theaters are written by members of The Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater managements.

1,000 MEMBERS IS AIM OF BAPTIST S. S. CLASS

One thousand members permanently enrolled, is the aim of the Second Baptist Bible class of young men, of which Thomas J. Day is teacher. Mr. Day declared this purpose Tuesday when he made public an invitation that every young man in Atlanta who is not now attending some other class come to his class Sunday morning. Last Sunday, said he, 401 members were present. The indications are that there will be 600 or more this coming Sunday. The class meets in the main auditorium of the Second Baptist church, corner of Washington and Mitchell streets.

"We are not attempting to build up our class at the expense of any other school," said Mr. Day. "But I do believe that we have a great many attractive features which should draw to us those young men who used to attend Sunday school before they came to Atlanta or before they became established in business. We have fine music, accompanied by Mrs. Nelms, the church organist. We have our own orchestra and glee club, and our own athletic field. We hold a social every Thursday night in the basement of the church. Every member of our class has been working individually to bring new members in, by personal solicitation in offices, shops, schools and everywhere else that young men are found."

Mr. Day's class is one of the most vigorous among those which are making the Second Baptist Bible school a record institution and are running the First Christian school a close race in the contest between the two.

LAUNDRYMEN OF 3 STATES ARE HERE IN CONVENTION

Association of the Carolinas and Georgia, With 300 Delegates, Met Tuesday

The laundrymen of three states were gathered in Atlanta Tuesday, and expected to conclude in the one day the business of the convention. It was the seventh annual gathering of the Laundrerers' association of the Carolinas and Georgia. Tuesday will be devoted to entertainment and to such business (if any) as remains unfinished from the Monday sessions.

President F. D. Lethco, of the Charlotte, laundry, Charlotte, N. C., called the convention to order in the assembly hall of the Piedmont hotel shortly before 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. Following the opening prayer by Rev. Dr. John E. White, pastor of the Second Baptist, and the welcome by Mayor J. G. Woodward on behalf of Atlanta, responses were delivered by A. W. Solomon, of Savannah, in behalf of the visiting laundrymen, and by E. B. Stanley, of Cincinnati, in behalf of the allied trades. W. W. Orr, of the George Muse Clothing company, Atlanta, addressed the convention upon "Trade Organization and Co-operation." The association then went into executive session, to appoint committees, receive applications for membership, approve the minutes of the last meeting, hear the reports of President Lethco and Secretary H. A. Smith, of Florence, S. C., and attend to unfinished business. An address by President C. A. Wheeler, of the Laundrymen's National association, closed the morning session.

The program for the afternoon session Tuesday was replete with interest. It included addresses by W. E. Fitch, secretary of the Laundrymen's National association; on "Steam Conservation in the Laundry," by L. J. Spencer, of Crane & Co., and on the question "Is the Parcel Post of Benefit to the Laundry?" by J. A. Nichols. Reports of committees, new business, open discussion, election of officers, installation of officers, and adjournment were on the program to follow.

The entertainment program calls for an automobile ride over the city for the visiting ladies Tuesday afternoon, a theater party for all at the Forsyth theater Tuesday evening, a [illegible] Wednesday morning at the Cold Springs [illegible] grounds, and a trip of inspection through the various plants of Atlanta Wednesday afternoon.

A Blessing to Victims Of "Sore Foot" Agony

The following is said to be the surest and quickest cure known to science for all foot ailments: "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of warm water. Soak the feet in this for fully fifteen minutes, gently rubbing the sort parts." The effect is really wonderful. All soreness goes instantly; the feet feel delightful. Corns and callouses can be peeled right off. It gives immediate relief for sore bunions, sweaty, smelly and aching feet. A twenty-five cent box of Calocide is said to be sufficient to cure the worst feet. It works through the pores and removes the cause of the trouble. Don't waste time on uncertain remedies. Any druggist has Calocide compound in stock or can get it in a few hours from his wholesale house.—(Advt.)

Miss Roseboro's First Selections:

The Girl Who Proposed
By Marianne Gauss
This, the opening story of the first five-cent Collier's, is especially a sincere and touching love story, but it is also a character story and, in a very human way, it touches a very human problem.

Paddy the Gander
By Ruth Sawyer
This is the first story by an American girl—of whom Seumas MacManus has said that she is the only outsider of the day who understands the "Old Country."

Honor of the Station
By Magda Leigh
Love, duty, sacrifice—of these high qualities is honor made. And as the greatest of these is sacrifice, so the most human is love—in this case a woman's love, a young mother's love, a young wife's love. "Women and children first," is the old cry of the sea; in her ears as she presses the key of the wireless instrument. But whose woman and whose child? And honor answers.

FORMER GEORGIAN TO PRESIDE AT ASSEMBLY

Rev. Mark A. Matthews, Formerly of Calhoun, Has Had Remarkable Career

When the great Presbyterian assembly meets in Atlanta early next month it will be called to order by a native Georgian, who has had a remarkable career.

Rev. Mark A. Matthews, who was elected presiding officer of the Presbyterian general assembly last year at St. Louis, was born in Calhoun, Ga., some forty years ago and at present is the head of one of the largest institutional churches in the world, the First Presbyterian church of Seattle, Wash.

Dr. Matthews, for he is both a D. D. and an LL. D., began his ministerial work as the pastor of the little Presbyterian church in his home town of Calhoun back in the latter '80s. He was from the beginning a marvelous worker and organizer. He was soon called to the Dalton Presbyterian church, where he spent a few years, greatly increasing the membership and efficiency of the church. Larger fields were soon calling for him and from Dalton he went to Jackson, Tenn., where his first large work was undertaken.

Under his leadership the Jackson church soon left the old paths and began to show activity in new fields and to manifest its strength in many ways previously unknown. Various practical charities were put on foot, night schools and hospitals were opened and through various committees the church, now a militant and growing organization, reached out its helping hands to the community in a hundred ways.

It was at Jackson that Dr. Matthews attracted attention throughout the nation as a worker and organizer, and it was not long till other and larger fields called for him. He was invited to Seattle and offered the opportunity which has made him a national figure.

When he went to Seattle he found a small congregation and a church moving along in conventional lines. Taking vigorous hold of the situation he soon had even wideopen Seattle sitting up and taking notice. He got new people into the church and put the old ones to work. His genius for organization soon showed itself in an army of committees which encountered the wild, roystering life of the western metropolis at every creek and turn. The little army of which the long-haired young Georgian was captain grew in strength and numbers and in the course of time a stately church edifice, equipped with all the accessories of a modern institutional church, was erected and missions established throughout the city and vicinity.

The first Presbyterian church of Seattle now has on its rolls of membership something like 4,000 persons and the church finances run into many thousands of dollars annually.

NO ULTIMATUM SENT TO GUATEMALA BY ENGLAND

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, April 29.—The British government today denied the published report that it had sent an ultimatum to Guatemala. At the foreign office it was said that all that had been done so far was to make a renewed presentation of Great Britain's urgent demand for the payment of Guatemala's indebtedness, the bulk of which has been owing for twenty-five years.

No date was mentioned for the presentation of Guatemala's reply nor were threats of reprisals made by Great Britain. The foreign office points out that the time for such action has not yet arrived. Great Britain is still awaiting the answer of Guatemala.

THOUSANDS TO BE BIDDEN TO BIG AUDITORIUM MEET

Second Baptist and First Christian Sunday Schools to Have Others With Them

Thousands will be invited to meet with the Second Baptist Sunday school and the First Christian Sunday school next Sunday morning, at their joint session in the auditorium. That meeting will signalize th eenthusiasm that the contest between the two schools, for growth and progress, has stirred. It will precede the end of their contest by just one Sunday.

Invitations are being prepared now for ushers and for the visitors who are in Atlanta next Sunday. Upon the registration lists of the wards wherein the two churches have most of their membership, many hundred invitations are being addressed personally. Thou*sands of others will be distributed* among the hotels on Saturday, for delivery to each guest in person.

On Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock the officers and teachers of the two schools will meet at supper in the dining room of the First Christian church, the First Christian workers being hosts to the Second Baptist workers. Four weeks ago, at a similar supper, the Second Baptists entertained the First Christians. It was the first occasion of its kind on record. As at that former supper, the workers will hold an impossible council of war at the supper to be held Wednesday evening, each side telling the other exactly how and why it is pursuing the details of its own campaign, in order that each may help the other with its own enthusiasm and suggestions. The loser will have to give a picnic to the winner—but the object that the two schools have in mind is much bigger than a picnic. They have found the contest wonderfully helpful mutually.

The auditorium meeting will be so notable an affair that the "movies" must record it in their boxes films. Arrangements for that have been completed already. The schools will meet at the capitol and will march from there over the viaduct to the auditorium. The meeting will last from 10:30 o'clock for about two hours, and will be addressed by several of the leaders in each school.

MRS. DODD, UNCONSCIOUS, FOUND IN THE FORSYTH

Atlanta Lady Believed to Be Seriously Ill From Cerebral Hemorrhage

Mrs. Philip Dodd, a well known and prominent Atlanta lady, was found unconscious Monday afternoon in the lobby of the Forsyth building shortly after 5 o'clock. She was taken to her apartments in the Arazon hotel, in an ambulance and was given immediate attention by the house physician, Dr. Flowers.

Tuesday morning Mrs. Dodd had not regained consciousness, and grave fears are entertained for her recovery by other doctors called in consultation.

It is thought that she is suffering from a hemorrhage of the brain.

Elliott City and Anchora Covered With Water—Lottie Will Be Swamped by Wednesday

(By Associated Press.)

MELVILLE, La., April 29.—Flood waters from the Klotzspring crevasse in the main line of the Atachafalaya river levee are rapidly spreading over the southwestern part of the Pointe Coupe parish and inundating a number of towns and villages.

At Elliott City, a sawmill town, on the Texas and Pacific railroad, water has covered the place ranging in depths from two to six feet.

When the other plants were forced to suspend operations, all employes were sent to the levees to assist in fighting the flood. Anchora, another town with several lumber plants, is partially overflowed.

Water has reached the outskirts of Lottie, one of the largest towns in the path of the flood, and within forty-eight hours all of that town is expected to be inundated. Government engineers have leased a number of boats for relief work in the Atachafalaya district.

Mississippi Falls as Levee Gives Away

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, April 29.—For the first time since the present high water entered the Mississippi river all points along the stream from St. Louis to New Orleans today recorded lower stages than for the previous twenty-four hours.

This relief, however, is only temporary, for points from Natchez south, as the return of the water now pouring through the several breaks in the levees of the great stream will cause another climb of the gauges within the next few days.

The gauge at Vicksburg, which yesterday recorded one foot above the high water mark of last year, today registered a fall of two-tenths of a foot. Natchez, with a stage of 51 feet, showed the greatest decline in the lower river readings with a drop of four-tenths. Maximum stages for Baton Rouge and points south as previous forecast show.

The stages from Vicksburg south this morning compared with the 1912 record were:

Name.	Today's Stage.	24-Hour Change.	1912 Record.
Vicksburg	52.2	0.1 fall	51.5
Natchez	51.0	0.4 fall	51.4
Baton Rouge	40.8	0.3 fall	43.8
Donaldsonville	32.3	0.3 fall	34.8
New Orleas	19.9	0.2 fall	22.0

Refugees From Flooded District Go to Vicksburg

(By Associated Press.)

VICKSBURG, Miss., April 29.—Additional refugees from the flooded Sunflower river country, north of Vicksburg, arrived here this morning on the steamer Alice Baliffe.

They were taken to Camp Hayes, where the United States army engineers corps is furnishing shelter, food and medical care to thousands of victims of the crevasse waters which are pouring through the levee gap near Mayersville, Miss.

Captain W. B. Baker, the army officer in charge of this camp, ordered the steamer to begin immediately up the Sunflower river with 100,000 rations for distribution at relief stations between Vicksburg and Rolling Fork.

Captain Baker expects this shipment of rations to relieve the situation in Issaquena and Sharkey counties until May 5, when, according to his estimates, the flood water in the Sunflower basin will begin to recede rapidly.

News reached here today that the steamer C. B. Hull, which left Vicksburg last week for Rolling Fork with a large supply of government rations, was caught in the strong current of the crevasse several miles south of Rolling Fork and was forced to anchor. A tug was sent to the scene today to assist in towing the ration boat to Rolling Fork.

All of the remaining levees of North Louisiana were reported holding well this morning. Numerous sand boils and crawfish holes which have been giving trouble from St. Joseph north already reported repaired.

There are 750 refugees from the flooded section of Tensas and Concordia parishes of Louisiana at Camp Erwin, in the delta, where they are being cared for by the army relief corps.

TARIFF BILL ADVANCES ANOTHER STAGE TUESDAY

House Takes Up Measure, Paragraph by Paragraph, Amendments Offered

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The Democratic tariff revision bill advanced another stage in the house today when the reading of the measure, paragraph by paragraph, was began. Amendments will be offered by the Republicans and the Progressives, as the minority, while the bill progresses through this part of its legislative journey, and some amendments that may work best in the light of developments may be brought in by the ways and means committee majority.

The minority of the house will make a fight on some of the provisions, realizing, however, that with an immense ma*jority of Democrats in the house the* bill may go through unchanged by the opposition to it. Whatever amendments are agreed to by the Democrats will be voted upon later as a whole when the bill is reported to the house as a formality, from the committee of the whole house consideration at this time.

House considerations at this time.

Consideration in the house itself will be brief, the chairman of the committee of the whole house simply reporting the adoption of the bill, with sundry amendments by the committee and a very quick consideration of the bill and amendments, in gross, will be followed by the final passage of the bill and its forwarding to the senate.

Representative Underwood said today he expected the bill would be passed by the house this week. He added that unless currency degislation should be taken up, the tariff bill could be passed by both house of congress and signed by the president, and congress could adjourn by July 1.

Many members of the house who have not spoken in general debate will talk under the five minute rule beginning today, on the bill.

STEAM ROLLER AT WORK.

When the reading of the bill for amendment began, Majority Leader Underwood made it apparent that the Democrats intend to hurry the bill through. He objected to all requests for extension of time for debate and confined the discussion strictly to the paragraphs under consideration.

As consideration of the bill went on amendment after amendment proposed by the Republicans, were rejected with rolling choruses of noes from the Democratic side. Majority Leader Underwood and Republican Leader Mann had long arguments, because the chemical schedule differed from last year's chemical bill. Mr. Underwood explained the changes had been made possible because the income tax was not a possibility last year.

Central City of Georgia Loses Headquarters of Southern States Cotton Corporation

(By Associated Press.)

DALLAS, Tex., April 29.—Decision to move the headquarters of the Southern States Cotton Corporation from Macon, Ga., to Dallas, Tex., was made at a meeting of the stockholders of that organization here last night. In connection with the stockholders' meeting the corporation is holding a three days' cotton convention which is being attended by several hundred persons, many of them cotton farmers mainly from Texas and Oklahoma.

Today's program consisted of addresses by cotton men from various parts of the south, including Alfred Aldrich and J. L. McLaurin, of South Carolina.

Austria Decides to Take Matters in Hand

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, April 29.—A special correspondent telegraphing from Vienna, puts the Austrian attitude in regard to Montenegro in precise form as follows:

"Austria-Hungary, finding that the ambassadorial conference in London yesterday produced no results, has decided to take matters into her own hands and to carry out the decision of the powers regarding Scutari."

Deaths and Funerals

MR. JACK WILDER.

Mr. Jack Wilder, of College Springs, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Wilder, died at a sanitarium Monday. Surviving him are his parents, two brothers and a sister.

MRS. A. E. CAMPBELL.

News was received yesterday of the death of Mrs. A. E. Campbell, in Roswell, New Mexico. She was visiting her daughter, Mrs. E. C. McCord, in Roswell at the time. Mrs. Campbell was well known in Atlanta, having lived here many years and having a large circle of friends who will regret her death. Mrs. Campbell was the mother of Mrs. T. T. Stevens, from whose home she had returned to Roswell, N. M., only a month ago. The interment will take place at the family cemetery in Carson, Ala.

POLICEMAN NAMED AS SILENT LEADER OF GANG

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, April 29.—William Ohm, a patrolman, was named as the silent partner of a gang of seven burglars in a confession by three of the alleged thieves today. Ohm was arrested and taken to the city hall where Assistant Chief of Police Schuettler cut the buttons off his coat and took his star from him.

Information that the officer was in league with crooks was brought to the assistant chief by attorneys for the accused men. They were told by their clients that Ohm, who walks a beat in the day time, "tipped them off" to the places on his beat which they should rob at night. They asserted Ohm participated in the profits of thirty-seven "jobs" since February. Ohm denies the charges.

FORTY-NINE BURIED MINERS MAKE ESCAPE

WALSENBURG, Colo., April 29.—Forty mine employes at the Colorado Fuel and Iron company's mine, at Rouse, near here, were buried late yesterday when a cave-in of a thousand tons of coal filled the mine entries for 400 feet. All of the miners escaped in safety.

The men were imprisoned for several hours but made their escape through a hole formed by the peculiar manner in which the mine props and strainers fell beneath the coal. The hole was narrow and the men were forced to crawl through it on hands and knees.

New Summer Waists Have Just Arrived

Voiles, Crepes and Batistes Most Attractively Fashioned

One thing you will notice at once is the wonderful quantity of them, justified, however, by the charming points of the waists individually—a greater variety than we have had at any time this season. It all means that your waist will be a delight! For they are indeed out of the ordinary—in many ways.

Waists with little net vests overlaid with shadow laces are new.

Waists with veil ruffles on fronts and sleeves are new—the newness is a matter of the way the ruffles are fashioned and used.

Waists with touches of colors around collars, cuffs and down fronts are new—and decidedly smart right now. The colors show in hand-made buttons, in little folds, in bows. The colors are oftenest Nell rose, old blue or Copenhagen.

Waists with long flat and pointed collars are new—sometimes embroidered, sometimes of Irish crochet lace.

And still no mention of the new embroidered waists with Dutch, square and high necks—daintier, lighter, cooler-looking than ever, since the materials are crepes, voiles and ratines.

But there is no use in telling you of what your eyes will see—charmingest waists of any summer!

This, however, rather positively—the woman seeking fresh waists different from those she has grown accustomed to will end her search right here.

They are priced from $5.00 slowly up to $22.50.

A Good Collector

A statement reaching a debtor on the first of the month is a good collector—five, or even two days later, the same statement won't pull as well.

That's just one of many advantages of Burroughs-made statements—to make out, they take less than half the time of penmade statements.

Which means, they go out on the first of the month—not from the fifth to the tenth. And the old rule of "first come, first served" applies to statements.

Results—less collection expense—less money on the books—less bad debts.

And it's being proved every month by many thousands of business men now using these machines.

Let us make out your statements next month—no cost nor obligation.

A Nation of Savers.

There could be no surer evidence of American thrift and prosperity than the fact that the savings bank deposits in this country amount to four and a half billion dollars. This record is unapproached by any other nation. It is said to be four times as great as that of France, whose people have so long been famed for their industry and acquisitive genius. It is a remarkable tribute to the energy and hardihood of the American character.

We have been won't to think of the United States as a land where vast fortunes are acquired by comparatively a few men; but this is only one view of the situation. There can be no doubt that for several decades past, and particularly during the last ten or fifteen years, the country's wealth became abnormally centered at certain points and unduly controlled by special groups on financiers. Conditions have been such that practically all the people were permitted to share in the nation's prosperity but only a small proportion of them were permitted to originate it. That is inevitably the case when industrial and commercial enterprise and the sources of credit are dominated by trusts and monopolies. But there are bright omens that at length we are emerging into a freer era when individual worth and initiative will find itself unobstructed.

If that be true, American thrift will establish even a finer record than ever before. Savings accounts will increase in number and volume, as the individual opportunity to produce wealth is extended. In the meantime it is cheering to know that this country's savings accounts exceed those of any other people and that the facilities and inducements to saving are being continually multiplied.

California doesn't intend to extend her real estate activity to the Japs.

Every mail and every wire bring more congratulations to Atlanta on opera week.

The Huerta-Diaz Brawl.

Reports from Mexico continue to reveal the tense rivalry and suspicion that have sprung up between Huerta, the provisional President, and Felix Diaz, the leader of the late revolution.

Each of these ambitious men has his partisans; each has developed a large factional following in the capital; and both have their common enemies, people who believe that the downfall of Madero was accomplished by methods beneath civilization.

It has seemed inevitable from the outset that the two dictators would eventually fall apart and that one or the other would be trodden under foot. Their mutual distrust and enmity may yet lead to the overthrow of them both.

Recent dispatches state that Huerta has added to the infantry at the national palace and that Diaz has encamped much of the artillery on his estate, Hacienda del Cristo, about thirty miles away."

It thus seems that the federal forces are being divided into two personal camps and that individual issues threaten to overshadow the government.

That five-minute debate on the tariff will limit the labors of the old Congressional Record.

The war correspondents may be getting a rest from actual labor, but the diplomats are working overtime.

There may be some dispute between officials about the quality of our paving, but the public hasn't much doubt on the subject.

Homes for Our Envoys.

For the sake of the freedom and prestige of America's diplomatic service, it is to be hoped that the bills by Senator Bacon and Congressman Henry providing suitable legation and embassy residences will pass. As conditions now are our representatives abroad are more than likely to be handicapped, unless they are men of extraordinary wealth. Their salaries are insufficient to pay the rental on acceptable quarters and also meet the other responsibilities of their position.

This state of affairs frequently has the effect of closing the diplomatic service to Americans of high talent and distinction, men who would be of great honor and value to the nation, but whose energies have been directed into other channels than those of money-making.

It is very shortsighted and very undemocratic for a republic like the United States to suffer such conditions to continue. Our ambassadors and ministers should be provided with quarters that will be worthy of the nation's name and with salaries that will enable them to uphold the dignity of their office.

More Food, If Less Cotton.

According to an estimate made by the New York Commercial, after a thoroughgoing inquiry, Georgia's cotton acreage for the current year shows a reduction of about three per cent. Assuming this to be true, how are we to interpret it? What does it mean to the State's agricultural and economic life?

Its chief significance is undoubtedly this: that Georgia farmers are realizing the disadvantage of the one-crop plan and are devoting more soil and more energy to the production of food supplies. They are responding to the appeals of science and of good business, which means, in the first place, that they are adopting intensive methods of cultivation and, furthermore, that they are managing their affairs with a view to home comfort and independence.

The fact that fewer acres of cotton were planted in Georgia this year does not mean necessarily that the State's cotton crop will be smaller than heretofore or that it will net the planters less money. On the contrary, it indicates a more progressive system of farming. One acre, carefully tended, will yield a richer harvest and a larger profit than two acres without up-to-date methods. A farmer who raises ten bales of cotton and also his own supplies is far better off than he who raises twenty and must then spend the entire proceeds of his money crop for necessaries which he could have produced at home.

In this light, therefore, the reported reduction of Georgia's cotton acreage is distinctly cheering. In other cotton-growing States a contrary tendency is manifest. Louisiana, for instance, is credited with a fifteen per cent increase in cotton acreage, Mississippi with a ten per cent increase and Texas with a ten per cent increase. Yet, with the exception of the last named State, Georgia's cotton acreage appears still to be the largest in the South. It is estimated by the New York Commercial at four million, eight hundred and ninety thousand acres. That of Mississippi is set down at a little less than three and a half million, South Carolina at two million, seven hundred and thirty-four thousand, Alabama, nearly four million, Louisiana, about a million, three hundred and fifty-five thousand; Texas, at eleven million, nine hundred and sixty-two thousand.

Cotton will continue to be a great source of Georgia's wealth, but it is encouraging to know that other fields of agricultural interest, which were once sorely neglected, are coming into their own and that our farmers are utilizing the wondrously varied opportunities that lie about them. If we produce more corn, more wheat, more livestock, more vegetables and other foodstuffs, instead of importing them at high prices from distant markets, we shall be well compensated for the reduction in the cotton acreage; we shall be a richer and a more independent people.

Of course we'll have grand opera next year.

A New Balkan Danger.

In their efforts to bring Montenegro to terms on the question of Scutari, the European Powers are tacitly supported by the Balkan allies; and naturally so. For, Bulgaria, Servia and Greece realize that should anything happen to set the great nations at war among themselves, the issues for which they, the Allies, have been fighting would probably be reopened and the territory they have won would be subject to a new plan of distribution.

The Allies have been forunate beyond their dreams. They have conquered great areas of fertile land and they now have every assurance of being permitted to retain their prizes. Montenegro presents the one obstacle to speedy peace and a satisfactory partitioning of Turkey's domain among Bulgaria, Servia and Greece.

But if a foreign expedition should be required to bring Montenegro to terms, a general European conflict might ensue and in that event whether Austria or Russia gained the upper hand, the interests of the Balkan countries would be endangered by the ambitions of the greater nations.

It has been suggested that Bulgaria and Servia may offer to compensate Montenegro, if the latter will give up Scutari. For the sake of their own peace and profit, the Allies, it would seem, could well afford to do so.

Grand opera is now but a phonographic record.

THE MODERN WOMAN

XXXV.—Votes for Women.
BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Never in the history of the suffrage movement has the sentiment in favor of votes for women been so strong and so far-reaching. Despite the recent defeat of the effort in three state legislatures and in one state at the polls, the leaders never were so hopeful. To the general public the defeat in Michigan seemed a hard blow to "the cause." To the leaders of the suffrage movement it was only a stimulus to encourage them to greater effort, as the enthusiasm over the enormous parade in New York this week bears testimony.

* * *

Many leaders frankly admit that the recent militant demonstration in England was the prime reason for the defeat in Michigan. Others ignore that theory and accredit the defeat partially to the floods which prevented many rural voters from reaching the polls. The short voting hours in many towns, it is said, prevented a large number of men from voting. The majority of the leaders agree that the combined forces of the liquor interests had a most potent influence in addition to these other causes. At the election last fall the liquor interests scattered their forces over the different states in which the suffrage amendment seemed likely to be adopted. Little attention was paid to Michigan then, because even the leaders themselves had not regarded the situation as promising. This spring, however, Michigan was the one state upon which the liquor interests had been concentrating their efforts for six months and the power of their influence, in the minds of the suffrage leaders who have been carrying on the campaign in that state, is largely responsible for the result of the vote in the legislature. Of course, all such views are scouted as ridiculous by the opposition.

* * *

The loss of the state of Michigan is not regarded by the suffragists as more than a temporary defeat. It is more than balanced in their minds by the in*creased interest in the submission* of the federal constitutional amendment. On the very day Michigan voted adversely regarding granting the vote to women, the congressional committee of the National American Woman Suffrage association marched to the capitol in Washington at the head of a long procession, to present its petition to the new congress to submit to the states an amendment to the constitution of the United States so as to give political rights to the women of the nation. This petition has been made to numerous other congresses, but with far less apparent results. The committee this year was received at the capitol steps by a committee representing both the senate and the house of representatives. It was extended every courtesy, and has the assurance now that a respectable percentage of the members of both bodies are actively interested instead of being passively unopposed, which was the most hopeful attitude encountered even five years ago.

* * *

Further, than this, the woman suffrage committee, which has always been regarded as inactive, is to be a most active one in the present senate for the first time in the history of the country. The Democratic leaders notified the Republicans that they intended to take over the committee on woman suffrage which had hitherto been known as a "minority committee," and enlarge it from five to nine members. The senate committee on woman suffrage now includes Senator Thomas, of Colorado, chairman; Senators Owen, Oklahoma; Ashurst, Arizona; Ransdell, Louisiana; Hollis, New Hampshire; Clapp, Minnesota; Sutherland, Utah; Jones, Washington, and Catron, New Mexico.

* * *

While all the leaders of the great suffrage movement in America work harmoniously together for the good of the cause, a great difference of opinion exists among them as individuals regarding the methods adopted by the English militants. Some of the least militant Americans seem most generous towards the English women. "The suffrage question is no longer a minor issue in England," said Miss Alice Lord. "It is a war for personal and individual liberty. England is rapidly approaching a condition of civil warfare and the destructive violence of the women must be taken as their declaration of an issue that may terminate in actual war. The destruction of property and risk of human life is deplorable and the non-combatants may be the greatest sufferers at times. That happens always in war. Two cabinet members advised Mrs. Pankhurst that the only way the women could hope to win was by making it a positive issue. This advice has led thousands of refined English women to imprisonment, degradation and personal suffering which they are enduring gladly, knowing that the greater the severity meted out to them, the sooner will come the recognition of the equality of the women of the world."

* * *

English history shows that, reprehensible as may seem the course of the militant suffragettes, it is only a continuation of the methods adopted by other political reformers in that country. The great charter itself was only secured from King John by demonstrations which included the demolition of property as well as the loss of human life. Today John Burns is an honored member of the British cabinet. Yet a little more than twenty-five years ago he led a mob of English workmen through different parts of London. They smashed shop windows, looted shops, burned Nottingham castle, tore the gates off Hyde Park and committed just such breaches of public peace as the suffragettes are now charged with. John Burns served a six months' sentence in jail. A number of his followers were similarly punished.

* * *

The English law never regarded John Burns, or any of the others who committed offenses of that kind in protest against existing conditions, as criminals and their imprisonment involved neither stigma nor hardship. They were regarded as political offenders and were given separate rooms in the jail with the privilege of providing their own food and any other desired comfort. The women have been treated differently from the beginning, and it is the refusal of the British government to recognize the feminine right of appeal against injustice which is largely responsible for the increase in militancy.

JUST SMILES

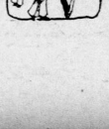
Though he is himself, in private life, a clergyman, George Birmingham, the Irish novelist, loves a good story on the clergy, and one of the most amusing sections in his book, "The Lighter Side of Irish Life,' deals with the foibles and misadventures of Irish pastors. One of his tales may be quoted:

"A north of Ireland gentleman heard from the lips of a clergyman of the death of an inveterate enemy of his who had harassed him for many years.

"'Well,' he said, 'it's a comfort to think that the devil's got that fellow at last.'

* * *

"'Did you notice that woman who just passed?' inquired he.



"The one,' responded she, 'with the gray hat, the white feather, the red velvet roses, the mauve jacket, the black skirt, the mink furs and the lavender spats?'

"Yes.'

"Not particularly.'"

THE NEWSPAPER SUPPLANTS THE BOOK

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.
(Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

The book is passing. The magazine and newspaper are taking its place.

Men read books to divert their minds, to forget the present. It is the constant effort of the human race to escape the actual; for this reason they get drunk, they engage in sports, they read books. Sometimes they read books in order that they may have something to talk about, to secure ammunition for conversation. Sometimes it is to acquire information. Little by little the periodicals are meeting these wants more satisfactorily than books.

The book is heavy to hold, inconvenient for the pocket. The newspaper can be carried easily.

The book is expensive; the newspaper is cheap. One feels like a criminal if he tears a page from a book; there is no such feeling in clipping from a newspaper.

The book is long; three or four hundred pages. It is full of irrelevant matter. A grain of story is lost in a bushel of description. We wade through innumerable pages to be in at the death when Old Sleuth nabs the criminal; to witness the loves of Lady Vivian and Lord Guy finally adjusted; to see some aristocratic pervert walk through infinite analysis to find his soul, and finally eat poison. We get the same thing every day in the newspaper in capsule form; juicy scandals, the escapades of auto bandits, the murder of police, the downfall of reputations.

The people in books are fictitious; in newspapers they are real.

Books are filled with boresome padding. The author feels that he must be literary. In newspapers we get our romance stripped clean. Here people write who have something to say.

Every newspaper is an epic poem. There are the affairs of nations, wars, councils, popular uprisings, doings of kings, Chinese mobs, suffragette outrages, Mexican barbarities.

The real Comedie Humaine is a newspaper. In it you have the human race exposed. In its kaleidoscope you see the striking shirt waist girls, the strut and extravagance of the rich, the drunken orgies of fools, the thunders of ascetic moralists, the various worlds of sports, of finance, of the stage, of courts.

By the vast organisms of the news service the world is combed over daily, and every nugget of human interest picked out.

In its feature service the newspaper supplies us with philosophy, the latest triumphs of science, the vast discoveries in medicine, the most recent theories of pedagogy, with sermons, essays, short stories, serial novels.

In the evolution of printing the book was the first product, but it was for the few; it is giving place to the newspaper, which is for the many. A book is fortunate to reach a circulation of 10,000. There are many newspapers with a circulation of over 100,000; some periodicals have issues of over a million.

In all realms of human activity aristocracy is receding before the advance of democracy. The book is the aristocrat; the newspaper is the democrat.

Captain Barnacle's Travelogues

BY JOHN H. WISHAR

Captain Barnacle eyed the soaring aeroplane in a meditative manner. "You know," he finally remarked, "these birdmen are only doing what I did many years ago, but I did it to save my life while they do it for either amusement or profit. In my case it was far out at sea, and I had to use my wits, so I can safely say I was the first aviator who ever navigated a heavier-than-air machine. Incidentally, I piloted this strange craft from near the island of St. Helena to the Azores, and not only escaped from a wreck, but made money on the adventure.

"I had shipped as master of the pretty little bark Elsie. She was a dandy little ship, and I was proud of her. We were carrying coke from Liverpool to Cape Town, and I had planned to make a record passage. I would have done so if we hadn't struck a half submerged derelict which battered in my little vessel's bows, and she started to sink. I ordered the crew to take to the boats. Then I found there wasn't room for me. So, like a good ship captain, I stayed by my sinking vessel and waved farewell to the men as they pulled away. But when they were really gone I decided that I didn't care to die. By this time it was night. I had lighted a lantern on deck, and this attracted about a thousand flying fish. They came in clouds and piled all over the deck. They flopped around helpless. But watching them gave me an idea. I hustled below and dug up some light canvas. This I tacked over a light framework which I hastily constructed, shaped something like the modern monoplane. I rigged a seat and rudder and basket for provisions. Then I took 782 of these flying fish and attached them to the aeroplane by very light but strong twine. Then I provided myself with a long hose and several casks of water. As soon as this was all arranged I took my seat and sprinkled the wings of the flying fish. You know flying fish can fly as long as their wings are wet. As soon as they are dry the little fish have to drop back into the ocean. Knowing this, it was easy for me.

"Well, sir, as soon as I had sprinkled these fish they all started to fly, and they picked my aeroplane up off the deck of the ship, and it was all I could do to steer my aerial craft, she went so fast. I glanced back and saw the old Elsie going down. I headed for the Azores, and at evening on the following day I sighted the islands. All I had to do was keep the host turned on my flying fish, and they carried me through the air at wonderful speed. When I reached Funchal, the capital, there was a British lord's yacht there, and I sold him the flying fish for $182 and a passage home. So I came out pretty well. That was the way I became an aviator."

HOW TO BE STRONG

(By Montgomery Irving, Ph. D.)

Some years ago I lived for a time among, and fought against, the wild Soudanese in that far off land of burning sun and dried baked sand, and since that time I have never ceased to marvel at the busy, active lives led by these strange warriors.

Whenever it was possible to see either in daylight or semi-darkness, these restless people could always be observed "on the move." The Soudanese that I came in contact with believed in the old medicine man theory, but in spite of their ignorance I never saw or heard of a single one of them being sick or even indisposed unless wounded in battle. They possessed nerve the like of which the greatest hero of modern times would be very proud of. They were as fleet of foot as a stag; moulded on the lines of a Greek god and brave to a fault. These men wore little or no clothing. Their skins were like the finest of satin without a blemish. They rarely, if ever, "caught cold" because they were nature's own children, while we or most of us are nature's own cranks or "stuffed up coddles." If all men moved about and exercised as the Soudanese and other wild tribes do, there would be more health enjoyed and less clothing worn.

Some men will insist upon wearing a straw hat on a certain date, no matter if the ground is a foot thick of snow, and likewise they would discard summer headgear on a certain date though it were possible to fry a steak by the heat of the sun on the sidewalk. And the same silly custom prevails in respect to overcoats. When once this heavy garment is put on nothing could persuade the average man to go out a single day without wearing it, no matter if the heat of the sun parboiled or roasted him.

One bright, sunny day a well-known business man presented himself for physical instruction so thoroughly overheated that he was ready to drop, and because overcoats were not yet called in, and to prevent himself from "catching cold." I observed when he was removing his clothing that he wore the following garments: One sleeveless undershirt, one long sleeved woolen undershirt, one Oxford shirt, cloth vest, a buttoned woolen sweater with long sleeves, an English morning coat, a heavy fur-lined overcoat, and a silken arrangement about the neck, to say nothing of the heavy garments that covered his lower extremities. Were a man sentenced to wear this awful amount of health-killing clothing for some offense it would be considered nothing less than slow murder.

To the casual observer women dress far more reasonably than men, irrespective of the frightful things we see in the shop windows called "corsets." Though the peek-a-boo waists were not made for health, nevertheless, if the skin is allowed a certain amount of air and light it is more likely to thrive and remain healthy than if always covered, therefore in summer and in winter, too, for that matter, the peek-a-boo has more value than at most people ever think. In winter we wear certain articles of clothing to prevent production, radiation, and evaporation of heat from the skin, and in hot weather to promote it. If those who now bundle themselves up in heavy clothing would take regular forms of exercise, eat plain nourishing food, and sample all kinds of weather, they would find that they could wear considerably less clothing, feel all the better for it, and less liable to take cold.

The writer has only owned five overcoats in his life, and he has had but little use for these. Cuddling up always kills if practiced long enough. Man is a fresh air animal. He can live weeks without food, days without water, but little more than two minutes without pure air. Therefore, if he insists upon passing most of his time indoors, with the steam heat going at full blast, all the windows closed, the gas eating up the oxygen, and his body covered with the same clothing that he wears out of doors, it is only reasonable to suppose that he will soon be a fit subject for nearly every disease on the calendar, and must sooner or later pay for his folly, perhaps with his life.

The Summer School of the South

Students and teachers will be interested in the announcement that the Summer School of the South, now definitely adopted as a part of the organization of the University of Tennessee, will hold its twelfth session from June 24 to August 1, 1913. This school has throughout its history, enlisted the hearty admiration and good will of all friends to the south's educational progress. During the past eleven sessions well over 20,000 persons have been enrolled as students and a great majority of these are among its most ardent admirers today. From the outset, the Summer School of the South has made it a matter of policy to strive for the advancement of educational interests in general and to secure the services of the most able and eminent men obtainable in their several departments from the best universities of the land. In addition to this it provides for popular entertainments, lectures, theatrical performances, and a famous series of concerts constituting what is known as Music week, in every instance seeking to secure the best possible talent from both the United States and foreign countries. In this way a very happy program combination has been worked out, providing for six weeks of serious classroom work on the one hand, and for daily diversions of a high grade chautauqua quality on the other.

Knoxville, the seat of the University of Tennessee is one of the most beautiful towns in the entire south. It is situated in the mountains of east Tennessee, on the Tennessee river, and has a population of some 75,000. The campus on which the summer school is held contains forty acres, and is provided with ample equipment in the way of classrooms, laboratories, dormitories, etc., for the care of the great throngs that annually register as students. Last year the faculty numbered nearly 200, and this number will be exceeded this year. The total enrollment last year was 2,405.

The courses of study offered by the summer school are exceptionally varied and inviting.

SOCIOLOGY CONGRESS WILL NOT STAND FOR RELIGIOUS BIGOTRY

President Pro Tem. McKelway, Reminding University President Poteat of It, Is Applauded by General Audience

GOV. MANN, OF VIRGINIA IS ELECTED PRESIDENT

Concluding Sessions Tuesday Hold Important Details—Big Work Is Organized Now. Plans for Next Year

The Southern Sociological congress unwittingly had a tinge of politics injected into its proceedings Tuesday morning when Dr. Paxton Hibben, director of the bureau of education of the progressive national service, and one of Theodore Roosevelt's stanchest supporters, declared.

"The problem of the practical regeneration of the times and spirit of our democracy imposes itself upon the Progressive party as an essential condition to its continued existence."

Officers of the congress and Dr. Hibben himself maintained that his address on "Politics and Social Service" was strictly along non-partisan lines, and that he sketched the birth of the Progressive party merely as a "historical illustration of the growth of social service in politics."

"In order to bring fulfillment to the legitimate hope of the people for life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," Dr. Hibben said, "we must have in our laws and in our politics that high ideal of citizenship which make for the protection and the development of each individual.

Dr. A. J. Barton, of Waco, Tex., brought a round of applause from the congress in his address on "The White Man's Task in the Uplift of the Negro," when he declared it "disgraceful that any southern governor should defend lynching."

"The white man's task," Dr. Barton went on, "is not so much to provide specific solutions for the negro, but to handle the problem as a human one and the whites and blacks will each be benefited."

Dr. Orin C. Baker, of New York City, made a plea to the congress for the protection of young girls who must travel alone. "There are many wolves in human flesh seeking to devour the innocent and pure," he said. "As protection to these girls the Travelers' Aid work was organized. Many young girls leave their country homes to come to the city to visit friends and relatives or to seek employment. Not knowing the deceitfulness of some men they are easily led astray. The Travelers' Aid workers, however, offsets this danger by meeting the girl traveler and directing her to her destination."

Dr. Henry Cope, of Chicago, addressed the conference on the relation of education to social welfare. "We will never have better schools than we pay for," he said. "We need to wake up to the fact that the schools are the greatest investment made by the people of today for the people of tomorrow. We should drop some of the 'frills' in our school curriculums and teach the fundamental, namely, the difference between right and wrong."

Dr. Henry Stiles Bradley, of Worcester, Mass., formerly of Atlanta, addressed the congress on "The Drag on Modern Civilization," and Dr. J. J. Hall, Atlanta representative of the American Peace society, spoke on the peace movement, declaring, "Give us the cost of one battleship and we will stamp out the white slave traffic."

The committee to decide the next meeting place of the congress met Tuesday morning and decided to postpone the definite selection of the next congress until after the present one has adjourned.

The Monday night session of thee Southern Sociological congress came to an abrupt close when Dr. A. J. McKelway, acting president, stopped the address of Dr. E. M. Poteat, president of Furman university, Greenville, S. C., when the speaker paid uncomplimentary respects to non-protestant religions and cried, "I don.s see where a red cap on a man's head adds any sense to his brain."

The acting chairman explained his interruption with the statement that interdenominational discussions were barred from the congress.

Dr. Poteat, the last speaker of the evening, took as his subject "National Stewardship." He said that the Jews had failed in their stewardship, and then touched on the Catholics by saying, "We must rise up and say that no church with its head abroad shall gain domination in this country."

Dr. McKelway's interruption was applauded. Dr. Poteat thanked him and concluded. The interruption was taken as being in good order when it was pointed out that the congress is not established along denominational lines and that Catholics, Jews and Protestants alike are taking part in its proceedings.

GOV. MANN NEW PRESIDENT.

Governor William H. Mann, of Virginia, was unanimously elected president of the congress to succeed Governor B. W. Hooper, of Tennessee. Dr. J. E. White, of Atlanta, was made first vice president; Mrs. J. A. Baker, of Houston, Tex., second vice president; Dr. J. E. McCulloch, of Nashville, was re-elected general secretary, and D. E. Holderness, of Nashville, again was chosen treasurer.

Alexander Johnson, secretary of the national conference of charities and correction, delivered an address at the night session on "The Blight of Feeble-Mindedness and the Conservation of Mental Health."

Warden W. H. Whittaker, of the District of Columbia prison farm, following him, said, "I think that if every criminal judge was required to spend at least one day in jail he would be a better judge. There should be no stripes, no lockstep, no handcuffs, no shackles!" he said. "The men should be used only on constructive and edifying work."

The congress adopted a resolution by Prof. C. S. Potts, of the University of Texas, favoring the establishment of a girl's reformatory in Georgia.

GEORGIA NEEDS REFORM.

"We greatly need reform here in Georgia," said Philip Weltner, secretary of the Georgia Prison association. "There is a spirit of constant unrest because of the different brands of punishment for convicts in each county, and we frequently have requests from counties to be transferred from one camp to another."

A. J. G. Wells, superintendent of the Kentucky state reformatory, spoke at length on the reform work in his state.

Prof. C. C. Rillington, superintendent of the Tennessee Industrial school, told of the work there, and Prof. Maurice Parmelee, of the University of Missouri, spoke on "Needed Reforms in Criminal Procedure."

The usual departmental conferences were held Monday afternoon. At the conference on race problems, Prof. W. O. Scroggs, of the University of Louisiana, said "The man that sanctions a mob is an anarchist—a man who joins a mob is a murderer." W. D. Weatherford, of Nashville, Tenn., pleaded for better support of the negro schools, and C. V. Romans, a negro physician from Nashville, spoke on the relations between the two races.

At the conference on organized charities, James P. Kraus, of Memphis, read a paper on "Work with Directors and Contributors in Organized Charity."

The value of team work was discussed by R. T. Soleraton, of Jacksonville, Fla.

BUSY AFTERNOON SESSIONS.

The afternoon conference on the church and social service heard an address by Dr. C. B. Wilmer, on "Denominationalism as an Aid and as a Hindrance to the Kingdom of God," and an address by Dr. Henry A. Atkinson, of Chicago, on "Co-operative Efforts of the Church and Organized Labor, in Behalf of Social Health and Justice."

The afternoon session of the travelers' aid conference heard papers by Orin C. Baker, of New York, and Dr. Anna Brown, national representative of the Y. W. C. A.

J. D. Strain, field secretary of the Tennessee Anti-Tuberculosis association, spoke at the conference on public health of the importance of laws compelling the registration of tubercular invalids as the only way to check the ravages of the white plague.

Mrs. W. L. Murdock, of Birmingham, then read a paper on "The Boys' Club as a Preventive of Juvenile Delinquency," urging more innocent amusements for the young. Father Peter A. Crumbly, of St. Mary's church, Memphis, pleaded for the salvation of the boys, saying, "If we save our boys, we save the nation."

The special conferences were scheduled to give way Tuesday morning to a general session at the Wesley Memorial church.

The usual departmental conferences will be held during the afternoon.

THE CLOSING PROGRAM.

The closing session will be held at a general session at Wesley Memorial at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night. Following will be the closing program:

DECATUR BOARD OF TRADE MEETS TUESDAY NIGHT

The Decatur board of trade has called a meeting of the citizens of Decatur to be held in the court house Tuesday night to discuss the beautification of Decatur, sanitation, a home coming day to be held the latter part of May and a smoker to be had on the night of the home coming day.

The business meeting will be followed by a short minstrel performance, consisting of music, dancing and blackface comedy by members of the Decatur Dramatic club. This is an innovation and may be made a permanent part of future meetings of the Decatur board of trade. Ladies are especially invited to be present Tuesday night.

The membership committee will also report progress.

GREEK STAYS IN COURSE OF SCHOOLS THIS YEAR

After a discussion as to wether the course in Greek in the Boys' High school should be taken from the list of optional studies and made compulsory, the board of education Monday afternoon decided to make no changes in the course of study this year.

The board took up the question of penmanship on the suggestion of Superintendent Slaton that a director of penmanship be employed at an annual salary of $1,500, but on the motion of Dan Green this suggestion also was tabled.

Plans were made for the taking of the school census, and various reports of minor importance were read.

RABIES CAN BE HELD DOWN BY CARE, SAYS HE

Pasteur Director Advocates Muzzling—Rabies Cost $37,475 in Georgia Last Year

At a meeting of the public safety committee of the chamber of commerce to be held within the next few days, William J. Lowenstein, chairman, will read a report from Dr. Clarence B. Greer, director of the Georgia Pasteur institute in an effort to show that the prevalence of rabies can be decreased greatly and possibly eliminated by the proper care and temporary muzzling of dogs.

The report will show that rabies cost the people of Georgia $37,475 in 1912, and that during that year 673 cases were treated. During the present year, 301 cases have been treated, the report will say.

How Resinol Cured Atlanta Woman's Pimples

Atlanta, Ga., April 4, 1913.—"What I received the samples of Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment my face was covered with pimples which defied other creams, soaps and cosmetics. They were a source of constant humiliation to me, coming in contact with many strangers as I do as a business woman.

"By the time I had finished a cake of Resinol Soap and half a jar of Resinol Ointment, my skin was soft as velvet, and as smooth. My friends were stunned, and everyone asked me what I had done. When I told them, I think they hardly believed it, for the transformation was simply wonderful.

"Since then, I have been using Resinol Soap and shall never be without it again, for I have learned the delights of a clear, soft, beautiful complexion that may be attained by its constant use." (Signed) Miss E. P. Gaddis, 284 S. Pryor street.

For 18 years Resinol has been a doctor's prescription and household remedy for skin troubles, wounds, burns, sores, piles, etc. Resinol Ointment (50c and $1) and Resinol Soap (25c) sold by all druggists. For sample of each, with booklets, write to Dept. 10-L, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.—Advt.)

A Renewal of the Oxford

A Plea for Ties and Buttons for Women

For walking tis agreed that the ankle support is the comfort feature of a shoe. Tis the Oxford that furnishes it.

For several seasons this splendid style shoe has been almost supplanted by the dressier pump. No less popular is the pump, tho the worthy Oxford is very positively claiming its own.

The flat English tie, typifying the trend of the times, leads us back to the Sensible Shoe. Following closely is the walking tie of heavy sole and staunch build, and the 3-button Oxford of real beauty and even dressy effect when developed in combinations of patent and dull leather.

Oxfords are the shoes that make walking popular. All leathers---

COTTON MADE NEW LOW RECORD FOR THE SEASON

May Closed 9 Points Up, Other Months 1 to 12 Points Off From Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 29.—Cotton opened steady at an advance of 2 to 4 points on steady Liverpool cables and a firm market in the south. Offers of cotton stopped on May notices yesterday would be shipped not to Liverpool. Weather reports were considered favorable, but there was nervousness over the European political outlook and after a moderate flurry of short covering the market turned easier under renewed old crop liquidation and more or less general selling. Prices made new low ground for the movement on new crop positions before the end of the first hour with the general list about net unchanged to 5 points lower.

The market was less active during the early afternoon. Offerings of old crop positions continued fairly heavy and comparable with 12 to seventeen points net higher, while the new crop remained three or four points net yesterday's closing figures after displaying considerable firmness.

NEW ORLEAN COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 29.—Cotton futures opened steady at an advance of 2 to 4 points on which was a response to the ebook of the Liverpool cables to meet the decline on the side yesterday. Weather conditions over the cotton region were very favorable and led to a great deal of short selling, which the market had not experienced for some time. The forecast of continued fair and warmer weather immediately after the call prices were 5 to 4 points lower than yesterday's close at the end of the first half hour of business they were 4 to 7 points under.

Toward the middle of the morning the market steadied somewhat by reason of realizing by shorts and the new active months were put 4 to 7 points over the final prices of yesterday. With the better part of the morning the decline on the side yesterday. Weather conditions over the cotton region were very favorable and led to a great deal of short selling, which the market had not experienced for some time. EDUCATORS OF GEORGIA HERE FOR CONVENTION

Practically Every County in State Will Be Represented at Opening Tuesday Night

The annual convention of Georgia county school officials will open Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in Taft hall of the auditorium, and educators from practically every county in the state are in Atlanta to attend the sessions.

The convention is made up of the school superintendent and a member of the board of school trustees of each county in the state, and of corresponding officials of the city school system in the state.

The office of M. L. Brittain, state school superintendent, was the meeting place of a large number of officials Tuesday morning, and Mr. Brittain states that the attendance will be the largest and most representative that has ever been present at one of the conventions.

There will be a session Tuesday evening, marked by welcome addresses by Governor-elect Slaton, Mayor Woodward and E. C. Merry, Fulton county school superintendent, and Hoke Smith will speak Wednesday morning. Wednesday afternoon, Wednesday evening, Thursday morning and Thursday afternoon.

Among the numerous features of the convention worthy of mention will be the program Wednesday evening, when Mrs. W. A. Huff, president of the Georgia Federation of Women's clubs, delivers an address, and other women prominent in club work will speak. Members of the women's clubs of Atlanta are especially invited to attend this session.

Another notable program will be that of Wednesday afternoon, when Hon. P. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education of Washington, D. C., delivers an address, and Judge Frank Park, of the Albany circuit, speaks on Adult Illiteracy.

Immediately after the convention of school officials, the annual convention of the Georgia Educational association, which is composed of the school teachers of the state, will convene, the opening session being Thursday evening. It will run until Saturday.

NEGRO AND GUN AROUSES CHATTANOOGANS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 29.—The local officers, city and county, are thoroughly aroused over the serious criminal outbreak in this immediate community upon the part of a certain element of the negro population. The latest outrage occurred last Saturday night when Finis T. Rogers, proprietor of the Ivy Drug company was shot down along with a soda boy by two unknown negroes, who then proceeded to rob the drug store.

Three weeks ago S. Siskin, a grocer, residing in the outskirts of the city, was shot down in a similar manner by two negroes who escaped unscathed. Not over two months ago Mounted Patrolman Clarence Livingstone was murdered by two negro desperadoes. The continual recurrence of these similar crimes has given the authorities serious thought. At present a reward of $500 is outstanding for Siskin's murderers. Governor Hooper has contributed $300 to the fund. In an effort to preclude the possibility of other outrages the police department has inaugurated a stringent campaign against negro loiterers and vagrants are being picked up in great numbers and placed to work upon the streets.

MILITANT METHODS BY NEW YORK WOMEN?

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, April 29.—What I mean just what I say when I declare that if New York fails to yield, we shall introduce militant methods of the type used in England," declared Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont who will speak at a meeting of the Womans Social and Political union here tonight.

"I also meant what I said before leaving New York that I would spend no money in England," continued Mrs. Belmont. "But I was compelled to stay at the hotel because of the heavy cleaning underway in my daughter's (Duchess of Marlborough's) home."

Evidently anticipating one of Mrs. Belmont and Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt in regard to the suffragette campaign have been interviewed. They will ride in the same carriage tonight.

CASHIER TAKES FUNDS OUT TO LUNCH; REMAINS

(By Associated Press.)

STANLEY, Wis., April 29.—After it was discovered that J. Frank Best, cashier of the Citizens' bank at Nelong was missing, the bank's president, Dr. H. J. Nelson, said today:

"So far as we have been able to ascertain, Best did not falsify the books of the bank. Saturday morning, it seems, he simply put $4,000 of the bank's cash in his pocket and walked out, saying he was going to lunch.

HOLDS UP BANK; AND GETS ONLY $60

(By Associated Press.)

PEABODY, Mass., April 29.—A man, armed with a revolver, entered the Peabody Co-operative bank in the center of the business district this morning and, shortly before noon, the treasurer, and escaped after obtaining the contents of the cash drawer, about $60.

Teagarc and his assistant, a woman, were the only persons in the bank's front office.

MAY BAR BANKING MEN FROM COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, April 29.—A resolution to bar members of the house interested in banks from serving on the banking and currency committee during the preparation of currency reform legislation, was introduced today by Representative Lindbergh, of Minnesota.

When Carpenter Swore

(Popular Magazine.)

Fred W. Carpenter, who is now in the diplomatic service, and who at one time secretary to President Taft, is one of the mildest mannered men in the world. Wade Ellis, of Texas, tells of the only time he ever heard Carpenter break forth into violent talk.

In Mr. Taft's first campaign for the presidency it had been arranged that he and Senator Foraker, with whom he had been at variance on several questions, should have a friendly meeting. Immediately after the arrangement severe charges were published in a news paper against Foraker. I took the paper to Carpenter, and showed him the article.

He was all broken up, and I never saw a man so worried and indignant. After he had read the article, he said tensely:

"Oh, damn!"

That was the only time I ever heard that fellow swear.

JURY IS PRAISED FOR IGNORING UNWRITTEN LAW

"A Brave Jury," Said Judge Roan, Sentencing Darden to Three Years

"A brave jury" was the court's characterization of the twelve men who found Elmer Price Darden guilty of manslaughter, when Judge Roan in Darden court this morning sentenced him to three years on Tuesday in the criminal court. Darden took the pronouncement philosophically and thanked the judge for his remarks.

"It was a brave as well as an intelligent jury which found you guilty of manslaughter," said Judge Roan to Darden when he stood up for sentence. "Not every jury ignores the unwritten law. And yet there is no such thing as an unwritten law. Only savages or people who cannot write have unwritten laws.

"Still I recognize that you had provocation for what you did, and while the laws should punish, still they should be lenient under certain circumstances."

The jury found Darden guilty Monday night after deliberating two and a half hours. Darden's own statement was the only evidence submitted by his counsel.

A. W. Long, a witness introduced by the state to rebut Darden's statement, said that Goodard, in a dying statement, declared that Mrs. Darden was an honorable, good woman.

ANOTHER AVIATOR ENTERS POMMERY RACE

(By Associated Press.)

VILLACOBLEY, France, April 29.—Marcel Georges Brindejonc des Moulinais, a French aviator, started at 4:20 this morning for a spending in an attempt to win the Pommery cup of $1,-550 for the longest flight in a straight line between sunrise and sunset of the same day. Edmond Andemars (Switzerland) and Pierre Daucourt, (France), started yesterday morning in the same competition.

Cold Worries Farmers

EATONTON, Ga., April 29.—The reappearance of another cold wave after the ground-hog's period for the expiration of winter according to the established statute of limitations is having a very discouraging effect upon Putnam's farmers. That the county's fruit crop is killed is conceded. What ern is up is already turning yellow from the continued cold snaps, garden plants and other vegetation have suffered likewise. Roaring winter fires have been necessary since Sunday morning, and farm work has practically stopped for the present.

The Strangest of All Creatures

(Chicago Tribune.)

According to Mecloskie, a Scotch naturalist of wide renute, the turtle is the strangest of all living things, and the most unfathomable. It can live in the water as well as out of it, and can seemingly go for indefinite lengths of time without air or food or light. It is neither fish nor fowl nor beast, and yet has the characteristics of all three. As for its eating, it seems quite superfluous, for it can remain shut up in a barrel for a number of weeks and emerge at the end of the time apparently none the worse for the lack of food and light and air.

The baby turtle seems also just as indifferent to its surroundings as its parents are. As soon as it comes forth from it egg it scrambles off to sea. It has no one to teach or guide it. In its brain seems implanted the idea that until it grows large and hard it has no defense against hungry fish. And so it seeks shelter in gulf weed and feeds unmolested until its armor gets hard.

By the time that it weighs twenty-five pounds, which covers the first year, it knows that it is far from all danger, for after that no fish, however ravenous, will attempt to seize, much less interfere. The turtle immediately withdraws its head into its neck between two scutes, and all unfeeling devourers struggle in vain to impress it.

Parson and Choir in a Duel

(Philadelphia Evening Telegram.)

"I looked like a duel between the parson and the choir," remarked Lieutenant Governor General Burleson, in relating a little incident that occurred in Texas, "and I must say that the choir seemed to be in favor of the singers.

"It was during the morning service, and the minister, sitting in the pulpit with a dignified expression, listened to the singing of the first anthem. Then he arose and announced in a loud, clear voice:

"'The text will be, 'Now, When the Uproar Had Ceased.'

"For a moment the members of the choir looked as if they had been fed on persimmons instead of morning glories, then they got together and in the softest kind of whispers began to talk it over.

"As a result of the subdued conference a slight change was made in the musical program, and when the sermon had ended and the organ again pealed forth, the choir sang: 'Now, It Is High Time to Awake After Sleep.'"

The Land of Free Women

(From Will Livingston Comfort's "The Road of Living Men," published by the J. B. Lippincott Company.)

Certain women are unlovely in America—apes of the worst men, bold, loud voiced, much given to brutal things, and much do they ape for, but there are awake. Strange in this man's world, but awake; a few are making world news of their freedom, but they are rallying their freedom. It is the women who have been up to now in the dark, as they should know, for theirs is the agony of bringing forth men. This sense of value becoming a national conception is the beginning of awakening. The meaning of all this is that America, through free women, is bringing forth individuals. We count individuals lost in every calamity. We count individuals lost in every crime of the individual. He will make the brotherhood.

Country Stewed Mutton

Put three pounds of breast or shoulder of mutton into a saucepan, having cut it in small pieces, with one pint of water and six small onions. Cook for ten minutes, or until of a good golden color. Add three table spoonfuls of flour, mix well together and moisten with three pints of water or light broth, stirring continually while cooking. Season with a tablespoonful of salt, a teaspoonful of pepper, a tablespoonful of mushroom ketchup, two carrots an dtwo turnips cut into small pieces, a bunch of sweet herbs and a crushed clove of garlic. Boil over a moderate fire for thirty minutes, put in a half pint of cooked peas or white beans, let the whole cook again for fifteen minutes, skim off the fat, remove the parsley and serve.

FLORIDA SOLONS FIGHT DURING HOUSE SESSION

Senator Davis Slaps Representative Harry Floyd's Face for Personal Remarks

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 29.—Representative Harry Floyd, of Franklin county, a member of the house, had his face slapped during the session of the house here today by Senator Davis, of Madison, following an attack on the latter.

Further trouble possibly would have resulted had not Speaker Farris and Representatives McWilliams and Brown interfered. They urged Mr. Floyd to retract his remarks, but this he refused to do, not resenting the slapping administered to Senator Davis.

The near-fight followed a speech in which Mr. Floyd addressed his remarks to one of the labor bills demanding eigh working hours for all municipal, county and state workers. He directed his remarks at Representatives Gornto and Taylor, of Madison, and incidentally mentioned Senator Davis.

He charged that certain members of the house had been influenced by railroad lobbyists. This irritated Mr. Gornto and he replied in bitter terms, stating that were it not for the fact that he regarded Floyd as irresponsible he would have sought personal satisfaction.

Mr. Taylor, who was mentioned in the attack, did not take notice of it but told Senator Davis, his colleague in the upper house, and the latter came into the representatives hall after Floyd had retired to come outside. Walking in front of the speaker, Davis turned and walked down to Mr. Floyd's desk where he slapped the latter's face.

GEN. PETER W. MELDRIM TO REPRESENT GEORGIA

Prominent Savannah Man Named by Governor Brown to Attend Peace Conference

General Peter W. Meldrim, of Savannah, has been appointed by Governor Brown to represent the state of Georgia at a conference to be held in New York City on May 3-5 on the question of a peace jubilee to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the signing of the treaty of Ghent between the United States and England.

The movement looking to such a jubilee was launched by a number of prominent gentlemen in New York, among them Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, and the conference is the outcome.

All the states in theu nion will be represented.

Franklin Fooled His Brother

(Autobiography of Benjamin Franklin.)

My brother, then in 1720 or 1721, begun to print a newspaper. It was the second that appeared in America and was called the New England Courant. The only one before it was the Boston News-Letter. I remember his being distasded by some of his friends from the undertaking as not likely to succeed, one newspaper being, in their opinion, enough for America. At this time (1771) there are less than five and twenty. He went on, however, with the undertaking, and, after having worked in composing the types and printing off the sheets, I was employed to carry the papers through the streets to the customers.

He had some ingenious men among his friends, who amused themselves by writing little pieces that were sometimes printed in it, and made it more in demand, and these gentlemen often came to our house to see my brother's inventions and their accounts of the approbation their papers were received with. I was excited to try my hand among them, but, being still a boy and suspecting that my brother would object to printing anything of mine in his paper if he knew it to be mine, I contrived to disguise my hand, and wrting an anonymous paper, I put it at night under the door of the printing house, where it was found in the morning and communicated to his writing friends when they called in as usual. They read it, commented on it in my hearing, and I had the exquisite pleasure of finding it met with their approbation and that, in their different guesses at the author, none were named but men of some character among us for learning and ingenuity. I suppose now that I was rather lucky in my judges, and that perhaps they were not really so very good ones as I then esteemed them.

The Two-Faced Man

(Leslie's Weekly.)

Nobody likes a two-faced man or woman. Singleness of purpose is a good thing. Truth is the finest gold. Be sincere.

A two-faced man is disliked because you never know where to find him. One face may be pleasant and the other sour. One may invite you with a smile, the other repel you with contempt. If a man's two faces were alike, one would be unnecessary.

A man who is like a church clock in a tower, for that needs four faces to tell the time to the four quarters of the earth. All these faces must tell the same time, or the clock is discredited.

There are more two-faced men in politics than in any other walk of life. The people are just beginning to find it out. They play the public's prejudices, weaknesses and vanities. They appeal to the lowest instincts of the crowd. They whip up the mob and split and then run off with the loot.

They make all sorts of promises and always fail, in their performance. They have the audacity to adopt party platforms and then to forget all about them after they are elected.

What they want is the offices, fat salaries and an opportunity to play their favorites.

A Hymn Named for Roosevelt

(New York Tribune.)

PHILADELPHIA, —Theodore Roosevelt is now in the Methodist Episcopal hymnal. The hymn is called "Theodore," and was written in 1905 by Rev. Benjamin Copeland Lutkin, brother of Dr. C. Lutkin.

This fact was learned a few days ago at the meeting of the Methodist ministers in Wesley Hall. Dr. Price, of New York, in his address to the ministers, told them of his discovery.

Dr. Price said he wrote Mr. Lutkin, asking why the hymn had not called "Theodore," and the reply stated that the hymn named for Theodore Roosevelt on account of the music being so strenuous and the words so patriotic.

Berlin to Have Vaudeville

(New York Times.)

BERLIN.—Al H. Woods and F. J. Goldsoll, of New York, have concluded arrangements for the lease of Berlin's newest playhouse, the Theater Grossestern, of which they will take possession May 1, when they will lopen it as a high-class music hall. They intend to give Berlin vaudeville of the first caste of Vaudeville as it has long been known in the United States and England.

"All is Well That Ends Well"

Along with dyspepsia comes nervousness, sleeplessness and general ill health. Why? Because indigestion does not permit the food to be assimilated and carried to the blood. On the other hand, the blood is charged with poisons which come from this disordered digestion. In turn, the nerves are not fed on good, rich blood and so we see those symptoms of nervous breakdown. It is not head work that does it, but poor stomach work. With poor thin blood the body is not protected against the attack of germs of grip—bronchitis—consumption. Fortify the body now with

Brenau College Celebrates States Day in Beautiful Pageant

Canada, England Germany, Austria and Japan, as well as twenty-three of the United States were beautifully represented in the pageant with which Brenau college, Gainesville, Ga., celebrated States' day on Monday.

"Uncle Sam" delivered the address of welcome to the representatives of the states and nations; and "Woodrow Wilson" expressed his felicitation and congratulations to thes tudents.

The feature of the day was the automobile flower parade in which twenty-four handsome floats took part.

The floats were decorated in the state and national flowers, and the emblems, shields and flags of each made gay adornment for the machines.

Groups of pretty girls, costumed in state colors and wearing state flowers, were seated in the floats, and the effect was extremely lovely.

The parade passed through the principal streets of the city, and returned to the college campus, where they formed a semi-circle about the driveway in front of Yonah hall. The states were then called in the order of their admission to the union, and a representative of each responded with appropriate songs and recitations. The student body, massed on the steps of the conservatory joined in the choruses.

The prize of $20 was awarded to the Florida float as the most beautiful and most representative.

The judges were Mr. William Hosch, Mr. Hayne Palmour and Mr. W. E. Dozier.

The responses from foreign nations were most interesting. England's response was the national anthem, "God Save the King," sung by two students costumed as the king and queen. Austria was represented by girls in different costumes of the country who sang the national air in the native tongue. The national hymn of Germany was sung in German and Japan was represented by the Japanese dance in costume and the national song was sung in Japanese.

The annual states' day pageants is of educational value as well as a pleasure to the girls as it makes them familiar with the languages, national hymns, flags, costumes and partial history of the states and countrels represented; and the knowledge, being obtained as a recreation, remains fixed in their minds.

The states represented and the flowers chosen for each are:

District of Columbia; Pennsylvania, 17787, golden rod; Georgia, 1788, Cherokee rose; South Carolina, 1788, palmetto; Virginia, 1788, morning glory; New York, 1788, rose; North Carolina, 1789, pine; Kentucky, 1792, golden rod; Tennessee, 1796, daisy; Ohio, 1803, red carnation; Louisiana, 1812, sky bloom; Indiana, 1816, corn; Mississippi, 1827, magnolia; Illinois, 1718, violet; Alabama, 1819, cotton blossom; Missouri, 1812, golden rod; Michigan, 1837, apple blossom; Florida, 1845, orange blossom; Texas, 1845, blue bonnet; Kansas, 1861 sun flower; Colorado, 1876, columbine Utah, 1896, sego lily; Oklahoma, 1907, Mistletoe; Canada, Maple leaf; England, rose; Germany, corn flower; Austria, chrysanthemum; Japan.

FOUR NEW YORK COPS ON TRIAL FOR GRAFT

Sweeney, Hussey, Thompson and Murtha Also Charged With Obstructing Justice

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 29.—Four former police inspectors, charged indirectly with conspiracy to obstruct justice, prepared to face District Attorney Whitman today at the opening of the most important police trial here since the Becker case.

The defendants—Dennis Sweeney, James E. Hussey, James F. Thompson and John J. Murtha—were all indicted recently after the district attorney's office had uncovered a system of corruption connected with disorderly hotels.

The men are charged with conspiring to keep out of the state George A. Sipp, a "fixer" and whose confession to paying blackmail money to the police forms the basis of the prosecution.

Two men—Hartigan and Robinson—who were indicted and attached to Sweeney's staff, have lately been sent to Sing Sing for police blackmail. Both went to prison refusing to "squeal."

PROMINENT VISITORS ENTERTAINED AT DRIVING CLUB

A pleasant social event in the routine of the Sociological congress, which is now in session in the city, was the brilliant reception given this afternoon at the Driving club in compliment to Mrs. E. W. Cole and the officers of the congress.

The leading women in the city took part in the arrangements for the afternoon and assisted in receiving and entertaining.

The Driving club was most attractive, decorations of spring flowers, palms and ferns adding to the lovely appearance of the rooms.

Mrs. Cole, the founder of the congress, are Mrs. W. L. Murdoch, of Birmingham, Ala.; Mrs. Agnes Morris, of Baton Rouge, La.; Miss Jane Gordon, of New Orleans; Miss Kate Bernard, of Oklahoma; Miss Julia C. Lathrop of Washington, D. C.; Miss Anna D. Casler of Charlotte N. C.; Mrs. Kate Waller Barnett, of Alexandria, Va.; Mrs. Arch Trawick, of Nashville, and others.

Mrs. Murdoch, who spoke at Monday's session, is in charge of the child welfare work of Birmingham, and has been especially interested in the Boys' club work and juvenile reform.

Miss Jane Gordon, of Louisiana, is one of the south's leading social workers. She secured the passage of a bill in her home state limiting the age at which children may work in the factories.

Miss Kate Barnard, of Oklahoma, is the woman who exposed prison abuses in that state, her work in securing the facts attracting nation-wide attention.

Miss Julia C. Lathrop is the only woman who is in charge of a government bureau. She is director of the Federal Children's bureau, the office being in recognition of her splendid work in Hull house, Chicago, with Miss Jane Addams.

Miss Anna D. Casler, of Charlotte, has won recognition by her work in the mills and villages of the Carolinas and Virginia.

Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett is well-known to Atlantians. She was the wife of the rector of St. Luke's church, and lived here for some time. She has accomplished much good in the Florence Crittenton rescue work.

Mrs. Arch Trawick, of Nashville, is a prominent welfare worker of Tennessee.

Miss Laura Drake Gill, formerly dean of Barnard college, has been chosen president of the new college for women, which is being organized as a branch of the University of the South.

Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, daughter of the president, though not here, is also an enthusiastic member of the congress.

Wedding of Interest To Southerners

The following from a Washington exchange will be of interest in Atlanta, where the bride is well known through visits to her cousin, Mrs. Burton Smith:

"One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place last evening at 8 o'clock, when Miss Caroline Gordon Williams, daughter of the late Lieutenant Colonel Charles W. Williams, U. S. A., and Mrs. Williams, was married to Lieutenant Arthur W. Ford, United States coast artillery.

"The ceremony was performed at the home of Mrs. Williams, in Kenyon street, which was beautifully decorated with apple blossoms, palms, and hydrangeas. The Rev. Roland Cotton Smith, rector of St. John's, officiated, in the presence of only intimate friends and relatives. The wedding was to have taken place in St. John's church, but owing to the death of the bride's sister-in-law the plans were changed. A stringed orchestra played the wedding music and during the reception which followed.

"The bride was given in marriage by General Weaver, chief of the artillery corps. She wore a gown of white charmeuse, trimmed with old lace. Her veil was of tulle, and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. Her sister, Miss Elizabeth O. Williams, was maid of honor. Her gown was of white crepe de chine, and she carried a bouquet of pink roses. Ensign Howard S. Jeans, U. S. N., was best man, and little Miss Mary Dowell was flower girl.

"After the reception Lieutenant and Mrs. Ford left Washington for a wedding trip before going to Fort Dupont, Del., where Lieutenant Ford is stationed. Mrs. Ford traveled in a smart suit of tete de negre, with a gold-colored straw hat.

"A number of relatives and friends from out of town were present at the wedding."

Silver Tea

A silver tea will be given at the convent of the Sisters of Mercy at 8 o'clock. The following musical program will be rendered:

Selections—Marist orchestra.
Vocal solo—Miss Regina Corrigan, accompanied by Miss Clara Belle Boone.
Esthetic Dance—Miss Harriet Ascham.
Reading—Miss Ione Cheves.
Piano Solo—Miss Anna Haynes.
Vocal Solo—Mrs. McKee, accompanied by Mr. Hurley.

MISS DAISY ECKERT WEDS MR. J. O. BAGWELL

The marriage of Miss Daisy Eckert and Mr. J. O. Bagwell took place on Tuesday at 1 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Woods White on Howard street, Dr. C. W. Daniels officiating.

The ceremony was followed by a wedding breakfast given by Mr. and Mrs. White in compliment to the bride and groom at which a large number of friends were entertained.

Invitations Recalled

On account of the serious illness of Mrs. Sarah Dobbs, Mrs. George Veazey has recalled the invitations to the bridge parties at which she was to have entertained on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons in compliment to Miss Katherine Pegram, of Charlotte, N. C., who is the guest of Mrs. Samuel A. Pegram.

Miss Watts Entertains

Miss Louise Watts was hostess at an informal tea Monday afternoon at her home on Spring street, her guests including a number of visitors.

The tea table was very attractively adorned with roses, and the rooms were beautified with spring flowers.

Miss Watts' guests were Miss Roberta Slade and Miss Emily Groover, of Columbus; Misses Nancy and Rena Clarke, of Tarboro, N. C., who are with Miss Nell Waldo; Misses Helen and Emma Taylor, Miss Williford, of Americus, the guest of Miss Lois Williford; Miss Lucile Landis, of Nashville; Mrs. Bedell, of Opellika, who is visiting Mrs. John Gilmore; Mrs. Kenneth Goode, of New York, Mrs. Edward Miller, of Louisiana, and Mrs. William Meehan, of Asheville.

While there was no formal announcement of the engagement, there has been much pleasant comment among friends and a series of entertainments have been given for the bride in the past few weeks, who as Miss Daisy Eckert was widely known and loved for the splendid work which she has accomplished in the past few years as secretary of the Y. W. C. A.

After a wedding trip of several weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Bagwell will be at home in the city.

Use less Butter—
More Cottolene

No wonder butter is so high. Particular women who are loath to use lard or cooking butter in their cakes and fine pastry, use table butter. With butter at the price you have to pay for it, that's downright extravagance. Cottolene is just as good as butter for pastry; for frying, it is better. And Cottolene costs no more than lard. Moreover, Cottolene is richer, and two-thirds of a pound of it will go as far as a pound of butter or lard.

And lard and Cottolene are not to be mentioned in the same breath, for Cottolene is a vegetable product, healthful, always safe—makes digestible, rich, but never greasy food.

PEERLESS NEW MODELS
Again First in Beauty and Safety

THROUGH the development of details these Peerless New Models reach the highest point yet attained in motor car construction.

Absolute confidence in the Peerless is evinced by the large booking of orders even before the first of the new models was ready for demonstration.

The outward beauty of the Peerless New Models is an expression of their inward fitness—of years of research and critical appreciation maturing into the perfect car.

The inside quality of a piece of steel—as well as its size—determines its strength, and your safety. Heat treatment, a vital science developed in the Peerless Plant to a point that exceeds the resources of the universities, is the controlling factor that fixes for good the durability of a gear, the strength of a shaft, the resiliency of a spring, the life of a bearing.

Three Sixes

To meet the power ranges proper to a car of the Peerless type we offer three six cylinder models: "38-Six," "48-Six" and "60-Six."

Long Stroke Motor

The cylinder dimensions of the "38-Six," "48-Six" and "60-Six" are respectively 4x5-½; 4-½ x 6 and 5 x 7 inches. The long stroke Peerless motor is known for its silent, vibrationless operation and its unusual power, flexibility and smooth action at low speeds.

Peerless Bodies

Body lines are unequaled in beauty. No obtrusion of mechanism is evident anywhere. Chair seats in the tonneau fold out of sight. Extra tires are carried in the rear.

Electric Starting and Easy Steering

The Peerless was the first high quality motor car to adopt the electric starter with separate electric motor. Pressure on a pedal starts the engine. The steering column is irreversible. It is almost as easy to drive a Peerless Car over rough roads as over smooth roads.

Heat Treated Steels

Rigid selection and inspection of steels and specific modes of heat treatment insure the highest development of physical qualities required in each vital part. Wearproof gears, with tough cores and glass-hard tooth surfaces are produced with scientific accuracy.

Beautiful Linen Suits at $5.00

Exactly like illustration—these charming little Balkan Blouse Suits, made of fine French linen, in Copenhagen, tan or white, with white ratine collar and cuffs, and a jaunty tie of nell rose silk. They are suits of refined, beautiful style and will be one of the most popular features of the sale.

$5.00

These Pretty Dresses at $5.00

Look at the illustration, then listen while we tell you other features that makes them much more desirable. They are made of French linen, of beautiful quality, in a soft shade of pink, Copenhagen, old rose and white, and prettily embroidered, as is shown, in white. Dresses of this identical value and good style have sold here at $10—these have just come, bought for a special sale, and are priced for tomorrow at $5—they are irresistibly pretty.

$7.50 and $8.50 Dresses at $3.85

One of the most interesting "finds" in opening up this shipment of delightful Apparel, is an assortment of Dresses, above quoted at $3.85—as stated they are regular $7.50 and $8.50 Dresses. One might choose with eyes closed and then not be disappointed, they are all so pretty. Four different materials:

Egyptian tissue, heavy, round cord pique, madras and ginghams. The illustration gives an idea (though not exact) of the style of one—the white pique which has collar and cuffs and buttons of colored French linen; the buttons applied in front to give a cutaway or tunic effect. The others are in popular color tones, striped, checked and plaid effect, beautifully made and trimmed. These Dresses will not long remain, for they are of truly wonderful value at this price.

A Sale of Dainty Blouses at $1.50

We are conservative when we say we have never seen more charming, or better Blouses at this price.

Of entirely new and extremely dainty fashioning. One particularly irresistible style is a soft Crepe with wee Dresden roses, and blue or pink Delphine collar and cuffs under very sheer white collar and cuffs.

Another especially dainty style is fashioned of sheer Voile with delicate pink, blue and lavender silk stripe; colored collar to match stripe. Others are of fine, sheer Voile all-white prettily made. All Blouses of a very high order, and one would expect to find them much higher priced.

$5.00 to $6.50 Embroidery Flouncing at $3.98 Yard

These new and superb Dress Flouncings—45 inches wide—are here for your buying Wednesday, in many instances, at just about half their regular price.

Choose from beautiful sheer Voile, Neige, linen or lingerie cloth—white or dainty colors. Their real beauty cannot be described, and this pricing for Wednesday is most unusual.

News of Consequence From the Children's Section

Women who know real values, who appreciate economy opportunities, will be quick to take advantage of this pricing of girls' needed apparel.

Wash Dresses up to $2.50 at $1.00

Well-made, stylish Dresses of pretty wash materials, ginghams and percales; a variety of styles to select from; sizes 4 to 14 years.

These Dresses are slightly display soiled, but that is a small objection, when you consider the price.

$1.25 White Dresses at $1.00

These dainty White Frocks, for girls 4 to 14 years of age, are all perfectly fresh, new and immaculate and so prettily fashioned and trimmed that every girl who sees them will want one or more. They are trimmed with laces, embroideries, in various ways; low, square neck, short sleeves.

Little Tots Dresses at 49c

These cunning little Frocks have become almost as staple with us as spool Cotton. Shipment after shipment comes, to be entirely exhausted in a few days. Another fresh lot is here—made of pretty ginghams and percales, very desirable in every particular.

The price is the same—49c each.

NEW OF WOMEN AND SOCIETY

To Meet Miss Wynne

Mrs. Hugh Lokey was hostess this afternoon at a delightful tea in honor of her guest Miss Elizabeth Wynne of Richmond Va.

The attractive rooms were bright with flowers, lovely garden blossoms being used with great branches of dogwood and honeysuckle from the spring woods, which filled jardinieres and tall stands everywhere.

In the drawing room fragrant lemon lilies were used with peonies, the tea table beautiful with a plateau of pink peonies whose petals reflected the pink of the silk shades which tipped silver candlesticks and harmonized with the minor details of the pretty table.

Mrs. Lokey received her guests wearing a becoming gown of wistaria-colored charmeuse combined with shadow lace, and Miss Wynne was attractive in a gown of white chepe embroidered.

Assisting Mrs. Lokey were Mrs. Samuel D. Hewlett, Mrs. Frank Boland, Mrs. Philip Alston and Mrs. Kemp Slaughter.

Invited to meet the honor guest were twenty-five members of the unmarried set.

Wednesday evening Mr. Frank Callaway will entertain at a box party at the Forsyth in honor of Miss Wynne and Mrs. Frank Boland will be among others to entertain for the attractive visitor.

Annual Luncheon

The Compli Cator club, of Agnes Scott college, gave its annual luncheon at the Georgian Terrace Monday, several of the alumni being special guests of the occasion.

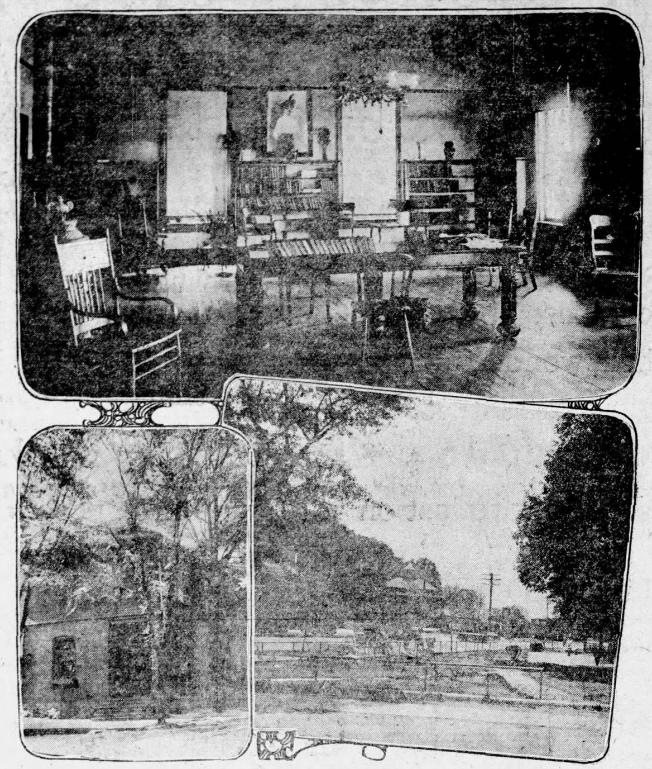
WHERE WELL KNOWN CLUB WOMEN MEET



The above pictures are interesting views of Cartersvill., the home of some of the most prominent and influential club women of the state. Beginning at the top the views show the Memorial library of the Cherokee club, the Cherokee club house and a bit of East park, which is a delightful example of the civic work of the Cartersville club women.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Sammy Jay hadn't had so much fun for a long time as he found in watching the funny little school in Farmer Brown's old orchard, where Johnny Chuck was teaching his three baby Chucks the things that every little Chuck must learn if he would grow up into a big Chuck. When they had learned to mind without waiting to ask why, and when they had learned the signals which told them just what to do when danger was near, Johnny began to lead them further and further away from home.

He took them up along the old stone wall and showed them how to find safe hiding places among the stones. Then he took them off a little way and suddenly gave the danger signal. It was funny, very funny indeed, to see the three little Chucks scamper for the old stone wall and crawl out of sight. The first time two of them tried to squeeze into the same hole together and each was in such a hurry that he wouldn't let the other go first. Then both lost their tempers and they began to fight about it, quite forgetting that if there was really any danger over there such would come to harm. Such a scolding as Johnny Chuck did give those two little Chucks! Then he made them try it all over again.

Once he found a footprint which Reddy Fox had made in some soft earth during the night, and made each little Chuck smell of it, while he told them all about Reddy and old Granny Fox and how smart and sly they were and how very, very fond they were of tender young Chucks for dinner. The three little Chucks shivered when they smelled of Reddy's track and the hair along their backs stood up in a way that was very funny to see.

Then Johnny Chuck took them over to the edge of the old orchard, where they could peep out over the Green Meadows. He pointed out old Whitetail, the Marsh Hawk, sailing back and forth over the meadows, and told them how once when he was a little Chuck and had run away from home old Whitetail had nearly caught him. He told them about Farmer Brown's boy and about Bowser the Hound, and a great many other things that little Chucks should learn about.

Now all the time that Johnny Chuck was teaching these things he was keeping the sharpest kind of a watch for danger, and there were many times when he would give the danger signal. Then they would all lie flat down in the grass and keep perfectly still, or else scamper along the little paths which Johnny had made to the safety of the snug home under the old apple tree. But even the most watchful are surprised sometimes. One morning when Johnny Chuck had led the three little Chucks further from home than his head to visit the old orchard, Johnny Chuck did not see him coming. Usual Farmer Brown's boy took it into his head to go fishing. He was down in the deep hollow where the Laughing Brook tumbles over the stones, and he was whistling as he came along. He was so busy whistling that he didn't look where he was going, and he didn't look up into the old apple tree, either. At first Sammy Jay's sharp eyes twinkled. There would be some fun now! Perhaps Farmer Brown's boy would catch one of the little Chucks. Sammy Jay could picture to himself the fright of Johnny Chuck and the three little Chucks. He fairly hugged himself in delight, for you know Sammy Jay dearly loves to see other people in trouble. Then he thought of all the fun he had had watching those three little Chucks learn their lessons, and suddenly the thought of anything happening to one of them made Sammy Jay feel uncomfortable. Almost without stopping to think, he screamed at the top of his lungs:

"Run, Johnny Chuck, run! Here comes Farmer Brown's boy!"

And Johnny Chuck ran. He didn't wait to ask questions or even to look. He started the three little Chucks ahead of him, and he nipped their heels to make them run faster. And just in time they reached the snug house under the old apple tree in the far corner. Farmer Brown's boy was just in time to see them disappear. He watched Sammy Jay flying over to the Green Forest and screaming "Thief! thief!" as he flew.

"I wonder now if that Jay warned those Chucks purposely," he said, as he scratched his head thoughtfully.

SECOND OPERATION ON DUCHESS OF CONNAUGHT

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, April 29.—Another operation was performed this morning on the Duchess of Connaught, wife of the governor general of Canada. The surgeons in attendance report that it was successful.

An attempt to remove the intestinal trouble from which the duchess has been suffering was made on April 10 at Clarence house by William Arbuthnot Lane, surgeon to Guy's hospital. The operation was severe, but was borne well by the duchess. She made rapid progress toward recovery, but on April 26 suffered a relapse. It was then decided by the surgeons to perform the operation which took place this morning.

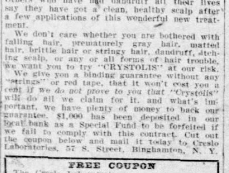
REAL HAIR GROWER
Found at Last!

The Great English Discovery, "Crystolis," Grows Hair in 30 Days.

$1000.00 Reward If We Fail; Read Our Guarantee. Try It At Our Risk—Mail Coupon Today.



Beautiful Hair and Lots of It, if You Use Crystolis.

In Europe "Crystolis," the New English Hair Grower has been called the most wonderful discovery of the century.

The judges of the Brussels and Paris Expositions enthusiastically awarded Gold Medals to this marvelous hair grower.

Already since we secured the American rights hundreds of men and women have written telling of the phenomenal results obtained by its use. People who have been bald for years tell how they now glory in beautiful hair. Others who have had dandruff all their lives say they have got a clean, healthy scalp after a few applications of this wonderful new treatment.

We don't care whether you are bothered with falling hair, prematurely gray hair, matted hair, brittle hair or stringy hair, dandruff, itching scalp, or any or all forms of hair trouble, we want you to try "CRYSTOLIS" at our risk.

We give you a binding guarantee without any "strings" or red tape, that it won't cost you a cent if we do not prove to you that "Crystolis" will do all we claim for it, and what's important, we have plenty of money to back our guarantee. $1,000 has been deposited in our local bank as a Special Fund to be forfeited if we fail to comply with this contract. Cut out the coupon below and mail it today to Crystolis Laboratories, 57 S. Street, Binghamton, N. Y.

The Doctor's Answers On Health and Beauty Questions

BY DR. LEWIS BAKER.

The questions answered below are general in character; the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts. Dayton, Ohio, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Mason" writes: "For years I have been taking medicine to cure constipation, liver trouble and the usual diseases that come from that source. Headaches, sallow skin, kidney trouble, dark spots before my eyes, dizzy spells and twinges of rheumatism are getting worse."

Answer: Take three grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur). They are packed in sealed tubes with directions and are convenient, effective and highly curative for such ailments as arise from chronic constipation. If you are dyspeptic, also take tablets triopeptine.

* * *

"MRS. A. D."—Incontinence of urine can be cured by using the following: Tincture cubebs 1 dram; tincture rhus aromatic 2 drams and comp. fluid balmwort 1 o. Give from 10 to 15 drops in water one hour before meals.

* * *

"OMA W." writes: "I have suffered with catarrh of the head for many years. This has become so bad that it has affected my blood, also my stomach and bowels to a very great extent. I shall appreciate an immediate answer as I suffer greatly."

Answer: I would advise you an purchase a 2 oz. package of Vilane powder; take one-half teaspoonful of the powder and add to this a pint of warm water; sniff the water from the palm of the hand through the nostrils several times a day. Make a catrrh balm by mixing one teaspoonful of powder with one ounce of vaseline, or lard will do, and apply as far up the nostrils as possible. For the stomach, bowels and blood I would recommend the following tonic: Syrup sarsaparilla comp., 4 ozs., comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz., and 1 oz. of fluid ext. buchu. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take one teaspoonful after each meal and at bed time.

"Gloria," writes: "I would like you to prescribe a good hair and scalp treatment. I am bothered with itching scalp and dandruff. My hair is faded and falling and none of the remedies I have tried have done any permanent good."

Answer: Go to your druggist and obtain a 4 oz. jar of plain yellow Mingel. Apply as per directions. This treatment differs from all and I have actually seen the most startling transformations which result from its use. The dandruff and itching are relieved after two or three applications, while it makes the hair glossy, wavy and full of intense natural color.

* * *

"Myrtle" writes: "Owing to my extreme thinness I am frequently embarrassed by slighting remarks of young people. Can you prescribe a safe remedy to increase my weight?"

Answer: I have so many gratifying reports from the users of three grain Hype-Nuline tablets, that I have become to regard these valuable little tablets as a specific and prescribe them to all who are nenemic, thin, wasting, nervous and debilitated. I recommend that you begin their use at once and continue regularly until your system is able to assimilate the fatty elements of your food; then you will grow plump and have plenty of red blood, with color in your complexion and bright sparkling eyes of health.

* * *

"Sick M. G." writes: "I have been affected for some months with rheumatism and have taken much medicine in vain. Please give prescription that will cure."

Answer: The most efficient prescription I have ever given for rheumatism is: Iodide of potassium 2 drams, sodium salicylate, 4 drams; wine of colchicum, one-half ounce; comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz., and syrup sarsaparilla comp., 3 ozs. Mix and take a teaspoonful at meal time and at bedtime.

* * *

"Farmwife" writes: "You once recommended a home-made cough syrup. I tried it and found it the best cough and cold syrup that I ever heard of. It was so prompt in relieving the severest coughs and colds and a pint bottle made at home lasted so long that I have forgotten the ingredients. Kindly publish again."

Answer: The splendid laxative, home-made cough syrup is made by mixing a 2½ oz. bottle of concentrated essence menthollaxene with a home-made sugar syrup. Directions on the bottle tells how to make and use. It is a fine, cheap remedy.

* * *

"Johnson" writes: "I am bothered greatly with indigestion. Things I like to eat nearly always cause a heavy, ill-at-ease feeling in my stomach, and my breath is bad, while I am nervous, irritable and frequently cannot sleep."

Answer: A very excellent treatment which is widely prescribed for its gradual curative action as well as the instant relief it affords, is tablets triopepsin, packed in sealed cartons. Take a pink tablet after breakfast, white tablet after dinner and blue tablet after supper. Continue and the curative agencies will soon restore natural digestion.

* * *

"Mrs. M. C." writes: "I am recovering from a long illness, but am very weak, nervous, sleepless and have little appetite. Can you give me a good tonic restorative treatment?"

Answer: Have the following prescription filled and take a teaspoonful before meals: Syrup of hypophosphites comp. 5 ozs., tincture cadomene comp. 1 oz. (not cardamon). Mix and shake well before using. This is a fine nerve tonic and general system tonic for old and young.

* * *

John R. Mc asks: "Don't you thonk it is wise to take medicine to reduce my weight? I weigh about 25 pounds too much."

Answer: I do think so; and a very convenient and effective flesh reducer is sold in sealed tubes with full directions. Your druggist has it; is called 3 grain arsolene tablets, and any well-stocked drug store can supply them. They are safe and reliable.—(ADVT.)

GRAY HAIR

Easy to Restore Natural Color of Your Hair by Simple Method

Science has just been finding out some of the most amazing things about the hair—discoveries that overturn many old ideas.

For instance, with a newly discovered product the natural color is restored by a simple treatment that can be applied by any one in a short time. This scientific treatment is embodied in the Queen Gray Hair Restorer, a liquid preparation that makes any desired shade from the one package, leaving the hair soft and fluffy, making a lasting color that is not sticky and does not rub off.

The Queen Gray Hair Restorer is instantaneous in its effect and requires but one application to restore the natural color of your hair. It is in two sizes, 50c and $1.00, and can be obtained from Jacobs' Pharmacy and the leading drug and department stores throughout the country.

The best hairdressers use it and sell it to their patrons.—(Advt.)

EXPERIENCE OF TRAINED NURSE

Who Had Troubles of Her Own to Contend With, As Told By Mrs. Rutherford.

CHARLESTOWN, W. Va.—In an interesting letter from this place Mrs. Calvin Rutherford writes as follows: "At one time I suffered terribly from womanly troubles. Some of my symptoms were hot flashes through the face, pains in my sides and back, headache, dizzy spells and pain low down.

Since taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, I am well and enjoying good health, and I want to thank you kindly for your advice. It certainly has proven a blessing to me. Cardui has done what other medicines failed to do.

I am a trained nurse, and have just returned from a case where I recommended Cardui to a lady, and she is now taking it."

In the face of such strong recommendation from users of Cardui—the ones who know best just what this preparation will do for weak, ailing women—no wonder we do not have to make extravagant claims for it.

All we can add to the above statement is that Cardui is prepared from perfectly harmless, vegetable ingredients, which act gently, yet directly, on the womanly organs.

It is a strengthening tonic, and helps to build up womanly strength.

It has helped thousands of women in the last fifty years. Why not you?

Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Atlanta Woman's Missionary association was held on April 17 at the Central Congregational church. After a beautiful voluntary on the organ the devotional services were led by Dr. Hanscom, the minister of the church. He welcomed the members and friends of the association to the church with a few words of greeting. A solo was given by Mrs. D. W. Yarbrough.

The address of the afternoon was made by Dr. Memminger on Christian Social Service, an earnest, practical talk on the work needed at this day.

Following the address were the reports of the chairman of the executive board, Mrs. W. H. Harris, showing that over 6,000 people had received help in varying forms, money, food, clothing, advice, warning, whatever the watchful and sympathetic eye of the matron at the station saw was necessary.

The treasurer's report was given, and a statement as to the work and its needs was made by the resident, Miss Appleyard reported as to the work and conditions at the Martha home.

The election resulted in the choice of the following officers for the ensuing year: For president, Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin; first vice president, Mrs. R. M. Walker; second vice president, Mrs. J. H. Wood; secretary, Mrs. A. H. Marcellus; treasurer, Mrs. W. E. Mansfield; corresponding secretary, Mrs. D. I. Carson; auditor, Mrs. J. S. Thompson.

Kindergarten Day At Woman's Club

An interesting feature of the meeting at the Woman's club Monday afternoon was the appearance of the normal class of Miss Willette Allen's kindergarten preparatory school.

The young women gave an interesting illustration of the work done in the schools, which was not only instructive, but entertained the grownups as delightfully as if they had been children themselves.

Mrs. Nellie Peters Black, whose resignation was accepted on the condition that she be the honorary president of the Free Kindergarten association, has done a work which value can only be appreciated at its worth when the years have shown the splendid result and fullfilment of her effort.

The new president, Mrs. Frederick Hodgson, brings to her new office every quality necessary to its success, and with the foundation of Mrs. Black's fifteen years' work has the assurance of a happy outcome for the Kindergarten association.

A forceful talk by Dr. Hastings Hart on the subject of eugenics closed the afternoon program.

GOLD DUST
makes soft water available everywhere

Every woman knows the luxury of having soft water at her command, especially for washing clothes, but Nature has denied this luxury to many, especially to those living in cities or in "hard water" countries.

However, every woman can have soft water in her home with little trouble and less expense. The sprinkling of Gold Dust washing powder in the water from your taps or well will make it as soft as the rain water that falls from the clouds.

Gold Dust takes out the mineral substances that make the water hard and brings out the greatest cleansing value.

The Gold Dust Twins Make the Whole World Brighter

Tuesday's Game Last Here for Crackers Until May 19

New Shortstop For Crackers; Keating Sold

Infielder Bisland Purchased From Pittsburg and Will Join Team in Birmingham. Keep Kernan or Williams

Shortston Bisland, now with the Pittsburg Pirates and last season with the Springfield Central league club, was Monday night purchased by Atlanta and Manager Clarke, of Pittsburg, notified to have this young infielder join the Cracker club in Birmingham on Wednesday.

With the purchase of Bisland Manager Smith disposed of Infielder Walter Keating to Jim Fox's Columbus club and Infielder Leonard Dobard to the Beaumont club of the Texas league.

The addition of Bisland and Williams and the sale of Dobard and Keating leaves the Cracker club just two over the player limit and these two are likely to be sold at once. It is more than likely that Pitcher Buck Becker will be sold at once and Infielder Williams or Kernan will be the other to leave. Manager Smith is yet unsettled as to whether to let Kernan or Williams go and will take them both to Birmingham and see Bisland in a game before making any final decision.

With Springfield last season Bisland was in 114 games, made 128 hits and 63 runs for an average of .287. He accepted 125 putouts and 232 assists with 2 errors for an average of .925. This average is for third base where Bisland worked last season. However, it is known that he can play shortstop equally as well and will be used in that position with the Crackers.

Vandy Plays Georgia Team

ATHENS, Ga., April 29.—The lid is pried off the Seventh District Agricultural school, of this city, defeated Norman Park here yesterday by the decisive score of 9 to 0. The Seventh District team is very strong this year and has a long list of victories to its credit. The batteries yesterday were: Agricultural school, Branch and Gray; Norman Park, White and Butler.

Rome Club Good

ROME, Ga., April 28.—In the first practice game of the season the Rome team in the Appalachian league defeated the All Stars by a score of 9 to 1. The game abounded in errors. One of the pitchers for the All Stars was "Wild Bill" Graham, formerly of St. Louis, who did not play ball last year and who is now driver of one of the auto fire trucks belonging to the city of Rome.

Graham displayed big league form, and mowed down fifteen of his opponents.

It's pretty hard to keep up with the moves of the holdouts. Before announcement to the stone yard, made to the Toronto correspondent of the Sporting News, was in the mails Timothy had concluded that playing ball at $400 a month was better than wielding the mallet and chisel at $4 a day and came into Joe Kelley's camp.

Wake Forest Hit the Jacket Pitchers When the Hits Meant Runs

With a line-up torn to shreds, the Yellowjackets went up against Wake Forest at the Flats Monday afternoon and went down in defeat by score of 7 to 2. It was the first time in twelve years the two teams had met.

The Tech line-up was shot to pieces. Following alleged poor work and "playing to the grand-stand" in the Alabama series, Coach Heisman took three star players out of the game, with the result that Thirdsacker Scrappy Moore, second baseman E. Montagle, and Shortstop Jack Donaldson witnessed the game from the grand stand.

Their places were taken by Dunwoody on third, Fox Montague on second, and Wooten on short. Malone was subbed in the outfield. It is probable that the regulars will play in the Sewanee series Friday and Saturday.

The Wake Forest team played rings around Tech. The Blacksmiths could register only four singles off Pitcher Smith, while his teammates gave him grand support, making but one error, and playing with the pep all through the battle.

Wake Forest got ten hits, three pitchers being used by the local college boys. Utley's rap for three cushions in the fourth was one of the longest hits ever made at the Flats. Fawcett, Gooch, Lowe and Stringfellow also hit well.

Although new at the position, Wooten played a classy game at short, making but one error, and never hesitating to accept a chance, no matter how difficult.

TENNESSEE TO MAKE TOUR

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 29.—The University of Tennessee baseball team will leave here Thursday morning on its last trip of the present season, when three games will be played, one against the University of Chattanooga, outfit at Chattanooga, Thursday afternoon, and the other two games against Georgia at Athens, Friday and Saturday. Ten players, besides Coach Clevenger and Manager Fullmer, will be taken on the trip.

Much interest here centers in the Georgia-Tennessee contests at Athens. Last week the Red and Black team journeyed this way and proceeded to take the measure of the Volunteers, 4 to 0. The defeat was humiliating to say the least, and the Tennessee squad is going down to Athens with the express intention of evening up matters if possible. Whether this evening up process will be successful remains to be seen. That Georgia has one of the best baseball teams in the south this year is the opinion of Knoxville fans. When that team played in this city it put up a gilt-edge variety of ball, and the Volunteers realize that they have a big job ahead winning even one of the games scheduled at Athens.

Tennessee's two star pitchers will be given an opportunity to perform against Georgia this week. Both Hutcheson and Dawson are showing surprising form these days, especially Hutcheson. This youngster did not get a chance at Georgia while that bunch were the scores in most cases were very close.

Claude Hendrix is another Pirate who depends considerably upon the twist that Elmer Stricklett invented over half a dozen years ago. And Claude led the league in 1912. The agitation against the spitball is dying out, so if there is any youngster who thinks he can stay in fast company through its use, by all means adopt it.

SPIT BALL COMES BACK IN THE NATIONAL LEAGUE

Is the spitball to come into its own again in the National league? It begins to look that way, for a number of hurlers who depended upon their curves, cross-fire delivery and other assortment of slants are taking up the moist twist and will try to fool opposing batsmen. The spitball fingers for the last half dozen years have been exceedingly scarce in the National league, although the American has boasted of any number of classy performers along this line.

The fact that the delivery is coming into its own again proves it is a puzzling stunt and that every a ball-and club stands a good chance of beating first division teams if the pitcher can use the damp fling. Hub Perdue, of the Braves, is the latest twirler to become acquainted with the spitball.

Manager Stallings says he advocates its use and that he hopes Perdue will be able to get by with it. If Hub can put the same stuff on the ball as he did against the Giants on opening day he surely will have little trouble in starring.

It has always been claimed that a pitcher who uses the spitball is usually wild, and while this is true to ascertain extent, the fact remains that if the twirler in question can get near the plate with the ball he usually is effective. Marty O'Toole was wild last year, but it wasn't altogether his lack of control which caused his defeat in so many games. Marty was called upon to oppose the best slabmen in the league and the scores in most cases were very close.

Atlanta Off On Road Trip Until May 19

Games Will Be Played in Birmingham, Mobile, Montgomery, Memphis and New Orleans Before Returning Home

The first real test of the Atlanta club comes during the next two weeks when Manager Smith takes his outfit for a long jaunt around the southern end of the circuit, the club leaving Tuesday night and not returning until May 19. On the trip nineteen games will be played and they are against the strongest teams in the league.

The first stop is to be made at Birmingham, where four games are to be played. Then the team moves to Mobile for four. Montgomery for four, Memphis for four and New Orleans for three. Mobile, Birmingham and New Orleans all have good clubs if past scores are any indication, and the Crackers must go at a rather good clip to get away with a majority of the games.

Shortstop Bisland, recently acquired from the Pittsburg club, will join the club in Birmingham and be seen in action there Wednesday. He will most likely be played throughout the trip, Williams being retained as utility player.

Senators' Third-Sacker Sick With Typhoid

WASHINGTON, April 29.—It was announced today that "Eddie" Foster, the Washington American's speedy little third baseman, is suffering from typhoid fever, and that probably he will not be able to return to the game for a month at least. Foster had been out of the game for several days, but his ailment was not diagnosed positively until today. While the attack is said to be slight it has weakened the player, who otherwise is resting comfortably.

Many Misplays In This Game

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., April 29.—Hunt held Sewanee to four hits here Monday afternoon, struck out fifteen Tiger batters, and Mercer won the first of a two-game series by the score of 4 to 2. The second game will be played Tuesday afternoon, Sewanee playing in Gainesville, Fla., Wednesday.

The game was spiotched with errors every few plays. The visitors connected with eight bobbies, while Mercer managed to register five. These played no little part in the scoring. In the second, Rice scored for Mercer on a single, a steal, and a passed ball and an error. In the third the Baptists counted again. Farmer walked, McKnight was hit by pitcher, and both came in on Cochran's single. In the sixth Rodenberry made the other run on errors and a wild pitch.

Sewanee made her only runs in the third on three singles and an error. Mercer made but three hits of Egleston.

Score:	R.	H.	E.
Sewanee ..... 002 000 000—	2	4	8
Mercer ..... 012 001 00—	4	3	8

Batteries: Egleston and Dinkins; Hunt and Rice. Umpire, Wilker.

HOW RUNS CAME OVER

"Baseball's Luckiest Win," or "How Nashville Won from Atlanta," is told in the following mention of how the runs were driven in:

Fourth inning: Callahan was safe on Agler's error of his hard roller. Perry bunted to the pitcher and when Price threw to second too late to catch Callahan, both runners were safe and were advanced a base each on Schwartz's sacrifice hit. James then walked and the bags were filled with one down, when Lindsey stepped up and with the infield drawn in he shot a safe one to right and Callahan and Perry came home. Ludwig then got a Texas leaguer to left and James came home.

Fifth inning: Callahan was safe on Williams' boot and after Perry had popped to the pitcher Schwartz came through with a double to right and Dave came home.

Atlanta got three runs in the following manner:

Sixth inning: Williams singled and on Price's double to center came over.

Seventh inning: Long beat out a roller to third and went to third on Smith's slasher to right and scored as Williams was being thrown out from third to first.

Ninth inning: Long singled to left and went to third when Lindsay errored. Smith's hot one through second after Williams had fanned and Dunn walked Price was safe on a fielder's choice and Long again romped home.

Ed Walsh Out

CHICAGO, April 29.—Ed Walsh, the pitching star of the White Sox, is ill of a cold, it was learned today and will be unable to go with his teammates who sthey leave for Detroit tonight.

Extremes meet: Hugh plays the field for Detroit, and Love occasionally scouts for the same club.

HOW GAMES WERE WON

By beating the Pirates 8 to 5 in Monday's game, the Chicago Cubs moved up into first place in the National league race.

Two games were rained out in the National league Monday afternoon, but in the American. Two games were played in the latter organization, as only one was scheduled.

Pitcher Toney, of the Chicago Nationals, made three hits, one a triple, out of three times at bat against the Corsairs.

Heinie Zimmerman was out of the Pittsburg-Chicago game Monday, having hurt his leg in sliding to a base Sunday. He may not be able to play again this week.

St. Louis made it three out of four from the Reds by winning Monday's game. Each side made eleven hits and two errors.

Manning, hurling for the Billies Monday, allowed the Felicans but three bingles. Dummy Taylor hurled part of the game for New Orleans.

Mobile gave Campbell rotton support Monday, making ten errors behind him and playing in a listless manner. Kissinger, on the contrary, had a snappy team back of him, and allowed the Gulls but four safeties.

Kissinger, besides hurling swell ball against the Finn clan, made one of Memphis' runs, and three hits out of four times at bat.

Right Uppercut Gets Eddie O'Keefe's Goat

AKRON, Ohio, April 29.—Matt Brock, of Cleveland, knocked out Eddie O'Keefe, of Philadelphia, in the fourth round of what was to have been a twelve round bout here last night. A right uppercut to O'Keefe's jaw finished the fight.

Youngster Hurls No-Hit, No-Run Game

GREENSBORO, N. C., April 29.—Ray, an eighteen-year-old boy signed by Winston-Salem in the Carolina league, today pitched a no-run, no-hit game against Durham. The youngster also exhibited perfect control.

Attell Gets Decision

BALTIMORE, April 29.—Abe Attell, of New York, was given the decision over George Chaney, of Baltimore, at the end of their fifteen-round bout here last night. The men fought at 124 pounds.

TODAY

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 29.—Concluding the present series, the Mobile and Memphis teams will play a fourth game this afternoon. Because of the necessity for an early departure for New Orleans by the locals, the game will be called at 3 o'clock. Batteries for Mobile, Berger and Schmidt; Memphis, Merritt and Haigh. The weather is clear and pleasant.

NEW ORLEANS, April 29.—Pitcher Gwin, recently secured by Manager Frank, is scheduled to receive his try-out for the local pitching staff in the game of the series with Montgomery today. Yantz will work behind the bat. Manager Dobbs will use C. Brown and Donahue as his battery. A protest against Shortstop Williams playing with Atlanta has been filed with President Kavanaugh by Manager Frank. Frank claims the player under the waiver rule and all games in which Williams participates with Atlanta will be protested.

BIRMINGHAM, April 29.—Carl Thompson, the young college twirler, secured from New York by the Barons this spring, will decide his own fate when he goes into the box against the Colonels this afternoon for the third game of the series. If he pitches a good game he will be given a permanent place on the Baron staff, otherwise, Fittery, a young left-bander, will be retained instead. Dilger will catch. The battery for Chattanooga probably will be More and Street.

Welsh Wins

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., April 29.—In a ten-round bout here last night Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion of England, easily outpointed Al Ketchel, of this city.

Nashville Bunch Certainly Had Luck With It All the Way

Luck is not everything in baseball, yet when it gets a firm hold it is just about 99 per cent of the battle. Horseshoes have been seen flying around Ponce de Leon park for year in and year out, and will continue to play their important part in every game but never in the history of the game have so many lucky irons been at work at once as in Monday's game between Atlanta and Nashville.

Nasaville won the game 4 to 3. Price and Dahlgreen were the opposing hurlers and while Dahlgreen must be congratulated on the game he worked there is no denying that he had all the luck. This boy Cy is sure to become a good pitcher, as shown by the work he turned out after lucking through the first four innings.

Gilbert Price was Manager Smith's hurler, and Gilbert did good work all the way. He got in one bad hole to some six or seven for the Vol slabber, and while Dahlgreen escaped in each instance Price was not able to come through his one bad round.

In the first three innings seventeen Crackers got to first base and not once did a man get nearer home than third base. Dahlgreen walked just seven of the seventeen who faced him in the opening three rounds and one got a hit, making eight men who reached first in three innings. This was nearly enough to fill the bags in each round, and yet not one was thrown out at the plate.

During the course of the game, Dahlgreen walked eleven batters, nine made hits and two were safe on errors, making twenty-two who reached first base. Nashville had six to walk, made three hits, one reached first on a fielder's choice on which no one was retired and three got to first on errors, making thirteen to reach first base. Of these thirteen just four scored, while but three of Atlanta's twenty-two were able to tally.

In getting so many players on the bags and failing to score the Crackers did not pull one bone play. In most every instance where runners were on the bags there were two gone and the third man did not come through with the necessary bingle. It was just a case of the batter being unable to deliver, and while it shows a bunch of good pitching by Dahlgreen, it also demonstrates that luck was ever present.

Stahl Is After Hal Chase for Sox

NEW YORK, April 29.—Manager Stahl, of the Boston American league team, said Monday he was trying to arrange a trade that would take Hal Chase to Boston. Robert McRoy, treasurer of the Boston club, left for Boston today simultaneously with Stahl's admission that he was after Chase. Stahl was in conference with President McLean of the Boston club, Sunday, and it is assumed that McRoy will see McAleer tomorrow. It is reported that President Farrell, of the New Yorks, would be given choice of any one of the Boston catchers; also that he might receive Outfielder Henriksen and Infielder Vanvlin and Ball. Officers of the New York club refused to discuss the matter.

Boats Smashed

(By Associated Press.)

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 29.—In a collision in the St. Johns river the steamers Morgan, of the Van Steamship company, and British steamer Ethelstan, sustained damage when made it necessary for them to be towed into this port. The collision is believed to have been due to a mistake in reading signals.

LOOKOUTS AND BARONS CAN'T SECURE PLAYERS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 29.—The effects of the classification adopted at the Milwaukee meeting which placed the cities of the Southern, the American association, the Pacific Coast league, and the Eastern league upon a higher rating than the Southern in the matter of waivers are being felt as keenly here as in Birmingham, where Molesworth with Woodward's coffers behind him is absolutely unable to secure a duo of sluggers who can clout the ball like Almeida and Johnston who are departed.

Andrews, like Woodward, has given Elberfeld carte blanche in the matter of funds, but the Kid, like Molesworth, candidly admits that he is unable to secure any material that will be in any way an improvement over that already under contract. The local pilot has made bids for several men upon both the Cincinnati and Chicago clubs but in every instance the men have been sent to American association clubs. Just at present other deals are pending but little hopes are entertained that they will be successful.

As a matter of fact, in view of the manner in which the Lookouts are hitting and fielding, Elberfeld could scarcely strengthen the locals without securing men who are really stars in the major circuits. The Kid has a club that is shooting the ball like a house and fielding in great style and seriously, he is not positive that the continual losses of the locals are due to any real weakness and not to a phenominal run of hard luck. Without making any excuses for the Lookout clan there is still room to state that every break has been against it. The club has never been able to get all departments into a state of simultaneous effectiveness.

Schwartz Crew Had All Luck And Cop Game

Price Allowed but Three Hits, While Crackers Got Nine, Yet Score Gave Nashville an Edge Just 4 to 3

Bill Schwartz and Pitcher Cy Dahlgren were clothed in horseshoes through Monday's game with the Crackers and, of course, Nashville won the game. Gilbert Price was the victim of the horseshoe luck, the game winding up Nashville, 4; Atlanta, 3.

Price pitched a grand article of ball and for the Vols to get away with the game was nothing short of luck. The Cracker southpaw gave up just three hits and Nashville managed to score four runs, while on nine bingles the Crackers were able to tally only three times. And not only did Price allow fewer hits than Dahlgren, but fewer bases on balls, the Vol wheeler giving up eleven passes.

The fourth inning proved Price's undoing. First Dave Callahan got to first on an error and went to second on Perry's bunt, on which both were safe. Schwartz then sacrificed them up a bag each and James was walked and the bags were filled. *Then came along John*ny Lindsay and Bill Ludwig, neither of whom bat .100 anywhere but in Atlanta and each got a hit and three runners tallied. An error started the trouble and a base on balls helped it along a bit.

During the first three innings the Vol hurler gave up just seven bases on balls and one hit and yet the Atlanta bunch was unable to tally. Against any hurler other than Dahlgren this kind of work would have resulted in something like a thousand runs, but when you have the horseshoe habit there isn't a chance for even one tally.

Shortstop Williams made a fair impression on his first appearance with the Crackers. He made one run and one hit in four times up and got away with three assists and one putout in five chances. His error came on a hard-hit ball directly at him, of which he was too sure.

With two runners on in the second, Whitey Alperman shot a line drive to center which Callahan misjudged but managed to spear by a grandstand one-handed catch. At that it was lucky.

Wallace Smith had a busy day around third, most all of his chances being of the mean kind. In the third he made a most spectacular play on Goalby's hit.

Gilbert Price was certainly the hitting kid. In five trips to the pan he reached first every time, three times hitting safely. It was only hurler who drove in the Crackers' first tally and on his out in the ninth the final count was made.

Tommy Long twice got away with neat slides and each time it resulted in a tally. One of the times Long got away was on third when Williams was thrown out from third and by a neat slide. Tommy got past Ludwig as the catcher held the ball.

In the seventh inning Price retired the Vols on four pitched balls. Callahan fouled out to Williams, the first pitched ball and Perry hit the first ball to third and was safe on an error, only to be caught stealing, and Schwartz then took one and filed to center on the next.

OVERSIGHT LOST STAR

It was Charlie Frank's astuteness and his knowledge of the inner workings of baseball legislation that enabled the leader of the Pelicans to secure Pete Snedecor, the promising young first-sacker new covering the initial sak for the New Orleans club.

Last year Mike Finn picked up the young player from the University of Alabama, but did not use him and turned him over to the Greenwood club of the Cotton States league. When the Cotton States season was over, Snedecor joined the Mobile team. Snedecor had finished the season with Greenwood and had not been sent to the club under the optional agreement whereby he has to be recalled by August 20.

When Frank found out these facts he put in a draft for the first-baseman and after several arguments it was finally handed to him. Frank had acted entirely within his rights and Snedecor became the property of the New Orleans club.

Snedecor is a son of a minister and is a great favorite with his teammates. He has steadily gained confidence in himself since the opening of the season and has made steady improvement in all departments of the game. Frank is one of the best posted baseball men in the Southern league on the legality of claims, drafts and purchases, and it is seldom indeed that any associate leaders ever succeed in putting anything over on the wily German.

STARS IN SLOW STARTS IN THE OLDER CIRCUIT

Tesreau Was Expected to Start Like a House Afire Yet He Is Going in the Very Poorest Fashion

Baseball is full of upsets, as the records show. Prior to the opening of the season fans confidently expected that Big Jeff Tesreau of the Giants would start right off the reel and pile up a string of consecutive victories. Instead McGraw's mammoth spit-baller drops the opener to the Boston Braves, getting driven from the slab while dropping it, and then, on his first appearance in a relief role, allows the opposition to come from behind and win out.

Tesreau undoubtedly will win a great number of games for the McGrawites this year and possibly may surpass his 1912 record. There is one record he made in 1912, however, that he cannot possibly equal, even though the season be still in its infancy. That record relates to home runs. Last year only one National League player made a homer off Big Jeff, who worked in 243 innings, equivalent to 27 complete games. On Tesreau's first two appearances on the slab this season he labored for just seven stanzas and in that time was located for two four-baggers. John Titus was the lone National Leaguer who clouted for the circuit off Tesreau last season, the present Bostonian, then a Phillie, making his fourbagger in the game played on May 2.

The players who poled homers off Tesreau this year were Bill Rariden, who used to be Rube Marquard's backstop when the tall port-sider was with Canton, and J. Carlisle Smith, who started the season in sad fashion, since Tom Seaton whiffed him thrice.

Despite the fact that Tesreau has had two home runs made off him in less than one full game, he undoubtedly will remain on the Giant's payroll all season long and will receive the consideration of the jury of experts serving on the Chalmers car award for the National League's best player.

Certain pastimers start brilliantly and then slow up. A National Leaguer who got away to a grand start in 1912 at the expense of a pitcher was Jack Spratt, then third baseman of the Bostons. The records show that he made three home runs and all were obtained off Grover Cleveland Alexander, of the Phillies, when the season ended Alexander was the strike out king of the National League and Spratt was in the minors, having been sent there in June.

"EVERS DAY" IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, April 29.—The compliment which Chicago admirers of Frank Chance plan to pay the New York American league club manager in a celebration when he makes his first appearance there will have something of a parallel here in an "Evers day" on May 10.

The date marks the appearance of John Evers and his Chicago Cubs in the first game of a series with the New York Giants. Over 400 fellow citizens of Evers whose home is in Troy, N. Y., have reserved seats for the game.

The Trojan delegation plans a big reception and a floral offering for the Chicago leader.

Roanoke Club In Fine Start For the Flag

Newport News Experienced Hard Luck During the First Part of the Season, Losing Six Straight Games

LYNCHBURG, Va., April 28.—With the close of the second series in the Virginia league, the Newport News Shipbuilders have established a record for the Boatwright circuit, for the leaderless team managed to pile up six straight defeats in the first six days of the season, and all of them were routs with a single exception.

The brilliant start of the Roanoke team, which won five of the first games played, is not unusual in the Virginia league, and it brought little surprise to the fans, who generally looked upon the Tiger aggregation as one of the strongest of the six, but it must be admitted that the failure of the Newport News team is a distinct surprise. Heralded as a contender as it was constituted for the start, three complete, crushing defeats in the opening series at Roanoke made the fans sit up and take notice, and it was only after the third game with Portsmouth that the Shipbuilders began to show class, for in that game they were able to hold the Pirates to a 1 to 0 victory.

The Virginia league this spring, despite the early start, was not bothered with bad weather during the first week, and for the second time in its history the clubs were able to get away with the first six games without being stopped by rain, snow or cold weather. This spring the weather has been ideal, and not one of the first six games was postponed, this comparing with seven postponed games in the same time in 1907, two in 1908, eight in 1909, five in 1910 and three in 1912.

Four times in the last six preceding seasons Richmond started out like a house afire, this being in 1907, 1908, 1909 and 1911, but only once were the Colts able to hold the pace. In 1911 the Colts won six straight before they lost to Lynchburg, thus establishing a record that Roanoke could not break this year, nor did Petersburg approach it last year, for in the first two series in 1912 the Petersburg team dropped two out of the first six, and still they were leading.

It is true that the first two series cannot be taken much as an indication of the relative strength of the six teams in the circuit, but there has been enough to point to the fact that Roanoke, Norfolk and Petersburg are the better balanced aggregations, with Richmond probably fourth and Portsmouth yet to show what it has, with the Shipbuilders aparently outclassed.

Lee Garvin can be expected to whip the Pirates into line, and when the Pirates stack up against Petersburg and Roanoke they can be expected to give a good account of themselves. Newport News appears to be handicapped by the tardy arrival of Manager Davis, and when he gets on the lines in a week or two the Shipbuilders may pull themselves together and go better.

Richmond is in the market for some pitchers, and with the additions of another pair to help Strain and Burleson out, Steven Griffin can be figured as something of a strong factor in the race.

John Kilbane Scraps Dundee

LOS ANGELES, April 29.—Although consensus of opinion among fight enthusiasts is that the Kilbane-Dundee featherweight championship battle at Vernon arena tonight will go the limit of twenty-one rounds, there has been virtually no betting on the contest so far. It is a unique situation, precident to a championship match and apparently the result of general confidence that Champion Kilbane will successfully defend his title.

Odds of 2 to 1 failed to bring out any Dundee money today and the betting commissioners considered it doubtful if Dundee support could be developed by the expected ringside odds of 10 to 4, or even less.

It will be the first match for the featherweight championship since Kilbane won the title from Abe Attel a year ago last February. Ringside odds at that encounter favored Attell at 2 to 1, and better.

Both men are down to the required weight, but Kilbane appears to have made it with better results to his physical condition than Dundee. The latter, however, showed great speed in his last preliminary work with the gloves yesterday.

Riverside Takes Fourteenth Game

GAINESVILLE, Ga., April 29.—Riverside outclassed Stone Mountain yesterday afternoon, winning easily by the score of 7 to 1.

This makes Riverside's fourteenth straight victory, the local lads not having lost a game this season. It begins to look like the prep championship for the R. M. A. boys.

The features were the pitching of Williamson, a spectacular catch in right by Carraway, and the base running of the Riverside team.

PREDS WIN GOOD GAME

ANNISTON, Ala., April 29.—The fast squad of Cumberland university, which took two games from Vanderbilt last week were goose egged by Coach Hanlon's preds of the Alabama Presbyterian college, in a snappy game here Monday afternoon, and as a result the preds feel assured of their claim to the state championship outside of the S. I. A. A.

Stevenson, the local collegian, who has starred for two years, came near duplicating his no-hit record, holding Cumberland to two hits, one in the seventh and one in the ninth. The Cumberland boys came in Sunday and play Alabama university Tuesday.

Score by innings:	R.	H.	E.
Cumberland	000	000	000—0	2	2
Anniston college	2001	010	00x—5	5	2

Summary:—Batteries: Smith and Oliver; Stevenson and Jeffries. Struck out, Stevenson 10, Smith 5; base on balls, Smith 2, Stevenson 1; hit by pitcher, Leach, Donaldson and Summerville (by Smith), Hardison (by Stevenson); stolen bases, Summerville, Jeffries, Hardiston, Farmer; double plays, Donaldson to Boykin to White to Toliver.

JOURNAL WANT AD HOROSCOPE

APRIL 30.

This date favors all men and women, who are masters of detail as well as capable executives; seek positions through The Journal Want Ads.

Men and women with this birth date acquire fortunes in spite of their extravagance.

It is an easy matter for people born today to amass large sums of money; but they never save it. They are inclined to reckless speculation and delight to spend money in large quantities.

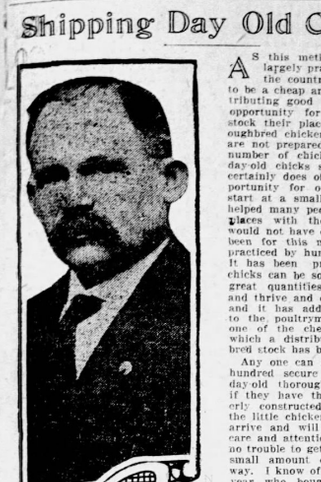
No matter what line of work they pursue, they are enthusiastic and determined. They will not fear opposition. They have wonderful memories. Those people are naturally fitted for the stage and would find the career of an actor or actress most congenial.

They are magnetic and fascinating, but do not make harmonious marriage partners.

This coming week will find The Journal Want Ads filled with many favor

POULTRY. PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

Shipping Day Old Chicks



AS this method is now being largely practiced throughout the country and has proven to be a cheap and safe way of distributing good blood it offers an opportunity for anyone to soon stock their place with good thoroughbred chickens, and those who are not prepared to hatch a large number of chickens can secure day-old chicks so cheaply that it certainly does offer a splendid opportunity for one to get a nice start at a small expense and has helped many people to stock their places with thoroughbreds that would not have done so had it not been for this method as is now practiced by hundreds of breeders. It has been proven that little chicks can be so safely shipped in great quantities a long distance and thrive and do well afterwards and it has added much business to the poultryman and has been one of the cheapest methods by which a distribution of thoroughbred stock has been brought about.

Any one can for $15 to $50 per hundred secure a nice bunch of day-old thoroughbred chicks, and if they have their brooders properly constructed ready to receive the little chickens when they first arrive and will give them proper care and attention afterwards it is no trouble to get a nice start for a small amount of money in this way. I know of many people last year who bought day-old chicks during the months of May and June, and two ladies especially raised to maturity more than eighty per cent of the original number they bought. One of these parties raised eighty-seven out of one hundred chickens shipped the first week in June. These chickens were well cared for and by the middle of November a large part of these pullets were large enough to commence laying and will be worth more than pay for the original investment. Any one who has a small space can even now secure one or two hundred day-old chicks and by taking proper care of them have this coming winter a nice yard of acclimated, home-grown pullets to produce eggs through the winter months when they are high. With the many brooders that are now on the market, and with warm weather prevailing during the next few months it is no trouble to raise a few hundred chickens either in heated or fireless brooders during the remainder of the season.

If a person will not even of their little chickens, will look after them carefully for the first two weeks at least and get them started off right they will have no trouble in raising a large-per cent day-old chicks, especially if they have been secured from strong, well-bred parent stock. The cockerels can be sold as broilers for nearly enough to pay for the raising of the pullets, and for a very small amount you can add to your stock their place with good, vigorous, thrifty pullets that you know will produce an abundance of eggs during the winter. This method of stocking your place with thoroughbreds is now being largely practiced and it is surprising to watch the express offices and see the large shipments of little chickens are being transported every day to different parts of the world. If the little ones are properly packed and are not over-heated in shipment or allowed to become chilled after receipt of them there is usually no danger in raising a good per cent of them. On receipt of such a shipment the first thing that should be done is to have a good dry brooder with the floor covered with coarse sand. The little chicks should be placed in the brooder and given all the water they will drink before being fed. Then immediately afterwards they should be fed all they will eat up clean of any of the commercial chick feeds that are sold on the market. They should be fed every two hours just what they will eat up clean, and at the end of five or six days a fresh lot of nice tender grass should be placed in the brooder or run twice a day for the little chicks to scratch at and get green food from. This plays a very important part in the healthfulness and appetite your little chicks will have as it not only gives exercise but furnishes a variety of food little different from the grain feed. After they pass one week or ten days old the feed should be varied and either Aunt Patsy or a mixture of two parts bran and one part meat scraps should be kept constantly before the chickens at all times, and still continue to feed the

QUESTIONS ASKED AND ANSWERED.

QUESTION.

Brunswick, Ga.

On the 5th and 6th of this month we had forty chicks hatched out—fine Barred Plymouth Rocks, as healthy, seemingly, as any I ever saw. I began feeding them what the grocer here sells he as "biddie feed" and bran. When about four or five days old I noticed some were droopy, and from then on I never went out to see after them but I did not find one dead. They have died daily until now I have eighteen left. I have greased or sprinkled them with insect powder every five or six days, have fed chicken chowder in addition to biddie feed, and this week added raw cornmeal to the variety. I with a little salts I mheir drinking water occasionally. Every one that has died has seemed to have bowel trouble, and I had to keep the rectum open by bathing and greasing, but in spite of all my efforts I have not saved one that has been affected in this way. On the 15th of this month I had twelve more chicks to hatch, and today I have only six of the twelve left. They have died just as the others did. I have eleven hens, only two of which are more than a year old, the rest ranging from eight months to seven months old, and these chicks are from the pullets' first litter of eggs. I am told that the chicks from the first litter of eggs are not healthy. Is there any truth in the statement? Please tell me why my chicks die and how to feed them. The older ones are in an enclosure on the ground, and I put sand in for them that I got from the sand pile in the streets, used when a cement walk was being laid. Is there any danger in the use of this sand? Others use it successfully and also feed their chicks as I do, and only lose one or two out of a brood. My youngest chicks I have in a large box on the porch. They get the sunshine and are kept in the house well covered at night. After having such dreadful luck with the first ones which were equally divided between me and Sister, I decided to raise these last ones by hand, and I find no way whatever of remedying conditions, as these of the ground are going the same as the ground died. I shall watch the poultry columns for your reply, and trust you can help me save my chicks.

E. A. B.

ANSWER.

Your letter indicates that several things would cause the trouble you are having. In the first place, as others are not having this trouble and feed practically the same way shows that the breeding stock does not impart the strength they should to the offspring. Furthermore, your feeding method is not proper, as you should not have straight bran to eat. They should not have the chowder to eat until they are ten days or two weeks old. If fed the ordinary scratch feed up until they are one week to ten days old, just what they will eat up clean every two hours is sufficient food for them. After they pass ten days old they should have more of a variety. A small amount of cracked rice, whole or crushed wheat or pinhead oatmeal should be added to the scratch feed. After they are ten days old, the chowder can be kept before them, but not in the usual troughs so that they will not waste it. It should not become damp. They should have plenty of coarse grit and charcoal where they can get it at all times, and in addition sound bone should be fed. Once every day after they are one week old. The trouble is their digestive organs have been upset. The feed is too concentrated for young chicks, besides they should not be physicked with salts and other things. No young chicks can stand the test of being set by and they will surely get their systems upset.

They should not be greased more than once every three weeks, and then only a tiny bit should be used. If they are greased, insect powder should not be used, as it will stick to their feathers and injure them. You are doctoring your chicks too much and are killing them with over-kindness. They should be kept in a dry, comfortable place, where they can get sunlight, but if the hot rays of the sun should shine on them directly for a few hours it is likely to overcome them. A place should be provided where they can get out of the hot sun, but still have access to it if they wish. When they are once upset it is hard to get them straightened out again, but by careful feeding you can probably save some of them yet. In the next lot you hatch off treat them as above instructed, and I think you will have better success.

TERMINAL DISTRICT.

ONE of the best opportunities in Atlanta real estate today is in the large section lying in between the Southern and A. B. & A. railroads. This section is about 20 blocks wide and it extends from Magnolia street out as far as Boulevard avenue.

IN THIS QUARTER you can buy good sized pieces of land, improved with rental houses, property that yields a fair income and has speculative possibilities.

AS AN ILLUSTRATION, we can sell the southeast corner of Magnolia and Magnum streets, fronting 150 feet on Magnum street, for $7,500. This lot has on it two tenant houses, which bring in $60 per month, bringing in both a handsome income on the investment and one of those good corners that in time will be necessary in assembling a block of land, and will bring a fancy price.

ON SIMPSON STREET we can sell an entire block of frontage for $5,000. It lies in between two main streets and has a frontage of 214 feet and an extending back 330 feet. All three streets are paved and have all improvements down. This is the block with the old stone house on it.

HERE is a choice little factory site bordering directly on A., B. & A. railroad, and southwest corner of Fox and Hilton streets. It fronts 220 feet on Fox road and has three renting houses. Price $2,500.

WEST SIDE values are low in comparison with other sections, and they are sure to go up in the process of equalization. All farsighted look out for small acreage west side investments for future use.

Many Applications Have Been Made for Office Space in the Healey and Hurt Buildings, Now Under Construction, Forty-two Lots in Peachtree Heights to Be Offered at Auction on Wednesday Afternoon—Development Item

There is no let up in the demand for office space in Atlanta. A large number of applications for it have already been made to the owners of the Healey and Hurt buildings, although they are under construction and the rates and other details have not yet been finally determined.

A big lot of steel for the Healy building has arrived and it will be erected as soon as a derrick can be put in place. Steel is now being put in place on the tenth and eleventh floors of the Hurt building. The latter will be completed by October 1 next.

The two buildings will mean close to 1,000 new offices for Atlanta, the Hurt building alone containing about 400.

AUCTION SALE WEDNESDAY.

On Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the E. Rivers Realty company will offer forty-two lots in its subdivision on and near Peachtree road. Steve B. Johnston will be the auctioneer.

These lots are of unusually large size and have conveniences that make them suitable for the home owner. They are twenty minutes from the center on the car line.

DEVELOPMENT NOTE.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

LAPORTE, Ind., April 29.—Senator Stephenson B. Fleming, who has long figured in Democratic politics in Indiana, will move from Fort Wayne to Atlanta, within the next sixty days, and consequently will have to resign from the legislature and drop out as a political leader in Indiana. This he announced today.

Mr. Fleming will become manager of a $25,000,000 corporation which is a part of the Morgan interests. The property consists of land located near Nashville, Atlanta and other important southern points.

START PROBE TUESDAY OF M'CLELLAND CHARGES

Special Council Committee Meets at 3 o'Clock—McClelland Promises to Be There

Investigation of Aldeman McClelland's charges against Aldermen Maddox, Ragsdale and Spratling will be started Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock by the special committee of council appointed for that purpose.

Alderman McClelland claims he will be present despite his extremely ill condition, and will make a reply to the personal letter addressed to him by Alderman Maddox last week, which was published in the newspapers. Alderman McClelland says he will reply also to Aldine Chambers, whom he claims is the real author of the Maddox letter. Charles T. Hopkins will be present as attorney for Alderman McClelland.

The committee will first take up the charge against Alderman Maddox, which is that he has repeatedly, openly and notoriously taken subcontracts on city work in violation of the law. To this Alderman Maddox already has filed an answer, admitting the very well-known fact that he took a subcontract on two of the sewage disposal plants, but denying he ever took any others and claiming that the city attorney held this one to be no violation of law.

GOOD ROADS MIGHT HAVE BARRED WAR, SAYS DAVIS

(By Associated Press.)

KANSAS CITY, April 29.—That the Civil war might have been averted had the states been linked by an adequate system of national highways was a suggestion made in an address by Charles Henry Davis, of Cambridge, Mass., read before the convention of the National Old Trails' association which opened here today.

Mr. Davis outlined the history of the old frontier trade routes—the Santa Fe trail, the Boones Lick road, the Oregon trail, the Overland trail, the Mormon trail and others—and told of the old trails' association's plans to link these routes and connect them with Washington and New York in a great modern national highway.

"A century of our national life has slipped away since hardy pioneers first conceived a transcontinental highway," he said. "Their conception was 'to bind the states together in a common brotherhood and thus perpetuate and preserve the union.'

"Had these prophetic words of Calhoun been heeded and in the full knowledge thereof had we as a nation built roads, might not the great struggle between the north and south have been avoided. There are some who believe a perpetuation of this indifference to the building of national roads may result in another attempt at such a separation."

FARMER SWINDLED OUT OF $5,000

(By Associated Press.)

DALLAS, Texas, April 29.—Two strangers, posing as wealthy Frenchmen, last night swindled A. E. Schepler, a farmer, living at Farmersville, near Dallas, out of $5,000 and made their escape. Police of Dallas, Fort Worth and other cities have been notified to be on the lookout for the pair.

According to Schepler the strangers several days ago began negotiations for him to take care of a "seventy-year-old niece" of the two for which they would deposit $10,000 to Schepler's credit at the Farmersville bank. They demanded, however, that Schepler show his ability to carry out his bargain by producing $5,000 cash.

Yesterday the farmer drew his $5,000 from the Farmersville bank to take it home. The bank officials suspected he was in danger of losing the money and notified the sheriff's forces at Farmersville. The latter, however, arrived at Schepler's home only after the strangers having departed with the money which they secured by switching packages and Schepler.

ENGLAND IS PRESSING GUATEMALA FOR DEBT

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Great Britain again is pressing Guatemala for satisfaction of the long standing claims of British subjects. The attention of the state department has been directed to the situation by the Guatemalan minister here and the outcome is expected to develop in some measure an indication of the Wilson administration's policy toward Central America republics and their foreign debts.

A loan of $20,000,000 to $30,000,000 by American banking houses has been under way for some time, but never consummated. With its proceeds it was proposed to refund Guatemala's British debts and reform her currency system. The delay has been irritating to both the United States and Great Britain.

U. P. OPPOSES M'REYNOLDS' PLEA TO THE COURT

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Attorneys for the Union Pacific filed today with the supreme court their brief in reply to Attorney General McReynolds' objection to a longer extension of time then July 1 for an agreement upon a dissolution plan. The railroad lawyers contended that to allow only until July 1, and no further extension would be inadequate and renewed their plea to have the court's mandate modified to permit the circuit court to determine the question.

EPIDEMIC IN FAMILY CLAIMS THREE VICTIMS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

EATONTON, Ga., April 29.—Three members of the family of Will Resseau died within one week's time from pneumonia and other members of the family are ill, besides a servant. Saturday Alice Resseau, a young school girl, was the first to die. Her father, Will Resseau, was the next to die and his death was kept from his mother, Mrs. Polly Resseau, for fear of fatal results. Two days after his death, however, she died without ever knowing of the other's death.

MACON MAKES BIG PLANS FOR BARACA-PHILATHEA

Rally Is Held to Begin Campaign for National Convention in 1914

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., April 29.—The Baraca-Philathea rally held in the auditorium of the chamber of commerce last night was one of the most celebrated events of its kind held in Macon this year. Every Baraca and Philathea class was represented in the line of march from the city hall to the auditorium, attesting the enthusiastic interest each class and individual have taken in the project to land the 1914 national Baraca convention for this city.

Today the "dollar campaign" was opened by fourteen teams who have shouldered the responsibility of securing a fund of several thousand dollars to guarantee the convention a success if it is brought here. No person will be allowed to give more than a dollar. The campaign will continue until Saturday of this week, when the fourteen teams will disontinue the campaign.

Wilburn Is Pleased

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga. April 29.—While he does not express his confidence over the final outcome of the trial, Nick Wilburn, confessed murderer of James King, in Jones county last fall, is much pleased over the postponement of his trial.

Since he was indicted by the grand jury he has received a large batch of letters from both men and women of Jones county expressing the hope that his sentence would not be death.

Face Gambling Charge

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., April 29.—Leonard Burg, a well-known saloonkeeper, is charged with operating a gaming house and "Biscuit" Smith and Charles Rohe are to face charges of gambling as the result of a raid made by Sheriff Hicks on a room over the saloon. Several persons in the room at the time the raid was made escaped by jumping from the second story windows in the alley.

PENNSYLVANIA WILL PENSION WIDOW MOTHERS

(By Associated Press.)

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 29.—Pennsylvania is to test the mothers' pension system, Governor Tener having today approved the act recently passed by the legislature providing for county systems of pensions for mothers under the administration of a commission of from five to seven women to be named by the governor for each county availing itself of the provisions of the law.

The trustees are to investigate all cases and may recommend payments to any abandoned mother or widow who is unable to maintain her children at home. Payments are to be made monthly and the combined maximum payment shall not exceed $12 a month for one child, $20 a month for two children, $25 a month for three children and $5 a month for each additional child.

For the purpose of the new law an appropriation of $200,000 is made.

AUTO HITS WOMAN CHILD NOT HURT

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 29.—While pushing a baby carriage containing her three-months-old hair sister across Broad street at the intersection of Marbury, late yesterday afternoon, Miss Ernestine Bady, aged nineteen, was run down by an automobile and probably fatally injured. The automobile was driven by Mrs. W. K. Hegler.

Miss Bady sustained two fractures of the skull and her right arm was crushed. Though the carriage was demolished, the baby escaped uninjured.

COURT ADJOURNS TO AID PROBE OF PHAGAN CASE

Judge Roan Allows Police Officers to Return to Investigation of Mystery

Judge L. S. Roan adjourned the criminal court at 1 o'clock Tuesday so that all officers connected with cases in his court might get to work on the Phagan murder mystery.

Court will reconvene on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock.

This action was taken after a brief consultation between the court and Solicitor Dorsey. The latter pointed out that the police needed every available officer and detective to work on the Phagan case, and he could see no reason for detaining them through the afternoon.

The court took the same view, recognizing the importance of the Phagan case, and the necessity of losing no time or men on the work of finding the guilty man.

Quite a number of officers were in court waiting for cases to be called in which they were needed as witnesses.

COMMISSION COMPARES NEW HAVEN WITH OTHERS

(By Associated Press.)

BOSTON, April 29.—When the interstate commerce commission's inquiry into financial transactions of the New Haven railroad was resumed today, charges for depreciation made by the New Haven were compared with the charges made by three roads selected by the commission, the Southern, the Baltimore and Ohio and the Louisville and Nashville.

David E. Brown, the commission's accountant, said that in 1911, the New Haven's deficit after dividends had been paid, was $1,267,000, and the book value of its road was estimated $61,068,000. For depreciation, renewals and repairs, $6,488,000, or approximately 10 per cent was charged off.

Applying the rule of the Southern railway, to charge off 10 per cent of the equipment value for depreciation, repairs and renewals, the depreciation charge against the New Haven would have been $8,849,000 and the deficit for 1911 $2,388,000.

C. F. Choate, Jr., who appeared for President Mellen, entered a vigorous protest at this line of testimony.

"What sane man," he asked, "would compare the New Haven road with the Southern railway?"

"Even the Southern," retorted Louis D. Brandeis, conducting Brown's examination, "characterized the system of classification and this was the lowest of any three roads selected for purposes of comparison."

DAYTON IS RISING ABOVE RUINS OF FLOOD AND FIRE

Major J. L. Rhoads Returns to Washington and Reports Work of Reconstruction

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Major T. L. Rhoads, military aide to President Wilson, will report to Secretary Garrison today concerning conditions in the flood district of Ohio. Major Rhoads, who has been in charge of sanitation in the inundated territory, returned yesterday from Dayton.

"The cleaning up of the city is costing $80,000 a week," he said today, "but the people have regained their spirit and the air of hustle and industry is infectious. Stores and factories are reopening and reconstruction work is well under way."

General W. H. Bixby, chief of the army engineers, has advised members of congress whose districts were flood-swept that a board of engineers has been named to consider measures to prevent a repetition of the disaster. He has asked the representatives to advise their people so that conferences may be arranged.

BRYAN'S PLEA HAS LITTLE EFFECT ON CALIFORNIA SOLONS

Secretary of State, After Conferring With Legislature in Secret Session, Wires Wilson for Further Instructions

PROPOSED ALTERNATIVES TO PASSAGE OF THE BILL

Sentiment of the Progressive Republican Majority of the Legislature Is Said to Be Unchanged by Conference

(By Associated Press.)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 29.—With the sentiment of the progressive Republican majority towards anti-alien land legislation virtually unchanged by the representations made yesterday by Secretary of State Bryan on behalf of President Wilson, the California legislature faced today a second broadside of argument from the head of the state department.

What form the objections of the federal administration would take was not known early today, for Secretary Bryan has not made public the contents of his telegrams from President Wilson, received in answer to the questions propounded by the secretary after the close of the conference last evening.

Since his arrival yesterday the secretary of state has declined to make any statement, except in conference with the governor and members of the legislature and it was expected that another session of the conference would be called early in the day.

Dissatisfaction over the principal plan for the solution of the alien land problem put forward by Secretary Bryan was expressed both by Republicans and Democrats. Secretary Bryan suggested that the state permit the matter to be taken up by the diplomatic corps and settled possibly by means of a new treaty.

During the argument Assemblyman Sutherland asked:

"What assurance can the federal government give us, Mr. Bryan, that action by the legislature is delayed, the same end can be reached through diplomatic effort?"

Secretary Bryan replied: "I am sorry but I cannot answer as fully as you might like. Until just before I came to Sacramento it looked as though the words 'ineligible to citizenship' were not to be used. It was only when representations came indicating that the use of the words was contemplated that the president communicated with me, and since then I have had no opportunity to discuss the bill in detail with the Washington representative of the Japanese government.

"On this matter I have no definite proposition to submit to you—none that is sufficiently mature to offer you as an assurance. All I can say is that the president has conferred with the Japanese ambassador and that I have conferred with him and I feel it is worth while to make an effort."

After inquiring what kind of a law would meet the approval of the federal administration and receiving no direct reply, Assemblyman Sutherland asked:

"Can we pass any kind of a law that would accomplish our purpose and would not in your judgment be offensive to the Japanese government?"

"That is a new proposition," replied Secretary Bryan, "and I would not like to answer on the spur of the moment."

Secretary Bryan's suggestion is that California enact a law similar to the statute in Illinois or in the District of Columbia.

JOHNSON'S STATEMENT.

Stating his position to the conference, Governor Johnson said in part:

"The bill proposed for passage by the California legislature can call forth no just criticism from the national administration nor from any foreign nation. Here in California it is not a question of whether the Japanese government takes offense at what we do, but whether we give that government just cause for offense. I do not believe the proposed law prohibiting land ownership by aliens who are ineligible to citizenship gives the Japanese just cause for taking offense.

"If their dignity is threatened, they should have protested when Washington and Arizona passed laws similar to that which we now propose to pass."

California in the fullness of her rights as a state, may enact a rigid land law barring Orientals from ownership, but such action would be against the earnest wish of the national administration.

This is the substance of the message William Jennings Bryan, secretary of state and personal representative of President Wilson, delivered yesterday to a secret conference attended only by Governor Johnson, Lieutenant Governor Wallace and the 120 members of the California legislature.

BRYAN'S SUGGESTIONS.

Secretary Bryan reaffirmed the state's right to act in a manner it saw fit, but suggested several alternatives to the passage of a bill restricting aliens ineligible to citizenship," basing his reasons on the broad foundation of public policy. Briefly, these alternatives in the order in which they were suggested, are as follows:

1. Delay immediate action and allow the state department to try to accomplish the ends desired by means of a new treaty with Japan.

2. Delay immediate action and appoint a commission to investigate the subject of alien land ownership, and act in conjunction with the president in securing relief.

3. Enact a law similar to the statute in Illinois, which permits aliens to hold land for a period not exceeding six years and applies alike to all aliens.

4. Enact a law similar to the federal statute governing land ownership in the District of Columbia, which is a general law applying to all aliens.

Of these alternatives, it may safely be said, according to leaders in the legislature, that the last two are out of the question. Many Democrats favor turning the matter over to the state department, while the Progressive Republican majority apparently remains unchanged in its support of a bill that would apply its restrictions to Orientals alone.

BOWDOIN WILL HOLD HIGH MASONIC OFFICES

Will Be Named Grand High Priest and Grand Master of Council

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., April 29.—For the first time in the history of Masonry in Georgia, one man will hold two of the highest offices in the Masonic organization of the state. This man is Dr. J. P. Bowdoin, of Adairsville, who is to be grand high priest of the grand chapter of Royal Arch Masons, and grand master of the grand council of Royal and Select Masters.

Since Sunday afternoon, Masons and members of the Eastern Star have been gathering in Macon to attend the Masonic meeting that convenes here for the next several days.

Seventy-eight chapters of the Eastern Star, the ladies' auxiliary, will be represented at the twelfth annual session which began this morning at the convention hall in the Dempsey hotel. Tonight a reception will be tendered by the ladies at the Elberts' hall on Second street. The main business session of this body will be held tomorrow.

There will be several prominent members of the Eastern Star here, among them being Mrs. Callie L. French, worthy grand matron, of Alabama; Mrs. Cord R. Franz, past grand matron, of Florida, and most worthy grand elector of the general grand chapter; Dr. Anna L. Palmer, of Indiana; Mrs. Maas, grand representative of Georgia to Massachusetts; Mrs. Minnie M. Collier, of Rome, past grand matron of Georgia; Mrs. Senie M. Hubbard, of Macon, past grand matron of Georgia; J. C. Harmon, or Tennille, and Dr. J. B. Harmon, of the Masonic Home, past grand patrons.

The 120th annual convocation of the grand chapter will meet on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Delegates are already arriving for each of the conventions.

NEXT SATURDAY THE DAY FOR THE BIG EGG HUNT

Remember the Date, Children, and Make Your Plans to Be at Grant Park

The annual Easter egg hunt, given by The Journal and the city park board for the children of Atlanta, will take place at Grant park next Saturday, and will probably be attended by the largest number on record.

Being somewhat later than the hunts are usually held, the hunt this year will have the advantage of warmer weather, thicker grass, and trees and shrubs in full leaf and bloom. The park will present the complete splendor of its new attire.

Plans for the hunt are practically complete, the only important detail not yet arranged being that of location. This will be announced in a day or so. The children should watch for it, and be sure to read it, so that they will know just where to take their stand and await for the signal from the band.

In general, the rules will be the same as heretofore. The hunt is limited to children of twelve years or under. They will line up on the roads and drives surrounding the selected area, and will, when the band strikes up, go after the eggs. A special detail of mounted police will be in the park to protect the children, and horsedrawn vehicles will be excluded from the park on that day.

More eggs and bigger eggs have been bought than ever before, and they have arrived.

The Atlanta Federation of Musicians will furnish music free.

There will be a large number of prizes donated by the merchants of Atlanta, and a special prize of a golden egg.

Remember the date, children. Next Saturday, May 3.

All the children of Atlanta, who are not over twelve years of age, are invited.

Many Men Qualify As Adonises For Suffrage Pageant

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 29.—There is no scarcity of Adonises in New York. A call for 48 of them to represent the states of the union in the women's suffrage pageant at the Metropolitan opera house on Friday evening has brought scores more volunteers to the front than are needed, to the embarrassment of the women to whom fell the duty of selection.

Many of the applications from the self-confessed Adonises, however, make it appear they would more easily qualify as Samsons, for they boast of over 200 pounds, over six feet, four inches, for height, and chest measurements of the giant. One modestly qualifies his perfection by adding:

"Of course, as regards facial appearance, I do not know that I am the type you desire, but if you wish, I will call."

Another is certain he reaches "all the qualifications for the ideal man," *another that he is just the man the wom*mittee is looking for, but as the women consider modesty as one of the attributes of the perfect Adonis, all boastful candidates are rejected.

The names of the elected will not be published, even on the pageant program. They will remain 48 mysteries. Although the seats had been sold out, fifteen have been secured for a delegation of scrub-women who will be there and gaze upon the diamond horse shoe which the committee expects will be as brilliant as on the opening night of the opera season.

MANSLAUGHTER VERDICT IN UNWRITTEN LAW CASE

Darden May Be Sentenced to From One to Twenty Years For Slaying C. M. Goddard

Defining murder, manslaughter and justifiable homicide with particular reference to the "unwritten law," Judge L. S. Roan in his charge to the jury Monday afternoon at the conclusion of the trial for murder of Elmer T. Darden, said: "If a man meets the wrecker of his home and slays him under a violent impulse of passion before the sway of reason has returned, then he may be found guilty of manslaughter."

Evidently the twelve jurors sworn in the case believed that under such circumstances Darden killed C. M. Goddard on the night of March 13, for at 9:15 o'clock after it had been deliberating since 6:25 the jury returned a verdict of guilty of manslaughter. The penalty is from one to twenty years in the penitentiary.

Interesting the among legal phases of the case was the statement of the court that if the wrecker of a home was killed for revenge, then the case was one of murder. If the intruder met his death at the hands of a husband who was acting to prevent the assuming or resumption of another's relations with his wife, then the slaying would be justifiable.

In other words the court held that an impending danger to the home might be warded off, but a husband has no right to shoot in revenge.

The time consumed by the hearing of testimony in this first "unwritten" law case in Fulton county in many years, was very short. The state simply proved the fact that Darden had met Goddard in the Union depot, emptied a revolver into his body, and then knocked the reeling man to the floor with his fist, shouting, "you have wrecked my home."

The defense depended upon the dramatic statement of Darden, and no witnesses were introduced.

Darden was in the stand an hour. Some times he talked coolly and deliberately, and more than once he appeared so disinterested that he yawned. Again, under the spell of his disclosures to the jury, he wept, and often in the excitement of his recital he arose in his seat and emphasized his words with dramatic gestures.

Seated in the court with Darden during most of the trial were his three eldest children, Mrs. Mary Pierce, aged nineteen years, Fred Darden, aged twelve years and Naomi Darden, aged twelve years.

During the speeches of the attorneys and the charge of the court, just before the jury commenced its deliberation over the case, the two girls wept, and the father sitting before his twelve judges, drew the youngest into his arms and tried to comfort her. The children remained in court until the jury made its verdict.

Mrs. Darden did not appear in the court.

Attorney Paul Lindsay retained by Mrs. Robert Goddard, mother of the slain man, assisted Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey in the prosecution. Darden was represented by J. S. and J. E. McClelland and William M. Smith.

CAPITAL CITY CLUB MAY BUY BROOKHAVEN

Members Authorize Appointment of Special Committee With Power to Act

At the annual meeting Monday night of the members of the Capital City club, which was the largest and most enthusiastic ever held, a resolution was passed authorizing the appointment of a special committee to consider the lease or purchase of what is known as the Brookhaven Country club, now operated by the Brookhaven estates.

The committee is to consist of three from the governing board, four from the membership at large, and the president of the club, Robert F. Maddox.

The Brookhaven club, about two miles north of Buckhead, comprises 150 acres of land, a club house, lake and nine-hole golf course. The latter, while comparatively new, is already in good playing condition, and is so laid off that it can be enlarged to eighteen holes.

The Capital City club was recently approached with a proposition to lease or buy the Brookhaven property, and indications are that a lease or purchase will go through. The committee was given full power to act.

In the event the Capital City club buys Brookhaven, it will buy the property only. There will be no merging or amalgamation of the two organizations. Brookhaven will simply become the country club of the Capital City, just as East Lake is the country club of the Atlanta Athletic club, and will be for the members of the Capital City club. Such members of the Brookhaven as are not members of the Capital City, will accordingly have to become members of the Capital City in order to continue the privileges of Brookhaven.

The officers of the Capital City club were nominated Monday night for reelection without opposition. They are as follows:

President, Robert F. Maddox; vice president, W. T. Gentry; secretary, E. R. Austin.

To succeed Messrs. Ulrich S. Atkinson, John S. Cohen and Preston S. Arkwright on the governing board, Messrs. Hughes Spalding, Guy Carpenter and Joseph Brown Connally were nominated without opposition.

The election of these several nominees will take place Tuesday, by balloting of the members.

SQUEALER IS PUT TO DEATH BY GANSTERS ON NEW YORK STREET

Five Gunmen Are Caught by Five Policemen, Who Happened to Be Near When the Shots Were Fired

PISTOLS FOUND HIDDEN IN NEARBY GARBAGE CAN

Scene of the Murder Is Only Two Blocks From the Metropole Hotel, Where Rosenthal Was Done to Death

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 29.—Suspected of "squealing" to the District Attorney, Jerry Maida, known as "Jerry the Lunchman," met his appointed death on Forty-first street near Broadway early today. He was shot down by gangsters who sent bullets into his body.

The shooting occurred only a couple of blocks away from the scene of the murder of Herman Rosenthal last July but the gunmen had less luck than the Rosenthal murder crew. Five policemen who were in the immediate vicinity heard the shots and pounced upon five men whom they accused of killing.

The police allege that the men they caught are members of the Paul Kelly band of gangsters, of which Jerry was an adherent. They say that Jerry had recently fallen under suspicion, however, and that he was thought to be revealing the gang's secrets to the district attorney.

None of the men caught were armed, but witnesses said they had seen them throw revolvers away and three of the guns were found in a garbage can near by.

The police say that "Gutnea Sam" one of the prisoners was under arrest two years ago in connection with the murder of another member of the gang under similar circumstances.

HYOMEI RELIEVES IN FIVE MINUTES

Help Comes Quickly When Hyomei Is Used for Catarrh.

Quick relief comes from the Hyomei treatment for catarrh and all troubles of the breathing organs such as stopped-up head, sniffles or morning choking. Put a few drops of liquid Hyomei in the inhaler that comes with every outfit and before you have used the treatment five minutes you will notice relief from your catarrhal troubles.

It gives a tonic healing effect to the air you breathe, kills the catarrhal germs, stops the poisonous secretions, soothes the irritated mucous membrane and makes a marked improvement in the general health.

Hyomei is not a cure-all; it has but one aim, the relief of catarrh and diseases of the breathing organs. When there is no catarrh, the general health is improved, for then nature has a chance to build up the entire system.

If you suffer from offensive breath, raising of mucus, frequent sneezing, husky voice, discharge from the nose, droppings in the throat, loss of strength, spasmodic coughing and feeling of tightness across the upper part of the chest, or any other symptoms of catarrh, use Hyomei at once. It will destroy the disease germs in the nose, throat and lungs, and give a quick and permanent relief.

Hyomei does not contain cocaine or any habit-forming drug. The complete Outfit costs $1.00, extra bottles if later needed 50 cents. Druggists everywhere. (Advt.)
